TOWN NEWS GLEANINGS

MORE STEPS TO INCREASE THE SEWERAGE SYSTEM.

GASES IN THE JUSTICES' COURTS

One Man Wanted for Embezzlement and Another Sought on a Charge of Larceny—Law Suits Threatened

HERE is renewed activity in town among the people who feel there is a need for a better system of sewerage and now the first ward is making advances. At the meeting of the Borough Council a committee will ask permission to lay a ten-inch sewerage pipe on East Lloyd street, east from Emerick street and south on Union street to the creek near the Plank Ridge colliery. It is claimed that the parts which this sewer is intended to drain requires the improvement almost more than any other section of the town. It takes in the vicinity of the Union street school building, which is surrounded by stagnant pools that have frequently caused complaints by both the residents of the neighborhood and parents of the children attending the school. The property owners who intend to make connection with the sewer will assume the expense of putting it in. The request to Council will be simply for a license to open the streets for the pipes.

Several of the largest property owners on Centre street between Main street and the Lehigh Valley railroad are also busy with the sewerage problem. They are figuring on the cost of a pipe line that will empty into the culvert at the corner of Centre street and Peach alley. Applications to begin this work may also be made to-night.

The West Centre street sewerage project is in a state of coma. Council has granted privilege to lay the pipes from Pear alley west to the creek near the Kohinor colliery and the majority of the property owners along the proposed line express themselves as very much in favor of the project, but all seem to be waiting for a leader. One of them said the other day, "We are waiting for some body who understands this kind of work, to step up and arrange the details."

The West Cherry street sewerage project is in the same condition. The right of way has been secured, but each one interested is waiting for the other to move.

One of the borough officials said the other evening that the hesitating parties are losing an opportunity. Now is the time for all such work to be pushed. There are hundreds of employed men in the town who would only be too glad to have work on these sewerage lines now. If the delay continues much longer the now idle collieries may resume operations and swallow up this unemployed number. This will make labor scarce and naturally increase the scale of wages. To have all the work done at once would be of great benefit to the many unemployed men and a saving to the projectors.

"A stitch in time" often saves consumption. Downs' Elixir used in time saves life.

Out of the "Pool." Another new order has gone into effect on the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad. Under its provisions engineers are to have a regular engine and fireman. For some time past the engines have been in a "pool." The consequent changing from one engine to another made it very disagreeable to the crews, and the engines suffered for the want of proper attention. Under the new system the crews will take pride in keeping their engine clean and in proper repair, and it was no doubt a feeling of this kind that prompted the management in making the change.

Newspaperdom. The Shamokin Herald has been much enlarged and greatly improved in all respects since Steel & Co. have assumed charge of it. The Shenandoah Sunday News celebrated its fifteenth anniversary last Sunday.

The Tamaqua Recorder has entered upon its second year as fresh and crisp as when first issued. Its anniversary occurred last week.

PERSONALS.

J. J. Dougherty spent to-day at Pottsville. The Fosse family, of North Jardin street, to-day moved to Ringtown.

Miss Hannah Reese spent last evening in Pottsville visiting friends.

Joseph Hall and H. E. Bowman left town for Philadelphia last evening.

Rev. William Powick returned to town last evening from Philadelphia.

Major Finney had to take to his bed yesterday on account of sickness.

Misses Mame Jefferson and Sarah Pooler spent yesterday at Fountain Springs.

"Dick" Brown, the hustling news agent, was badly broken up yesterday with cramps.

E. G. J. Wadlinger has resigned his position in Brooklyn, and is now at home with his parents.

Letter Carrier Holman is on duty again and Carrier Barisch is now taking his annual vacation.

W. H. Dettrey, Albert Hagenbuch, Thomas Butler and John R. Boyer visited St. Clair last evening.

John Mullen, formerly of the Merchants' Hotel of this town, is said to be prospering in the hotel business at St. Clair.

William Kendrick yesterday shipped to a friend at Philadelphia the two young live possums which he received from Treverton.

J. E. Coyle, Esq., solicitor for the School Board, went to Harrisburg this morning to investigate the matter pertaining to the protest against M. P. Whitaker's election as superintendent of the borough schools.

E. G. J. Wadlinger was a visitor to town yesterday. Mr. Wadlinger left this town several weeks ago and located at New York City, but has since changed his residence to Pottsville, and will open a barber shop there, next to his father's hotel.

Capt. George W. Johnson, who was for fifteen years a member of the School Board in this town and who fruitlessly put $20,000 in a mining operation at Wadesville a few years ago, is now superintendent for a Pottsville insurance company and his territory extends as far as Scranton.

Superintendent L. A. Freeman's family left town to-day for Providence, R. I., where Mr. Freeman will join them early next month and locate permanently. Mrs. Freeman leaves many friends here who hope they may have the pleasure of seeing her frequently in the future.

Walter Fisher, contracting agent for Walter L. Main's World's Greatest Railroad Shows, was in town to-day making arrangements for the appearance of the shows here on June 5th, next. Mr. Fisher is a hustler and can talk circus business like a veteran.

There are few things in that connection with which he is not acquainted.

Miss Perdie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Keim, of Girardville was united in marriage on Tuesday to Mr. George Schall, an electrician formerly in the employ of the Mahanoy City, Shenandoah, Girardville and Ashland Electric Railway Company. Their marriage occurred at Reading and on the 35th wedding anniversary of Mr. Schall's parents, which was the occasion of a reunion of the family, and the same clergyman that officiated at the marriage of his parents, performed the ceremony for the son and his bride.

The Pottsville Journal says, "M. P. Fowler, a prominent lumber dealer of Shenandoah, is doing jury duty this week. He is being impounded by Republicans of the low and high degree to permit his name to go before the convention for one of the big offices on the hill. Mr. Fowler is regarded as one of the sturdy Republican business men of the county, and is in no way identified with any faction of the party. He has not yet consented to go into the fight, but it is intimated by the powers that be that he can have one of the choicest places on the ticket."

Have you any form of Ethenmatic disease? If so a bottle of the genuine imported Anchor Pain Expeller is the happy relief. Try it and be convinced. 25 and 50 cents a bottle, at C. H. Hagenbuch, P. P. D. Kirish, J. M. Hillan, and other druggists. 3c

A Warrant Issued.

"Jim" Sweeney is wanted on a charge of larceny. According to the police authorities Sweeney is a pretty tough character and has had his hand in many deceptions in this town, but he has succeeded in keeping himself far enough in the background to escape conviction. He works on a farm in the Catawissa valley. A warrant is out for his arrest.

Liquidation Notice. Notice is hereby given that all bills of accounts against the School Board of Shenandoah, Pa., must be in the hands of the respective committees by Saturday, May 27th, 1893, and all parties indebted to the said board are requested to make payment to the treasurer, Thomas Bellis, on or before that date. By order of the board, FRANK HANNA, Secretary. 5-17-93

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The two teachers who receive the highest number of votes and visit the Columbian Exposition will undoubtedly take great interest in the exhibition of coins of the olden time. The exhibit contains many other interesting features, among them a collection of coins that for a numismatist has even greater charms, perhaps, than the golden coins fresh from the mint. For here is the money of many nations, ancient and modern, and the coins that people in all countries and times have labored, and schemed and struggled, the price of toil, talent and, perhaps, of beauty, are laid before the gaze of a generation as anxious as they in the case for wealth. The oldest are those of the Greek republic, and represent the coins of 35 of its principal cities, some dating back as far as 700 B. C. These bear the figures of a tortoise, it being then deemed a sacrilege to imprint a human face on money. The head of Alexander the Great was the first that ever graced a coin. It is a singular fact that the workmanship on these coins is much more perfect than on other minted hundreds of years later.

In the collection are many coins of the Greek monarchy, while there are also coins of Egypt, of the time of Cleopatra, of Antiochus I. of Syria, money of the oldest Persian kings, 126 pieces struck during the Roman Republic, and those of the Empire from the time of Julius Caesar, B. C. 49, to the fall of the Western Empire, A. D. 475. Nor are Biblical coins wanting, for here are shekels of Israel, a genuine "widow's mite," and the halfpenny, 30 pieces of which was that price of Judas Iscariot's betrayal of his Lord.

A Bar Causes Trouble.

The new bar which was recently placed in Schomer's saloon on North Main street is the innocent cause of trouble that is leading to legal controversies. As the story goes, Schomer applied for the bar at the local P. & R. depot and had it delivered to his place of business, although he did not produce a bill of lading. When the New York parties who sold the bar and fixtures asked for payment Schomer claimed that the bar was damaged and in several respects not what he expected it would be. A representative of the New York parties spent the past few days trying to adjust the difficulty, but without success, and now the sellers have decided to sue the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company for the price of the bar, claiming that it had no right to give Schomer the goods until he produced a bill of lading. This action, it is said, will throw the responsibility for collecting payment from Schomer upon the shoulders of the railroad company.

Wanted for Embezzlement.

Yesterday a warrant was issued in town for the arrest of one Jacob Lavine, who has been acting as salesman for the Metropolitan Manufacturing Company, a Mahanoy City installment concern. Lavine has disappeared with lace curtains and rugs valued at $42. It was supposed he was in this town, but it has been learned that he left for other parts.

OBES' OBSERVATIONS.

What He Sees and Hears During His Travels.

As early as 1855 a company was formed to carry coal from Schuylkill county to Philadelphia. An ark was freighted and taken to that city. It remained for years a heap of black stones, exciting the enmity and jeers of the idle and knowing ones and a monument of the supposed folly of those whom it was thought exposed their ignorance by attempting to apply these blocks of stone to any useful purpose.

Some time ago I suggested a system for collecting garbage and hauling it out of town. The other day a citizen revived the subject and said he thought there were many families in the town who would willingly pledge themselves to the amount of $1 a year for such a service. Said he, "There is not a family in town which does not expend more than twice this much every year, that is if they try at all to keep their yards and gardens clean and then they have the nuisance of ash piles under their eyes six months out of every twelve, and noisome rubbish heaps breeding disease and pestilence every day in the year. There isn't any doubt in the minds of those in a position to form an intelligent opinion but what this country is going to be visited by cholera this summer, and just as sure as it does the citizens of Shenandoah may expect its share. There is not a man or woman in the town who will stand up and say that the place is in a condition to cope with this dreadful malady, neither will it be unless there is a better effort put forth to keep back yards and gardens clean of every vestige of filth or any other garbage."

I have just received a copy of the Pawtucket Chronicle which publishes an excellent likeness of James O. Samsel, a popular young man who left this place and located in Pawtucket about eighteen months ago. Accompanying the likeness is an announcement that "Sir Knight Commander James O. Samsel, of Samuel S. Collyer Castle, of Pawtucket was born in Shenandoah, Pa., in February, 1869. For many years Brother Samsel was employed on the Shenandoah HERALD, but came to Pawtucket in 1891 and is now employed in the jewelry firm of Kettley & Kern. Brother Samsel is a hustler in the order, and has the honor of being the youngest sitting commander in Rhode Island. He is also a member of Gen. Harrison Lodge, K. of P., of Shenandoah, Pa. Socially he is one of the best of men and enjoys a large circle of acquaintances." OH.

NEW SERIES.

The Mutual Guarantee Building and Loan Association.

In order to meet the large demand for loans a new series of 300 free shares of the Shenandoah Branch of the Mutual Guarantee Building and Loan Association will be issued to those who desire stock as a permanent investment, or for the purpose of securing loans.

The first payment on each share of $1.00 to be made on Monday afternoon, May 22nd, at which time the series will open and continue until all the shares are taken.

Applications for shares in the meantime will be taken by the Treasurer, Charles W. Dengler, Justice of the Peace, 127 North Main Street, Shenandoah. The rate of gain of this fund to the present time is nearly 193 per cent. per annum.

Stock will mature in less than seven years. Remember the time and place. 5-13-93

Objectionable Serenaders.

Yesterday the HERALD announced the marriage of William H. Eisenhower and Mary E. Clough and last night several boys and young men who read the item arranged a grand serenade of the tin can order for the couple. If they had stopped at the serenade there would have been nothing special to record in addition to yesterday's announcement, but they didn't. They broke in the door and smashed several windows of the house occupied by the bride's parents and the groom alleges that they stole a box of cigars. Warrants have been issued and several parties who participated in the affair are to be given a chance to explain before Squire Williams to-night.

Costiveness is the primary cause of much disease. Dr. Henry Baxter's Mandrake Bitters will permanently cure costiveness. Every bottle warranted. 1m
