MUST THEY BE RETURNED TO CHINA

Representative Commett Suggests to the President a Plan for the Enforcement of the Exclusion Act. He Advises That the Chinese be Frightened Away Instead at Demorred.

WASHINGTON, May 18,-The president as not yet decided what course will be arraned in relation to the enforcement of be Chinese exclusion law. The more he hinks over the matter the more perplexng he finds the situation to be.

The question presented is how they are oing to enforce the law without money or necessary expenses. It seems that the promoters of this legislation were taken by urprise when so speedy a decision in the ase was reached by the supreme court. Iney had expected that the delays of litination would carry the matter over until ongress would have time to provide money or the deportation of those Chinese who night be adjudged to be illegally in the ountry.

Representative Camineti called on the resident and had a long talk with him on he subject, urging the promptenforcement of the law, and pointing our reasons why in his judgment the lack of money need not operate to make the law a dead letter. He told the president that he thought the money now on hand would be sufficient money now on band would be sufficient for the purpose until congress should pro-vide a further appropriation, and argued that the sum total of the expense of en-forcing the law would not be anything like as great as has been estimated. His sungestions were that the president should first secure from those who may be cutilded to remain proofs that they have should first secure from those who may be entitled to remain proofs that they have this right, and to compet their registration. As there will be no deportation in these cases, there will be but slight expense. cases, there will be but slight expense. In the next place, he urged that those who remain here in violation of those whore subject under the provisions of the net to a publishment of imprisonment be-fore deportation, and if they were impris-oned six months or a year those convicted will not have to be deported until congress has bud ample time to provide means. Moreover, he urged that the fact that those who were empiricated of violation of those who were convicted of violation of the law were being imprisoned at hard labor would cause others who had not the right to remain to immediately leave the ountry in order to avoid punishment, thus aving the government the expense of their eportation

He dweit at considerable length on this very ingenious plan of frightening the Chi-ness into depositing themselves at their own expense. The president did not say what he intended to do, but indicated that he proposed to enforce the law if he could.

It is not at all certain that Mr. Cleve land will adopt the suggestions of Mr. Cammoti, but they will be considered in the conference between lith and this two constanties, and the indications now are but there will be at least a pretense of en oreing the law, and that all will be don that can be under the electionstances. The advocates of the law approve of the course of the administration thus far and say that by suspending the presention until after the decision of the supreme court, a great doal of time was saved and the enforcement of the law simplified.
