THE CHAIN COMPLETE

Electric Railroad to Lakeside a Certainty.

MAHANAOY CITY GRANT

After Lengthy Arguments the Shenandoah and Mahanoy City Company Secured it and that With the Previous Grant to the Lakeside Company Settles the Matter.

THE right of way for an electric railway line from this town to Lakeside, via Mahanoy City and Delano, is now complete. The last link was added to the chain last night by the action of the Mahanoy City Borough Council, which held a very lively meeting. Three companies asked for the right of way through that town and the presentations of the arguments was similar to the statements made to the Borough Council of this place a month ago.

McHenry Wilhelm, Esq., of Ashland, appeared for the Shenandoah and Mahanoy City electric railway company; J. E. Coyle, Esq., spoke for the Hazelton, Beaver Meadow, etc., etc., railway, and J. H. Pomeroy, Esq., appeared for the Lakeside electric railway company.

Mr. Coyle suggested that the Shenandoah and Mahanoy City and the Beaver Meadow companies be given a right of way to operate a single track through Main street under a joint agreement and at one time it looked as if the Council favored the proposition, but Mr. Pomeroy repelled it in a very snave but pointed address during which he warned the Councilmen against inviting litigation and a railway war in the town by granting a privilege to two companies for the operation of a line in one street.

Mr. Pomeroy's presentation of the case undermined Mr. Coyle's proposition and it fell through, for when the Councilmen took a vote they gave the right of way to the Shenandoah and Mahanoy City Electric Railway Company by a vote of 8 to 7.

The grant now makes the construction of an electric road from Shenandoah to Lakeside a certainty. The Lakeside Company will run its road through this town on Centre street to the township line and thence by way of Ellengswan to the Lehigh Valley depot at Mahanoy City, which is on the township line, and at that point the Lakeside and Shenandoah and Mahanoy City lines will have a connection.

No time will be lost in taking advantage of the concessions just granted, as all parties interested are satisfied that Lakeside has become a very popular summer resort and an electric line to that place will earn large dividends. The following clipping from the Damascus Courier evidences the interest that is being taken in the place:

"Since it was decided that the National Grand Jury of the state would not go to Chicago, Major Guss has been busy endeavoring to have Lakeside Park named as the place of encampment for the Eighth Regiment. If the order is given to go into encampment there, and it is likely to be made, as nearly all the companies live in close proximity, the encampment will be held from July 22 to July 28. Lakeside furnishes many advantages for such an encampment. It is close to the homes of nearly all the companies comprising the Eighth Regiment; the railroad facilities are good; there is an ample supply of good water for drink, culinary and bathing purposes; there is lots of room for drilling and plenty of shade trees.

"The selection of Lakeside Park for the encampment would give an excellent opportunity to the people of this section, who have not witnessed such a sight, to see the boys with their 'war clothes on.'"

JUDGE ARCHBOLD.

Lackawanna's Candidate Receives Flattering Assurances of Support.

The friends of Judge Archbold in Scranton and vicinity are highly pleased with the showing he has made as a candidate for the Republican nomination for the Supreme Court bench, flattering assurances of support having been received from many sections of the state. The real reasons will make a harmonious effort to nominate a candidate who is thoroughly familiar with all mining laws.

Judge Robert Woodrow Archbold was born in Carbondale, Luzerne, now Lackawanna, county, September 10, 1848, and is of combined Scotch and New England ancestry. His father, James Archbold, was a native of Ayrshire, Scotland, and his mother was a daughter of Major Thomas Frothingham, of the Continental Army, who was born at Charlottown, Massachusetts. Judge Archbold's father, the late Hon. James Archbold, removed to Carbondale in 1828 shortly after which he was made superintendent of the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company's works there, in which position he remained for thirty years. When Carbondale became a city in 1851 James Archbold became its first Mayor. When the subject of this sketch was in his sixth year his father removed with him to Scranton, so that he grew up in the midst of the remarkable development of Scranton and vicinity.

Judge Archbold was favored with the highest educational advantages. His first learnings were toward the calling of a Civil Engineer so he spent two seasons with an

THE BORDEN VERDICT

Her Acquittal Did Not Come as a Surprise.

CHARGED IN HER FAVOR

The Judge Told the Jury That All the Allegations Made by the Government Must Be Fully Proved—How the Accused Received the Verdict.

Special to the Herald.

NEW BRIDG, N.D., Mass., June 20. HE long agony is over, and Lizzie Borden today is a free woman. It took the good men just one hour and thirty-one minutes to come to the conclusion that Lizzie Andrew Borden did not murder her father and step-mother. No other verdict than that of "not guilty" was expected. The Commonwealth attorney failed to produce evidence to substantiate their charges, and the verdict rendered by the jury was received with applause.

Lizzie Borden, the outcast of a year, is today a heroine. But until the mystery of the murders is solved, the finger of suspicion will always be pointed at her. Court came in at 9 o'clock yesterday. The jury was polled, and the District Attorney picked up the thread of his argument.

At the conclusion of the charge the attorneys consulted a few moments. The jury was allowed to retire and counsel agreed upon what exhibits were to be put into the case, after which they were brought in again, the oath administered by the clerk of courts and the jury took the case.

Among the exhibits put in were three hatchets, the bloody handkerchief, photographs of the house exterior and interior, the blue silk dress, the various pieces of wood, pillow shams, the counterpane, etc.

After having been out a little over an hour, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

Judge Dewey then discharged the prisoner, and dismissed the jurors. There was a scene of wild enthusiasm in the court-room when the verdict was announced, which the judge vainly tried to suppress.

When the verdict was given, Miss Borden buried her face in her hands, and a sob shook her frame.

THE EDITORIAL EXCURSION.

Newspaper Men From All Parts of the State Meet.

The Pennsylvania State Editorial Association met at Reading yesterday to hold its annual meeting and have its annual outing. The members were met at the station and escorted in electric cars to the headquarters at Navesink Mountain hotel by committees of the Reading Press Club. After dinner was served at the hotel, which is one of the best and most beautiful in the state, the editors held their business meeting.

In the evening an entertainment was given in the parlors of the hotel. The programme was one of vocal and instrumental music and was rendered by some of Reading's best talent.

This morning the editors enjoyed a trip over the gravity road and at noon dined at C. B. Miller's family park. The afternoon was spent in making trips over the East Reading Electric and Reading and South-Western lines. To-morrow there will be a trip to Atlantic City. R. H. Thomas, secretary and treasurer of the association, and his assistant, R. H. Thomas, Jr., have charge of the arrangements for the outing and are acquitting themselves of the duties with marked ability. They are treating their fellow journalists royally.

THE POPULAR CONTEST

"Herald's" Favorite Teachers' Vacation.

GIVE EARNEST SUPPORT.

The Veary Pedagogy will Find Pleasure at the World's Fair, Niagara Falls or Boston Through Your Influence—Vote Early and Often for Your Favorite.

EAHER and nearer draws the day for the final count of the coupons cast for the teachers in this contest and more and more active become friends of the contestants for the six great prizes—two World's Fair trips, two Niagara Falls trips and two delightful trips to Boston.

The World's Fair will be unprecedented as a pleasure event. The two victorious teachers and such of our townsmen who may take advantage of the special arrangements the HERALD has made will step upon a palace car at Shenandoah furnished handsomely and with all the conveniences of a restaurant, gorgeous sleeping apartments, and everything of the most luxurious character, and going whirling on to Niagara Falls. Here they will make a stop of one day and view one of the great wonders of the world—the falls. The train will then proceed to Chicago and there the excursionists will find prepared for them during their stay in the city comfortable quarters in one of the leading established hotels. After viewing all the great sights at the White City the excursionists will find the same luxurious palace cars waiting to take them home. The return journey will not be one of those break-neck, get-back-quick trips that make life a burden and darken the pleasant memories of the early stages. On the contrary, everything will be done to make all as comfortable and happy as possible. In addition to this the trip will be extended to Washington, D. C., and one day will be allowed to view the sights of that great city.

The whole will only cost $65, at the most. Further information may be had upon application at the HERALD office.

This will be a great chance for people in this section to go to the fair. The train will leave in the pleasant time of the season when all the exhibits will be in good working order. The cool north breezes blowing off the lake will modify the natural heat of the July month. The arrangements will give families or coteries of Shenandoahites an opportunity to form little parties and secure seats and berths in palace cars. The train will go all the way through and there will be no annoyance usually occasioned by changes of cars.
