THIRD EDITION
TAMAQUA.

A Few Interesting Paragraphs From the Old Town.

Much has been said and written of Tamaqua as "Sleepy Hollow," but like Rip Van Winkle she may yet arise and vie with many of the more pretentious towns of the county. True, the Carter shops, which were the largest in this section of the state, are idle, but our people find employment in the mines along the valley and we manage to get along, although the mines about the town are like the "penitentiaries" in other parts of the county.

But there was a time when Tamaqua was the leading coal town in the county. "Aye, and those were times too, my boy!" There were the Donaldson, the Heaton & Carter, the Batcliff & Johnson, the Cole & Berbeck, and many others I can't recall now, but didn't they put some life into things!

There is plenty coal in the Tamaqua field yet, and the very best kind, too; but it can't be mined profitably now because the mines lie too deep. But in this age of electricity and slacker will soon devise means by which this dark wealth will be brought to the surface and Tamaqua will put on the Sunday clothes again.

But Tamaqua, some people say is slow. Look about you and see what the Tamaqua Manufacturing Company is doing in the form of fire plugs. Look at the fire plugs in Shenandoah and ask the people who purchase them where they stand in comparison to others. This is no advertisement, but a plain statement of facts that as dead as Tamaqua may be in the minds of some she is still maintaining an admirable industry.

Then there is the brass foundry. Last week it had an advertisement covering a whole page in one of the town papers. That wasn't so slow, was it? There seems to me to be a breeze of enterprise about that.

Then add a shoe factory, which Shenandoah, the largest town in the county, nor Pottsville, the county seat, can boast of.

From a basis of citizenship our town is all right, but like many other places we are hampered by a spirit of jealousy. We have, in fact, a pretty town and the opening of new streets and recent building have by no means marred its appearance. To credit of those who own their own homes it should be stated that every layer in their buildings show substantial work. They are dwellings—not shells covered by adulterated paint and green goods paper.

True we are not thoroughly metropolitan, but our streets are in good condition generally and the borough government is in good and economical hands. And we have no Poles or Huns.

But there is one thing upon which I must take water. The other day a visitor who passed the Presbyterian church paid special attention to the church yard. He remarked that the graves of J. Edward Barnes and Duncan Weir were in a sad condition. He was right. The tombstones of these two graves rest against a wall. Have the people of Tamaqua so soon forgotten these two worthy men who were deprived of their lives by the foul gas mines?

Hon. Michael Beard has just passed as I am writing this. Almost everybody in Schuylkill county knows of whom I speak. He is quite feeble and almost blind. At one time he was the leading Democratic politician of this place. He still wears a suit of dark blue clothes, with swallow-tail coat and brass buttons.

Supervisor Wertz has a force of men putting stone on Lehigh avenue. This will make a good road when it becomes packed. All our streets should be treated in like manner and graded.

On Saturday evening Chief Burgess Douden ran in two young fellows whose conduct was boisterous and language profane. It cost each over five dollars, and it is to be hoped the lesson will have a good effect on young fellows similarly inclined.

Edward Frack, of town, has secured a position in Dives, Pomeroy and Stewart's store, Pottsville.

Among the town improvements we will shortly have a new plank walk in front of the post office. The need of some kind of a pavement or walk at this point has long been felt by our people who had to wade through the mud owing to the numerous springs there. A crossing from the opposite side of the street would also greatly add to the convenience and comfort of the people.

Wagner Bros. have put two new butcher wagons on the road and expect to have another on shortly. They are beauties.

There are quite a number of property owners in this town who by all means should curb and gutter around their property and who could well afford to do so. The proper authorities should look this matter up and at least have good pavements on our principal streets and not mud walks.

The many friends of John Krecker, of town, will be pleased to learn that he has secured a lucrative position in Dives, Pomeroy & Stewart's, Pottsville. During his residence here Mr. Krecker made many warm friends who will be pleased to learn of his good fortune. John will preside over the notion department and will be a valuable acquisition to that popular establishment.

John S. Thomas represented District Lodge No. 823, I. O. O. F., at the meeting of the Grand Lodge at Reading this week. He reports the order in a flourishing condition. There are 100,000 members in Pennsylvania.

A large force of men is busily engaged placing poles for the long distance telephone. There will be thirty men engaged in this work for the next month.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has a force of men at work getting ready the road bed north of Frackville Junction, preparatory to laying the siding for the handling of the Penn's coal trade over this route.

Next Sunday, 27th inst., Rev. S. C. Carter will preach a sermon to John S. Meredith Post, G. A. R., in the M. E. church, of town. As the reverend gentleman is a pleasant and forcible speaker, the congregation will enjoy an intellectual treat.

The Cotter Dramatic Company, of which Mrs. C. Shugars, of town, is the star, and Mr. Hay, of Gilberton, manager, are negotiating for the purchase of a large tent. The company will show under canvass during the heated term.

George Folmer, Jr., of Philadelphia, was a town visitor on Thursday. Mr. Folmer, we are sorry to state, reports the serious illness of Mrs. Folmer at Pottsville. They will move to Orwigsburg next month.

FINE DRESS GOODS

DRESS GOODS is such a bewildering topic that we will not attempt a full description, but give a partial outline, which you can fill in by a personal inspection. There are the plain and changeable diagonals; plain, plaid, striped and invisible plaid serges; fancy mixtures in all sorts of odd weaves, dots, threads, cross-threads, hair-lines, lines here and there, many at a glance appearing alike, but upon examination are found entirely different. Our assortment of silks is complete—china silks, china surah, plain surah, bengaline, plain, figured and changeable silks, in all the new shot effects. Full line of fancy braids to match any color of dress goods.

....In Wraps We find the most stylish and the prevailing mode to be the Cape, in some of its variations, single, double or triple capes. Some are plain, others very highly decorated, with fancy indecent braid, butterfly colors, or some full arrangement at the neck, so much approved this season by the feminine fancy. To some, coats only are the correct garment. To those we would say coats are equally fashionable and stylish, many of these having capes also attached—sometimes one, two or three, as the taste or inclination of the wearer may desire.

We have this season, for the first time, added a Millinery Department, and have spared neither trouble nor expense to make it a success. The result exceeds our most sanguine expectations. This department will be under the same management and conducted on the same principles that have always characterized our entire business. We shall keep everything in trimmed and untrimmed hats, novelties of every description. Having secured a trimmer noted for her artistic and skillful work, we are enabled to suit all tastes. We invite a careful inspection of our entire store. All welcome.
