A Flood of Bitter Saracanth Sweeps Upon a Councilman.
The Wilkes-Barre Record, of which our old friend J. C. Powell is editor, bathed one of Wilkes-Barre's Councilmen with the following dose of sarcasm in a recent issue: "When the bill of the Record for $23 for printing the mayor's annual message was read at the council meeting last evening, William J. Harvey objected. He said that such a thing as printing the mayor's message in pamphlet form had never been done before," and he did not think the city ought to pay the bill. "Mayor Nichols," he said, "could have used a typewriter or sent the message in his own handwriting." The bill was referred back because "such a thing had never been done before." It will now be in order for council to annul the Traction Company's franchises, because granting a charter to an electric railway company is a thing "which had never been done before." It will also be in order to stop the improvement of the court house yard, because "such a thing had never been done before," and lastly, because "such a thing had never been done before," the work on the new city building should be stopped, the stone removed and the lot given over once more to the peripatetic photograph gallery, the dizzy merry-go-round and iron-jugger fair. Verily, if nothing is to be done in this town "which has never been done before," the sooner council buys lawn mowers for the streets the better, for the grass will begin to sprout through the asphalt nightgown.

A FEW SUGGESTIONS.

The Alleys Should be Used as Avenues for Pipe Lines.

EDITORIAL.—Whatever uncertainty there may be about the public water works let it be no way interfere with the progress of the street paving. Main street has been in a demoralized condition long enough and the contractors should be allowed to proceed with the paving on the West side as soon as his workman and material are ready. When the time arrives for laying the new water pipes they can be put down in the alleys and the street paving can be left intact. The alleys are the proper routes for all pipe lines, anyway. And let me also suggest that it would be a good idea if the gas company should abandon its old pipe lines and lay new ones in the alleys. I know some of the gas company people say this would be too expensive, but I cannot see it in that light. Judging from the number of leaks that have been reported of late the old pipes must be like sieves and will soon become utterly useless.

Doing Good Work.

The annual flower mission services held Saturday evening by the Young Women's Christian Temperance Union, assisted by the Junior "Y's," was a most successful affair. The work being performed by the above societies, in the interests of sick and needy persons, is very creditable, and the report submitted at the last meeting shows 127 sick persons visited, 50 bouquets distributed and 175 baskets of fruit given out. They expended, in purchasing fruit, flowers and other things in visiting the sick $11.95, besides the donations made from outside sources. The programme prepared for the evening was most excellent one, and the audience showed their appreciation by unstinted applause. It consisted of the following:

Survival of the fittest. Coach's Elixir has outlived every other cough remedy simple because it is the best.

Seeking Her Cousin.
Mrs. Daniel Nolan, of Ishpenning, Michigan, writes to the HERALD that she is in search of her two cousins, named Thomas and Peter Freeman, and she is desirous of knowing if they are residents of this place. The lady says she saw an article in the Shenandoah HERALD referring to a Mr. Freeman and it led her to write to this paper. The Freeman mentioned in the article was Prof. L. A. Freeman, late superintendent of our public schools, and it is not likely that he is one of the gentlemen sought by Mrs. Nolan. We know of no other family in town of that name and the city directory gives no other. If any of the HERALD readers can give any information they will greatly oblige Mrs. Nolan by sending it to her address, 216 West Johnston street, Ishpenning, Michigan.

OBE'S OBSERVATIONS.

What He Sees and Hears During His Travels.

A little dog belonging to an East Centre street family snarped at a little boy belonging to a Plain alley family Saturday afternoon. The mother of the little boy caught the little dog by the hind legs and barged him against a building. The owner of the little dog heard the little yelp of agony and rushed upon the scene. "What!" he said, "and then the curtain fell. No blood was shed."

An individual known as "Dutch Charley" is traveling about town in a peculiarly constructed wagon containing a small range, on which he cooks waffles. "Charley" said he was doing no business, but Chief Burgess Burns followed the wagon until he saw enough money taken in to cover the license fee, and then pounced upon the fill.

Base ball has taken a boom in town and the management is in high glee. Setley, the new pitcher, and "Buck" McFittigen are now full-fledged members of the club, and the weak points will be strengthened before the next game is played. There has been much enthusiasm over the national game in town for several years and the desire for a match between the home boys and the Pottsville lads is very strong.

The constitutionality of the fee bill passed by the last Legislature has been questioned. The bill caused much exultation among the Justices of the Peace and Constables. I increased their fees from 55 to 100 per cent. The question raised seems to be well founded. It is based upon article 11, section 13, of the state constitution, which says: "No law shall extend the term of any public officer or increase or diminish his salary or emoluments after his election or appointment."

If that awful word "emoluments" was not there the official would feel reasonably certain that the law would stand a test of the courts. A case in point was the subject of a recent discussion in the Luzerne county courts. Prothonotary Wren who, during his term of office, his bill for paper, blanks and other stationery to the county commissioners. The commissioners refused to pay the bill and the case was submitted to the court for an opinion. The court decided that while the prothonotary would be entitled to light and fuel, his claim for blanks and stationery could not be allowed, as it would indirectly increase his emoluments, contrary to the constitution. In view of this decision the bill just passed does not seem to stand much chance of becoming a law if it is brought before the courts, at least in so far as it applies to officials in office at the time of its passage.

Grand Display of FINE DRESS GOODS

DRESS GOODS is such a bewildering topic that we will not attempt a full description, but give a partial outline, which you can fill in by a personal inspection. There are the plain and changeable diagonals; plain, plaid, striped and invisible plaid serges; fancy mixtures in all sorts of odd weaves, dots, threads, cross-threads, hair-lines, lines here and there, many at a glance appearing alike, but upon examination are found entirely different. Our assortment of silks is complete—china silks, china sarah, plain sarah, bengaline, plain, figured and changeable silks, in all the new shot effects. Full line of fancy braids to match any color of dress goods.

...In Wraps
We find the most stylish and the prevailing mode to be the Cape, in some of its variations. Some are plain, others very highly decorated, with fancy intricate braid, butterfly colors, or some full arrangement at the neck, so nicely adapted to the feminine figure. To some, coats only are the correct garment. To those we would say coats are equally fashionable and stylish, many of these having capes also attached—sometimes one, two or three, as the taste or inclination of the wearer may desire.

We have this season, for the first time, added a Millinery Department, and have spared neither trouble nor expense to make it a success. The result exceeds our most sanguine expectations. This department will be under the same management and conducted on the same principles that have always characterized our entire business. We shall keep every thing in trimmed and untrimmed hats, novelties of every description. Having secured a trimmer noted for her artistic and skillful work, we are enabled to suit all tastes. We invite a careful inspection of our entire store. All welcome.
