THE PROCEEDINGS IN THE HOUSE.

The Resolution Providing for a Commission to Investigate Iusane Hospitals, Penitentiaries and Workhouses, Agreed to-Considerable Discussion Both For and Against the Resolution.

HARRISHURO May 23 .- There was not a large attendance of members yesterday afternoon when the house was called to order and started off on next to the last week's work of this session.

The principal matter before the house during the afternoon session was the resolution calling for a commission to be chosen from the legislature by the governor to investigate the several insane hospitals, prisons and workhouses in this commonwealth and to report upon the con- sick or niling one.

commonwealth and to report upon the conditions therein (as they may be found to exist) to the next legislature. The resolution provoked a great deal of discussion, the issue both for and against being ably represented.

Mr. Wherry, of Cumberland, who was opposed to the adoption of such a resolution, was the first speaker and explained at considerable length what his opposition was based upon and closed by asking the members of the house to vote it down as he believed there was no necessity for its passage, as, in his opinion, the affairs of the charitable and penal institutions of the state were being honorably administered,

Mrs. Journ A. Vespie, Kingston, N. Y. Are you a virtim of any kidney or bladder state were being honorably administered, and that the expense of suck a commission as that named in the resolution would be something from which the state would receive no benefit either directly or indirectly, Mr. Cochrane, of Armstrong, followed Mr. Wherry and waswhat might be termed one of the chief defenders of the resolution. He spoke for nearly half an hour, during which he explained his reasons for supporting the resolution and cited in support of his argument several cases which had come under his personal observation, where per-sons who had been confined in the state asylums and had died there had been illtreated and that their bodies when sent to their friends for burial bore many cuts and bruises, and showed other evidences of viobruses, and showed other evidences of vio-lence. One case in particular he men-tioned where the remains of a man, who died in one of the asylums, had half a dozen cuts about the face and head; brusses all over the body and four ribs broken from the backbone. This, he said, was sufficient grounds for him to support the resolution and be hoped that the house would agree to it.

There were several other speeches delivered, after which a vote was taken and the resolution was agreed to by a reasonably tair majority.

Mr. Riter, of Philadelphia, naked unanimous consent to offer a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee of ten members of the house and five senators to attenu the dedication services of the Penn-sylvania World's Fair building, and ap-propriating $3,500 therefor. The proposi-tion was snowed under by a storm of

The balance of the afternoon session was devoted to the second reading of bills, none of which were of particular importance. Nothing of special interest transpired at the evening session.

There was no session of the senate. It is now talked of extending the session to June 15, two weeks later than the day set for final adjournment.

THE CASE OF DR. BRIGGS

Waiting for the Report of the Judicial Committee.

WILL THE APPEAL BE ENTERTAINED!

Believed That the Committee Will Sc Find - A Skirmish Over the Matter In the Proceedings Vesterday. The Moderator Makes Declaration That He Will Not be Intimidated - Briggs Men Protest That They Are Ignored by the Chair

Washington, May 23.—The Assembly is waiting in great expectancy for the report of the Judicial Committee on the Briggs case. It is understood that this committee will flud the appeal, with its specifications of error, to be in order, and will recommend that it be entertained. This will bring the case to an issue and will confine the discussion to the sustant-ing of the appeal. The Judicial Committee was organized Friday night in its council rooms at the Fredonia. At that meeting the committee roted without division that the appeal was in order. It then developed that there was a misunderstanding on the part of four or five members as to what "in order" meant. some believed that it meant simply that the case was before the Assembly, for dis-cussion. The majority understood that it ment that the Proseculing Committee had a right to appeal the case to the Gen-eral Assembly and that it was mandatory on the part of the Assembly to receive and

Is the case.

It then became evident that it would be necessary to have a report that would inform the Assembly exactly what was meant by "finding the appeal in order."

That caused a long discussion and during it the desenting members on the committee dwindled down to two ministers and an elder. If this idea provails in committee and is given headway in Assembly, it will shorten the appeal in the Briggs case by at least two solid days.

The question of entering the appeal in

The question of entering the appeal in the Assembly does not involve the merits the Assembly does not involve the merits of the Briggs case. If the appeal is found to be in order, it is perfectly regular and in accordance with the book of disciplins to entertain the appeal and issue the case. In doing this the Assembly would simply follow the rulings of previous assemblies and abide by the constitution. The Briggs men would have to show that, in this case, there were special reasons why the appeal should not take the regular course. Those reasons would be reasons of expediency and purely sersonal.

The constitutional questions could not be raised unless the court should take the position that more light was wanted on these questions than could be gathered.

from the decisions of previous assemblies.

As these decisions were rendered in 1891 and 1892, it would be extraordinary for a cours of 1893 to take this course. It would be as if the Supreme Court of the United States should allow lawyers to take up the time of the judges in arguments of constitutional points which had just been settled by its own decision.

The present moderator is not the man to encourage seek a proceeding. It may be said that friends of Dr. Priggs will have no opportunity to make a constitutional argument. On this issue the members of New York Presbytery cannot be heard. The book forbids it.

The book forbids it.

Dr. birch, as chaleman of the Prescution committee, will open the debate. He will be followed by Col. John J. McCook, also of the Prescution committee. BRIGGS FIGHT BEGINS.

The Moderator Declares He Will Not be Intimidated, Washington, May 23.—Rev. Thomas Cracken, of Wakeeny, Kan., conducted the half bour's devotional exercises with which the second week's session of the Presbyterian General Assembly was ushered in yesterday. Promptly at 9:39 Moderator Craig opened the Assembly with a word of prayer.

The Briggs question then came to the front at a bound, and it did not mitigate the results of the short struggle to know when it was over that it was chiefly the result of a misunderstanding. Dr. Young. Chairman of the Committee on Bills and Overtures, summanced what had been done with a number of overtures from the Presbyteries, twelve of them relating to the Briggs case having been referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

Dr. Young scarcely ceased speaking when Dr. Herrick Johnson, of Chicago, inquired what had become of the overture from his Presbytery on the Briggs case. which everture hissonish the Assembly to refer this relabilistic case back to the Synod of New York.

Dr. Thos. C. Hall, of Chicago, in sympathy with Dr. Briggs, made a brief speech in favor of sending all resolutions in the Driggs case to the judiciary committee first; as all would eventually go there. Elder Endaly, of Unclosed, got the floor and stated that the Assembly had to do simply with the law as it is, not as it ought to be. There was a general parliamentary confusion, various commissioners attempting to get the floor, amid which the amounts-ment was made that the Chicago overture had gone to the judiciary committee.

While the Moderator was attempting to put the question, Dr. Johnson remained upon his fest, calling repeatedly, "I claim the right to be heard," his words being received with moderates.

ceived with applause. ceived with appliance.

Commissioner Cutcheon, of Detroit, stated that there was an overture from his presbytery, and in view of that fact he supported the motion to refer all the Briggs overtures to the Judiciary committee. He complained that the Moderator had not permitted that to speak, although he had been repeatedly upon his feet. Mr. Cutchem said he would appeal from the decision of the chair, and was suplanded. decision of the chair, and was applianced.

Dr. Young, from the platform, asserted that the Mislomor could not see every man who ough to be seen, and this statement received the vigorous appliance of the anti-frame, member anti-Brune people.

Alt Cutcheon, who is physically one of the lineast men on the floor, retorned that the finders to see here, was possibly the to the first that he was so small.

Moderness Craig said in reply that h made no difference how many three Mr. Cutchess had been on his feet so, long as he had not conclut the eye of ran chair.

His mided: "I never knew such an out-break while it rose was being taken," and this remark was received with loud ap-

The reference of the overtures to the Judicial committee was carried and then Dr. Craig stooped to the front of the platform. What he said was short and platform. What he said was short and sharp. "Don't you try to overwhelm us with such points at this stage of the game," he said, emphasizing his remarks by a flourish of the gavel which he held in his band.
