THEY ADMIRE US.

A Long String of Compliments From Contemporaries.
During the past week many contemporaries have complimented the HERALD upon its enlargement and we have decided to publish them in an acknowledgment. Here they are:
The Shenandoah HERALD, Schuylkill's leading newspaper, put on a new suit this week and came out enlarged as a twenty-four-year-old paper should. It is truly the friend of the masses, fearless at all times to champion their cause and has no hypocrisy about it. Editor Boyer knows how to conduct a paper and the people appreciate it.—Schuylkill Haven Call.

The Shenandoah EVENING HERALD, an exceptionally bright and altogether stalwart Republican paper, has been compelled by pressure of business to enlarge its pages. The HERALD would be a credit to a community many times larger than that in which it is printed, and it gives evidence of keeping far ahead of the procession in enterprise.—Philadelphia Press.

The Shenandoah HERALD on Monday celebrated its twenty-fourth birthday, and at the same time appeared in an enlarged size and generally improved. Typographically the HERALD is the finest newspaper in this section, and the improvements which have been made are indicative of a success which will well merit it. Shenandoah has just reason to be proud of its daily paper, which keeps the public well informed, and there is proof that business men appreciate the HERALD as a medium through which to reach the public.—Miners' Journal.

The Shenandoah EVENING HERALD came out in enlarged form on Monday in celebration of its twenty-fourth anniversary, and Editor Boyer announced that the enlargement would be permanent. The increasing size of a newspaper is a sure sign of prosperity and Editor Boyer is deserving of its success, in that his effort has always been to furnish Shenandoah with a clean, newsy daily paper.—Pottsville Chronicle.

The Shenandoah HERALD entered upon its twenty-fourth year on Monday and celebrated the event by adding another column to each page, making it a seven column folio. The editor complains that a constant pressure upon his columns made the improvement necessary, and that is a healthy "complaint." We do not envy him. The HERALD fills well the field in which it is published and we wish it full measure of continued prosperity.—Pottsville Republican.

The Shenandoah HERALD is making big strides forward. It is a good publication, and in its enlarged shape is better than ever.—Ashland Telegram.

The Shenandoah EVENING HERALD has appeared in enlarged form and much improved in all respects. It is a typographical beauty and teems with local and general news. The HERALD is one of the brightest and best dailies that come to our table.—Frackville Item.

The EVENING HERALD, of Shenandoah, passed its twenty-fourth milestone on Monday last. The HERALD is a success, as it deserves. It is full of snap at all times and is never uncertain in its opinion. We take great pleasure in noting the HERALD's prosperity.—Ashland Local.

Last Monday marked the passing of the twenty-fourth milestone in the Shenandoah HERALD's journey on the sea of journalism. In commemorating its anniversary it appeared enlarged and otherwise improved. The HERALD is one of the greatest inland dailies, and in its own language owes its success to "fearlessness in expression of opinion and aggressiveness against all that is wrong."—Tamagua Recorder.

Grand Display of

FINE DRESS GOODS

DRESS GOODS is such a bewildering topic that we will not attempt a full description, but give a partial outline, which you can fill in by a personal inspection. There are the plain and changeable diagonals; plain, plaid, striped and invisible plaid serges; fancy mixtures in all sorts of odd weaves, dots, threads, cross-threads, hair-lines, lines here and there, many at a glance appearing alike, but upon examination are found entirely different. Our assortment of silks is complete—china silks, china surah, plain surah, bengaline, plain, figured and changeable silks, in all the new shot effects. Full line of fancy braids to match any color of dress goods.

.....In Wraps
We find the most stylish and the prevailing mode to be the Cape, in some of its variations. Some are plain, others very highly decorated, with fancy indecent braid, butterfly colors, or some full arrangement at the neck, so much approved this season by the feminine fancy. To some, coats only are the correct garment. To those we would say coats are equally fashionable and stylish, many of these having capes also attached—sometimes one, two or three, as the taste or inclination of the wearer may desire.

We have this season, for the first time, added a Millinery Department, and have spared neither trouble nor expense to make it a success. The result exceeds our most sanguine expectations. This department will be under the same management and conducted on the same principles that have always characterized our entire business. We shall keep everything in trimmed and untrimmed hats, novelties of every description. Having secured a trimmer noted for her artistic and skillful work, we are enabled to suit all tastes. We invite a careful inspection of our entire store. All welcome.
