LANDLORD AND TENANT.

A Dispute About Possession Leads to Law Suits.

Michael Curley is a First ward landlord. Among his possessions is a piece of property which has a saloon license. John August, a Pole, ran the place, but on Monday the license was transferred to another Pole, August refused to give up possession and the new man appealed to Landlord Curley, who got into an argument with August and his wife and was knocked through a window pane. Curley and August continued the quarrel out on the street, when Chief Burgess Burns and High Constable Flynn interfered and arrested both men. They were taken before Squire Monaghan, who imposed a fine and costs on August amounting to $6. Curley's penalty was $3. August paid the money but because he tried to escape from the officers. The landlord then entered suit for assault and battery and August was put under $300 bail.

GOING TO THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Now is the Time and the Reading's "Seaside Route" the Way.

Stories of Chicagoan rapacity, added to the admitted incompleteness of many of the exhibits, detracted greatly from the success of the World's Fair during the initial month, and the attendance, while enormous, fell far short of anticipations. Now, however, no one need be deterred from visiting the Exposition by fears of extortion, or by misgivings as to seeing the great show in its entirety. The Chicagoese have regained their senses, and reasonable prices again prevail. The buildings are finished, the exhibits all in place, and the wonderful aggregation of the world's greatest achievements can be seen to vastly better advantage just at present than at a later period when the rush shall have set in.

A favorite route to Chicago from the Eastern and Middle states is over the "Seaside Lehigh Valley" division of the Reading railroad system, by way of Niagara Falls or Buffalo. This line traverses a region exceedingly rich in picturesque scenery. Indeed, it may be questioned whether in all America a journey of the same extent will afford to the lover of the beautiful so many and so diverse and charming views of nature in her loveliest forms.

The traveler from East to West by the "Seaside Lehigh Valley Route" passes through the sublimely beautiful scenery of the Lehigh Valley, past Mauch Chunk, the "Switzerland of America," into and over vast ranges of sky-towering mountains, through the song-famed and romantic Vale of Wyoming, the smiling Susquehanna Valley, and on through the famous lake region of New York state to Buffalo or Niagara Falls, whence any one of several diverging lines will convey him to the World's Fair City on Lake Michigan. Aside from the scenic beauties of the Reading-Lehigh Valley route, the line is perfect in construction and equipment, the trains being composed of magnificent coaches and parlor and sleeping cars and supplied with all conveniences and every approved appliance for safety and comfort.

From New York and from Philadelphia, with connections from every direction at numerous junction points, Pullman parlor and sleeping cars are run through, without change, to Chicago, these going by way of Niagara Falls, passing through Canada over the Grand Trunk and Chicago & Grand Trunk Railways, while the cars going via Buffalo reach Chicago over the Nickel Plate line.

Passengers taking the Reading Route have the choice of a number of lines in addition to those, either going or returning. The fares offered by the Reading are as low as by any other route—indeed, in most instances, they are lower. There are now four through trains, in either direction, every day, and full details respecting routes, rates and trains can be had at Reading Railroad ticket offices.

OBES'S OBSERVATIONS.

What He Sees and Hears During His Travels.

Times have been hard in this district and the prospects are but little brighter, yet the price of real estate keep at a high notch and give no indication of breaking. By personal inquiry at reliable sources I have found that prices offered and asked for some properties in town are really eye openers. A party recently made an offer for a Main street property and drove his stakes in at $100,000. The owner promptly rejected the offer. The owner claims that the property is now paying 15 per cent, clear of all taxes and other expenses on a figure above the offer. Another property, not as extensive as the one just referred, but located only a short distance from it, is holding out for $15,000. There has been an offer of $12,000 standing for some time. On another street there is a property 30 feet front and 60 feet deep, with a building forty feet deep on it. An offer for this is standing at $10,000. Another Main street property with buildings somewhat inferior to those on the properties above mentioned can go for $7,000. It is really surprising. Numerous properties are on the market and bids are in for all of them, but the owners are holding off for stiff prices and in almost every case it looks as if they will get them by waiting. From the investigations I have made I am convinced that the old fog sentiment which prevailed here for so many years and by which the town was pictured as a rapidly declining mining settlement is being dispelled. The people who are offering the properties for sale, I am convinced, are not doing so because they feel the town is dying, but because they see we are experiencing an epidemic of high prices, a real estate boom, as it were, and they can clear an excellent profit by the sales. And the boom is not limited to properties having business places. It affects all quarters of the town. Of course many people reading this will say at once that this boom is caused by a desire on the part of the Polish and other people of foreign nationalities to secure control of all the best sites in the town, but for the information of people who may jump to this conclusion I will say that the $100,000 offer I referred to by a townman who has never crossed the "dark blue sea." I will also say that out of five inquiries made at the HERALD office the other day in response to a "for sale" advertisement one was made by a Welsh party, a second by one from the Queen's domain, and a third by a party who has never been outside of Schuylkill county, as a resident.

The experience Deputy Coroner Manley had in Wm. Penn yesterday in his efforts to locate a supposed brother of the Hungarian who was found hanging on a tree on the mountain was sufficient to convince one of the great difficulty a tax collector must have in securing payments from some of the foreign classes we have in our midst and the tedious work the assessors must cope with in making up their lists. The Deputy called at three houses, but none of the Hungarian occupants knew John Shannon, John Shanrock, or John Kwale. At one of the houses the door was found locked and a Hungarian neighbor frankly admitted that the occupant had locked himself in because she was afraid the visitor was a policeman or a tax collector. At one of the houses a woman professed entire ignorance of the name mentioned. At another the name was recognized and a Hungarian accompanied the Deputy Coroner back to the other home. "Tell her there is a dead man in Shenandoah," said Shanrock and we found a lot of money in his pockets," said the Deputy laughingly. The woman who had professed entire ignorance of the name made a spring for her shawl, chattering at a 2-40 gal. "What does she say?" asked the Deputy Coroner of the interpreter. "She say dead man broader work in breaker and she tell him." And thus it is the same old story. If some of these poor foreigners are killed in the mines and there is any money coming from the beneficial fund on account of the death, little trouble is experienced in finding the relatives; but if the deceased is penniless and his death brings no coin the verdict invariably is "dead man no good," and even his own brother will frequently refuse recognition.

To change the subject I will revert to a theme that was discussed in a Main street store yesterday afternoon. It is remarked as singular, and possibly an indication of lack of patriotism, that the average American, always excepting school children, cannot tell off-hand how many stars there are now in his country's flag. If any reader of this desires to try the question on 10 of his friends he will probably find that only three or four can give the correct number, even after a minute of hard thought. The ordinary reply will range from 40 to 42 stars instead of the correct 44. The admission within four years of North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Washington, Idaho and Wyoming has brought the list up in the last mentioned number. The stars of the union has been changed from a 33 star to a 48 star, and the upper and lower ones containing eight stars and the remaining four having seven stars.

A Revolution In Eating

has been brought about by the introduction of COTTOLENE, the new vegetable shortening. The discovery of this product, and the demonstration of its remarkable qualities, has attracted the widest interest. Hitherto the common shortening has been lard, or indifferent butter. Every one has probably suffered occasional discomfort from lard-cooked food; while it is well known that thousands are obliged to abstain entirely from everything of that kind. To such people, COTTOLENE is of peculiar value, widening as it does, the range of what may be eaten and enjoyed. COTTOLENE is a cooking marvel. It combines with the food—imparts to it a tempting color, a delicate flavor, and an appetizing crispness. No trace of greasiness remains to offend the taste, or disturb the digestion.

COTTOLENE is worthy of the careful notice of all those who value good food, of itself or for its hygienic properties.

Grand Display of
FINE DRESS GOODS

DRESS GOODS is such a bewildering topic that we will not attempt a full description, but give a partial outline, which you can fill in by a personal inspection. There are the plain and changeable diagonals; plain, plaid, striped and invisible plaid serges; fancy mixtures in all sorts of odd weaves, dots, threads, cross-threads, hair-lines, lines here and there, many at a glance appearing alike, but upon examination are found entirely different. Our assortment of silks is complete—china silks, china surah, plain surah, bengaline, plain, figured and changeable silks, in all the new shot effects. Full line of fancy braids to match any color of dress goods.

.....In Wraps

We find the most stylish and the prevailing mode to be the Cape, in some of its variations, single, double or triple capes. Some are plain, others very highly decorated, with fancy luscious braid, butterfly colors, or some full arrangement at the neck, so much approved this season by the feminine fancy. To some, coats only are the correct garment. To those who would say coats are equally fashionable and stylish, many of these having capes also attached—sometimes one, two or three, as the taste or inclination of the wearer may desire.

We have this season, for the first time, added a Millinery Department, and have spared neither trouble nor expense to make it a success. The result exceeds our most sanguine expectations. This department will be under the same management and conducted on the same principles that have always characterized our entire business. We shall keep everything in trimmed and untrimmed hats, novelties of every description. Having secured a trimmer noted for her artistic and skillful work, we are enabled to suit all tastes. We invite a careful inspection of our entire store. All welcome.
