AMONG THE COLLIERIES.

EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS AT THE SHENANDOAH CITY.

CONSIDERABLE OUTSIDE WORK

Introducing a New System for Getting Coal From the Shaft Into the Breaker—The Capacity Will be Increased.

THE Shenandoah City is ready for the order to start operations again just as soon as the word comes from headquarters, but this statement must not be taken as a declaration that all the repairs and improvements for which the colliery stopped shipping coal several weeks ago have been made. Quite to the contrary scores of men are busy loading and unloading material, chopping, hammering and sawing, hoisting, lowering and dumping; yet the work has progressed so far that should orders be received to send coal through the breaker to-morrow they could be complied with without interference with the other work.

Outside Foreman Marshall Baugh is upon the grounds from morning until night and his sole ambition seems to be to get everything complete and in working order before the order to resume shipments does come. His workmen have made some wonderful improvements about the colliery and when the last nail is driven Shenandoah City will be able to boast of a capacity exceeding any of her previous records and she by no means ranks far from the leaders in this district.

The outside methods of hauling coal at the colliery, so far as the shaft is concerned, are being completely revolutionized. For several years past since the completion of the shaft, whose top rigging is barely perceptible from the town, it has been the custom to run both the loaded and empty cars to and from the shaft and breaker by grade and endless chain. Hereafter only the empty cars will be run by that system. The old hoist house at the top of the breaker has been torn down and in its place is being erected a large covered dump chute. This chute will be connected with one of the old endless chain passage ways, on a level, by means of a long trestle and this will form a direct road for the loaded cars from the shaft to the breaker. The remaining side of the endless chain line will be used for taking the empty cars from the breaker back to the shaft. This alteration has necessitated a change in the method of dumping the shaft coal into the breaker. Under the old system the loaded cars lowered by the endless chain ran into the breaker and dumped their coal into the same chute which extends from the new dump house ninety feet to the top of the old chutes in the breaker top. This new chute is so arranged, by means of a partition, that the shaft coal can be sent down one or two sides. In other words, should the shaft independent chute become blocked the coal from the new main chute can be turned into the same place into which the drift and strappings cars will dump their coal. This is looked upon as one of the most important improvements.

While the endless chain system of propulsion is being discarded at one place, it is being adopted in another. Under the old system it was the custom to load cars at the timber pile, which is quite a distance from the shaft, have them hauled by mule power to the bottom of the endless chain incline, then hoisted and run by grade to the shaft. After the improvements are complete all lumber will be hoisted to the shaft by a direct and endless chain line.

All the alterations being made are based upon plans to save handling and distance, and when they are finished the capacity of the colliery will be increased from 100 to 150 cars per day, which will be quite an item.

Two new boilers have been placed in the breaker plant and a number of minor improvements have been made about the shaft hoisting engine.

But little repair work is going inside the Shenandoah City. In fact the only work of any importance now going on there is the making of a plane from the bottom split to the top split of the Mammoth vein in the inside slope. This will be quite an extensive piece of work and is being done by W. J. Evans, the contractor.

No one seems to have the slightest idea when Shenandoah City colliery will resume operations. One gentleman said he thought the first of June would be the time, yet orders might be received at any moment.

Just as true as the saying "A rolling stone never gathers moss" is the statement that the two school teachers who roll up the highest score in the HERALD's popular public school teachers' contest will go to the World's Fair in July, next. To the victors will go the prizes and the victors in this contest will be those who try every fair means to secure HERALD coupons in their interests. We would like to send all the school teachers to the Exposition because we know the trip would be of great benefit to them, and there are no terrors on this earth that deserve such benefits more than those who are trying to make intelligent and good citizens of the rising generation; but as there is a vast difference between a newspaper office and a mine and the cost of such an expedition cannot be brought within our means, we are obliged to curtail our generous impulses and stand by our original offer, with the addition of the trips to Niagara Falls and Boston. Let all the friends of the school teachers rally round their favorites and may the best teacher win.

THE DEPARTED HEROES.

THEIR GRAVES WILL BE DECORATED ON TUESDAY.

FULL LIST OF THE DECEASED

Together With the Names of the Cemeteries in Which Their Resting Places are Located. The Arrangements.

GAIN bids and Mosems, songs of birds and perfume of flowers, invite us to make our annual pilgrimage of love and affection to the resting places of the Nation's patriot dead, the comrades of the camp, the march, the bivouac and battle.

Tuesday next will be Memorial Day. The patriotic people will set aside their daily occupations on that day to honor the memory of those who fought to preserve the Union and who have passed out of this world. As each year comes around there are more graves to decorate and Death has more victories to record, but though the army of those who take active parts in the ceremonies grows steadily smaller the public sense of gratitude and reverence becomes even more manifest.

As the ranks of the Grand Army of the Republic grow thinner, the number of patriotic hearts increases, for with each year the people realize more strongly the blessings the brave old soldiers fought to preserve for them, and once every year on the 30th of May the country pauses in its hurry and selfish plans, and, on the day set apart, thinks with gratitude of those who fought and died so bravely. We may not believe in war, but we cannot but respect the men, who, forgetful of self, died for an idea, and when the tiny flags wave in the spring winds, and bright flowers proclaim to all "here lies a hero" we feel that they who have died for us have won what is denied the great majority—the boon of being forgotten.

Herewith is appended the names of the departed heroes whose remains are resting in the local cemeteries. Should any omissions be noted it should be reported to the Adjutant of Watkin Waters Post, F. H. Hopkins, Sr., when the correction will be made.

GIVING WORK.

Many Men Find Employment Breaking Stone.

The strain caused by the idleness of the three large collieries is somewhat lessened by the opportunity given men by the borough to break stone for the streets. Two gangs numbering forty in all are now working on the hill near the old stone crusher and at Columbia Park and are said to be earning good wages on the 75 cents per ton schedule. Supervisor Llewellyn says that all his tools are in use and the applicants for employment increase daily.

Thus far 300 tons of broken stone have been placed on East Centre street and that thoroughfare is now in very satisfactory condition.

It seems that several of the streets of town have been reported to the court as in bad condition. At Pottsville the other day Judge Weidman told Supervisor Llewellyn to fix up the streets and should any question about the appropriation arise the court would see that the Borough Council make ample provision for such work.

School Board Meeting.

An adjourned meeting of the School Board will be held to-morrow evening for general business.

Stop at Centre Street.

The electric cars now only run south as far as Centre street. This is done so that the cars will in no way interfere with the street paving work on the two squares below.

Coughing Leads to Consumption, Kemp's Balsam will stop the cough at once.

LAKESIDE PARK.

The Formal Opening Will Take Place Next Tuesday.

Arrangements have been made to have the third annual formal opening of Lakeside Park, now the most popular summer resort in this region, opened on Decoration Day, Tuesday next. The famous Schoppe orchestra has been engaged for the occasion and will hold forth in the pavilion. Several prominent people from all sections of the state will be in attendance, among them Hon. W. F. Harry and Hon. Dallas Sanders.

In order to afford ample transportation arrangements for the large number of people who will be unable to go to Lakeside before the afternoon of Decoration Day a special train will leave Mahanoy City at 2 p. m. and the tickets will be good on any train.

Many improvements have been made at Lakeside for the approaching season. The lake boats, which are always in great demand during the summer, have been given a thorough overhauling and the best house and landings have been much improved. The restaurant and pavilion have also received attention.

The new depot which the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company started last summer and did not complete until after the season closed is a beauty now. It is a commodious structure and will accommodate large crowds in case of unfavorable weather.

The management of the park has a long list of attractions for the coming season and will announce them soon after the formal opening takes place.

Respect for the Dead.

Mr. Marshall Baugh and others are loud in their praise of the Messrs. James, sons of the late William R. James, for the manner in which they carried out the wishes of their deceased father in caring for the remains of the late Mrs. Martha Stride. When Mr. James died a few months ago he left a will providing that Mrs. Stride should continue having the use of her dwelling apartments on South Jardin street free of cost and upon her death she should be given a respectable burial. Mrs. Stride was very old and feeble and Mr. James had been very kind to her during his life time, and the same charitable instinct prevailed when he made his will. Mr. Baugh, who was interested in Mrs. Stride because of her long membership in the P. M. church, says the Messrs. James carried out the provisions of the will nobly. They not only gave the remains a very respectable burial, but they also provided a resting place for them in their family plot in the Odd Fellows' cemetery.

Killed at Raven Run.

Anthony Bulwiskie, a Hungarian laborer employed on the new reservoir work at Raven Run, was killed yesterday afternoon. Bulwiskie was engaged in digging in a trench about eight feet deep when some clay from the side fell upon him. Although the quantity of stuff that fell was little more than would fill two barrows the man was picked up dead. It is supposed the shock killed him, or he was subject to heart trouble. An inquest was held last night and a verdict of "accidental death" was rendered.

Main's Circus.

Walter L. Main's show gave two exhibitions at Hartford City, afternoon and evening, May 23. It was well patronized and is one of the best shows that ever visited this place. The performance is neat and clean and the advertised programme fully carried out. The people connected with the management are gentlemen in every respect, and should they return to this city will be greeted with crowded tents again.—Hartford Arena, At Shenandoah Monday, June 5th.
