THIRD EDITION

Robert J. Hughes died at the home of his parents in Wm. Penn, June 6, 1893, in his fourteenth year of age. Though his sickness lasted but a few days, from the beginning until its close he was called upon to suffer greatly. Dr. Brady, the faithful family physician, though visiting him early, found alarming symptoms of a dangerous disease. He made two and three visits daily, and did all that medical skill could do to prolong life, but God willed otherwise. Two other successful physicians pronounced his malady incurable. Loving parents, his two brothers, with sympathizing relatives and friends, watched patiently at his suffering couch until death ended all his sufferings. Though the best remedies known to medical science were given to relieve his pain, still he suffered greatly. How patiently he bore it all, those who so lovingly cared for him know. May the angels who were his parents' angels, and the angels who were his brothers' angels, be his angels, and his brothers' angels, and his heavenly home. Among other expressions of trust in God, he asked, "Father, how far across the river is that other home?" Robert was a bright and promising youth, making rapid advancement in his studies at one of our excellent schools in Shenandoah. His many noble qualities of head and heart made him a general favorite with all who knew him well. God called him early, but his christian parents can say, notwithstanding this terrible bereavement, "The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord."—Job 1, 21. Funeral services were held at the home of the deceased on Thursday, June 8th. The pastor spoke to a large and deeply sympathizing congregation from 1 Sam. 30:3: "There is but a step between me and death." From his earliest years Robert was taken to church by his parents, who are devoted members of the Wm. Penn Methodist Episcopal church. He delighted to be in his Sunday school class every Sabbath. He was carefully instructed in God's word at his home, and in his quiet manner gave clear evidence that these instructions were not lost, but cheered him greatly when suffering the most excruciating pain. The dust of Robert reposes in a beautiful cemetery near Shenandoah, by the side of the dear ones who crossed the river before him. Parents, brothers and friends will meet him on the other shore.

"I shall know the loved, who have gone before, And joyfully sweet will the meeting be, When over the river, the peaceful river, The angel of death shall carry me."
E. POTTS, Pastor.

Fees Slightly Increased.
The general fee bill, which became a law on May 24, regulates the fees for justices and constables at a slight increase over the old rates. Constables got the biggest share of the increase as the following will show: Serving warrants, formerly 50 cents, now $1; serving subpoenas, formerly 25 cents, now 50 cents; the mileage is reduced from 12 to 10 cents. The only increase in justices' fees worthy of note is warrants and returns, which give the magistrate 10 cents over the old fees.

MINE FOREMAN INJURED.

While Escaping Out of a Chute Benjamin Church Falls.

Some excitement was occasioned in town today by a report that there had been an explosion of gas in the Turkey Run colliery and the inside foreman and a fire boss had been badly burned and otherwise injured.

The report was somewhat exaggerated. There was no explosion of gas in the mine, although Benjamin Church, the inside foreman, met with an accident. His right collar bone is broken.

Mr. Church was seen at his home on South White street at noon today while receiving attendance from Dr. Callen. It seems that while Mr. Church was down the slope he was asked by Mark Burke, the fire boss, to go and see a heading which had been finished. Mr. Church went up a chute and seated himself until Mr. Burke would come. In a few minutes Mr. Church saw the fire boss approach through a heading and saw that his lamp had ignited a small body of gas. In his hurry to get out of the chute he fell a distance of seven feet and broke his collar bone.

There was no explosion of gas and the fire boss was entirely unharmed.

Another Wedding.
At 3:10 this morning Miss Naomee Woden and James Hughes, formerly of town but now of Johnstown, were married at the residence of the bride's uncle, Amundus Womer, on North Main street. B. E. Severn was the groomsmen and Miss Mame Williams the bridesmaid. Rev. M. H. Havice, of the English Lutheran church, officiated. The bride was dressed in China silk. The wedding was a very quiet one and but few friends were in attendance. They were Misses Virgie Holsopeter, Maud Keiper, Lillie Hagenbuch, Lizale Evans, Mrs. Hannah Lehmler and Mrs. C. H. Hagenbuch. After the ceremony an elaborate breakfast was served, at the conclusion of which the wedding presents were viewed. They were numerous and valuable. Mr. and Mrs. Hughes took the 10:20 a. m. Lehigh Valley train for Johnstown. A number of the bride's school friends were at the depot and showered rice upon the bridal party.

TRYING TO PLACE THE BLAME.

The Inquest in the Ford's Theatre Disaster Still in Progress.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Yesterday at the coroner's inquest to determine the responsibility for the Ford's theatre disaster, Mr. Warner asked if there was anybody in the building friendly to either Dr. Alsworth or Mr. French. The witness said that so far as Mr. French was concerned he had never heard but one clerk say a good word for him, and that clerk had said he was a "second-rate." The clerk generally, he thought, had been treated personally fairly by Dr. Alsworth. Witness believed certainly that he had been in the building on that night from protesting against the building. Witness knew that Dr. Alsworth was considered an exceedingly efficient official. In answer to Mr. Warner, the witness said that he believed in the likelihood that this record had been gotten through imperiling the lives of clerks.

At this point a recess was taken until to-day.

The argument in regard to admitting Alsworth's counsel to be present at the inquest will be heard to-day.

Grand Display of FINE DRESS GOODS

DRESS GOODS is such a bewildering topic that we will not attempt a full description, but give a partial outline, which you can fill in by a personal inspection. There are the plain and changeable diagonals; plain, plaid, striped and invisible plaid serges; fancy mixtures in all sorts of odd weaves, dots, threads, cross-threads, hair-lines, lines here and there, many at a glance appearing alike, but upon examination are found entirely different. Our assortment of silks is complete—china silks, china surah, plain surah, bengaline, plain, figured and changeable silks, in all the new shot effects. Nothing of today better to match any color of dress goods.

....In Wraps

We find the most stylish and the prevailing mode to be the Cape, in some of its variations, single, double or triple capes. Some are plain, others very highly decorated, with fancy induscent braid, butterfly colors, or some full arrangement at the neck, so much approved this season by the feminine fashion. To some, coats only are the correct garment. To those who would say coats are equally fashionable and stylish, many of these having capes also attached—sometimes one, two or three, as the taste or inclination of the wearer may desire.

We have this season, for the first time, added a Millinery Department, and have spared neither trouble nor expense to make it a success. The result exceeds our most sanguine expectations. This department will be under the same management and conducted on the same principles that have always characterized our entire business. We shall keep everything in trimmed and untrimmed hats, novelties of every description. Having secured a trimmer noted for her artistic and skillful work, we are enabled to suit all tastes. We invite a careful inspection of our entire store. All welcome.
