The action of the School Board in making a liberal appropriation to the school library is to be commended. In raising its standard by the addition of new works, will materially aid in supplanting the low class of literature that is now being offered at the leading book stores.

FRESH needs constantly press deadly agents into service of man. Even dynamite is made available for the peaceful work of tree planting. In arid districts previous to irrigation the soil is hard. Along the path of an irrigating ditch trees are planted. But before this is done a charge of dynamite is placed under ground to blow up the earth and loosen it so that the roots of the trees can pierce the tough soil and reach out to the water, which they could not do unless the ground was thus prepared.

We have this moment in Paris an illustration of the fire that, while trifling in its inception, still kindles greater conflagrations. The Paris student is an incarnation of mischief, given to emutes and to t. rous behavior. But there are not enough students in Paris to conduct a revolution, and left to themselves they could do little more than break glass and upset a few tram cars. There is also in Paris what every great city contains—a considerable body of vicious persons who hail disorder as a farmer hails a fine harvest. The emute of the Paris students has furnished the opportunity for his class of persons to make a demonstration against law and order, an opportunity promptly embraced. This vicious class is cowardly and it may be necessary to reduce its numbers by grape, and caustic, and shrapnel. That was the Napoleonic way, and it has always proved the best way wherever tried. There is no such good remedy for such disorders as certain death, because, as we just remarked, the class alluded to is cowardly—too cowardly to get up a revolution on its own account. The students are in revolt against the government which attempted to suppress scandalous assemblies of students and the Paris demi-monde. The students resent the interference of the authorities, and of course the agents of the city authorities—the police—come in for the ill-will of the students. The criminal class also hates the police, and in so much the students and cannals have common cause. The government can put an end to the demonstration with ease, but it is apparently reluctant to shed blood.

PENSION FRAUDS (7)
The New York Herald gives the names of a number of prominent citizens who are drawing pensions. Here are some of them:

W. W. Dudley, $30 a month. Think of it that is $432 a year, and he gets this simply because his right foot was left behind at Gettysburg.

James Tanner, "Corporal" Tanner, who sloped over to in the Pension Bureau. He gets $72 a month, or $864 a year. And what aids Tanner? Nothing to speak of. He left both feet on the battle field of Bull Run. A mere nothing. If he had lost three feet, now, there would have been reason for this princely pension. Only men who have lost three feet should be awarded such magnificent sums.

John C. Black draws $100 per month, and he has only lost the use of two arms, but because he has not lost the use of his head, also, and can serve as a Congressman, it is only a "technical" right that he holds his pension.

General Lucius Fairchild, of Wisconsin, gets $45 a month, or $540 a year, and he hasn't lost either foot or leg. All that aids him is that his arm was taken off at Gettysburg.

Ex-Governor Beaver, of this state, also gets $40 a year and merely because his right leg was shot away.

Ex-Congressman Paine, of Wisconsin, draws $60 a year for the loss of a leg at Port Hudson.

Who of all the critics of these pensioners is ready to sell his leg or arm and take as compensation from $300 to $964 a year?

More Than Twenty-five Thousand Soldiers Now in Paris.

PREPARED TO QUELL DISTURBANCE.

The Closing of the Labor Exchanges Adds to the Anger of the Mob—Rioters Fight Police and Troops with Desperate Bravery.

PARIS, July 7.—Gangs of rowdies made disturbances last evening in the Rue du Chateau d'Orléans, round the Labor Exchange and in the nearby side streets. By 9 o'clock the rioters had become numerous and belligerent. They upset and partly smashed five tramcars and broke many windows. The police eventually were able to hold them in check, but not to disperse them. In the fights between rioters and police several rowdies and two policemen were injured. Few students took part in the riots. The Students' association has published an appeal to students to abstain from any future participation in the riots.

A mob took possession of the Boulevard Du Temple at 10:30 o'clock, and began breaking windows. The police charged twice before they could force the rioters back. The police used their revolvers, and several rioters were shot. The rioters fired back, but wounded only one policeman.

On the Boulevard Voltaire and Rue Oberkampf, the Republican guards charged the mobs in both streets. The mobs fought stubbornly, but were routed. Thirty rioters were arrested. Many who were wounded were carried off by their friends. The number is estimated at thirty-five or forty.

This morning the streets are again quiet. The troops have been withdrawn from the neighborhood of the Labor Exchange. Policemen guard the Place De La Republique, the Boulevard Voltaire and the Boulevard Du Temple. It is reported that the government has decided to dissolve the municipal council.

The closing of the Labor Exchange has caused intense excitement among the workmen. As soon as the rioters of the government became known, thousands of workmen came to the buildings from all parts of the city. They were restrained from violence by several companies of military and the strong force of police. The auxiliary Labor exchange in the Rue Jean Jacques Rousseau has been closed also and is held by troops. The labor leader, Alleman, in speaking at the main exchange yesterday morning warned his hearers against resorting to open fighting with the government. He said more than 35,000 troops had been brought from the provinces to Paris within the last five days. If the workmen should go into the streets to obtain their rights they would be moved down by the military. Their fight would be futile, as the country was not yet ripe for the revolution.

The most notable feature of the street demonstration yesterday was the stern denunciation of the mob. The usual screaming and shouting were lacking. On the whole the fights were less violent yesterday than on Wednesday, says the correspondent. The most serious fight took place at the corner of the Avenue de la Republique and the passage in the Angouleme. The police, supported by troops, charged with drawn swords a large mob.

The rioters fought with desperate bravery. Although almost unarmed they disputed the possession of the avenue inch by inch. As they retreated they smashed the kiosks and booths and tore up the smallest trees so as to use them as barricades. The police charged repeatedly until they drove the mob to the cemetery of Pere La Chaise. There the rioters built an enormous bonfire and sang and shouted for some time undisturbed. The police are said to have fired revolvers at the mob and to have received in return several shots. A police brigadier was wounded.

BEHRING SEA ARBITRATORS.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The members of the United States commission in Paris in connection with the Behring sea controversy have begun to return home. John T. Coughlin, one of the state department clerks, has already reached here, and Major E. W. Halford, United States army, disbursing officer, and Mr. J. Stanley Brown, one of the treasury seal experts, sailed from Southampton last Saturday. Dr. Robert Lansing, assistant counsel, is expected to sail for the United States on the 15th inst. Coughlin and other attaches will probably remain until the arguments have been concluded, and then start home.

Hon. J. W. Foster, agent for the United States, and Justice Harlan and Senator Morgan, the arbitrators on behalf of the government, will, of course, stay until the finding of the board is reached. By the terms of the treaty the arbitrators are given three months after the close of the hearing to agree upon a verdict, so that Messrs. Harlan and Morgan probably will not finish their labors until some time in the fall.

Mr. Foster, accompanied by his wife, will, after the termination of the arbitration, travel through Europe and the east for a year before returning home.

Outrage on American Fishermen.
GLoucester, Mass., July 7.—A dispatch received yesterday states that the schooner Horace B. Parker, of this port, has been seized at Port Royal, Antigua, N. F. The schooner obtained a license at Placentia, paying for the United States silver certificates, which were accepted without question. The captain secured one baiting at Placentia and one at Port Royal, and on his return to the latter port the vessel was detained and an extra premium demanded, the alleged reason being the depreciation of the silver certificates. At a meeting of the board of trade last night resolutions were adopted calling for energetic measures by the authorities at Washington in defense of the rights of the fishing interests.

Fatal Cyclone in Minnesota.
LANSING, Minn., July 7.—A cyclone struck here and did considerable damage to buildings. The S. Y. Hyde warehouse was blown down and the steeple of the Methodist church was taken off. The dwelling of Mr. Thompson, five miles west of here, was carried into the lake and totally wrecked, several members of the family being seriously injured. The dwelling of Andrew K. Ahara, three miles south, was totally wrecked, Mrs. Ahara and a child being fatally injured. Several lives are reported to have been lost in the country near here.

A Royal Wedding Tragedy.
LONDON, July 7.—A man fell last evening from a second story window in Fleet street, which was crowded with people in honor of the royal wedding. He struck on his head and his brains were dashed out. The blood splattered the crowd who were cheering in the street. The street was so densely packed from wall to wall that it was impossible to keep clear of the body, and it was trampled and pushed about until the police removed it in an ambulance.

Affairs in Samoa.
SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—Advices just received from Apia, Samoa, say that war is still imminent, though no fighting had occurred up to June 20. Baron von Pillich has departed from Samoa, his resignation being accepted by the government. Powers and the king. Drastic measures will be necessary to save Samoa from hopeless bankruptcy. The health of Robert Louis Stevenson, the novelist, has greatly improved.

Postmaster General Bissell's Movements.
WASHINGTON, July 7.—Postmaster General Bissell has returned to the city. During the day he will attend to the disposal of such official business as requires his immediate attention and tomorrow, accompanied by the members of his family, will spend his vacation, returning to Washington about the 1st of August.

The Damage to the Campedowns.
VALETTA, Malta, July 7.—The British battleship Campedown, which ran into and sank the Victoria, was placed on the dock here to undergo repairs. Her stem had been broken off just under the torpedo bulkhead and she lay fast down. Her mainmast was over towards the port side, and six of her plates, three on each side, were damaged.

The President's Message.
WASHINGTON, July 7.—It is stated that President Cleveland's message to the extra session of congress will be written at Buzzards Bay, and one of the reasons why he sought this vacation was that he might, untroubled by the office seeker, prepare the document upon which he intends to devote a great deal of painstaking care.

A Brutal Murderer Caught.
CAIRO, Ill., July 7.—A negro answering the description of the murderer of the two Ray girls, was caught and put in jail at Sikeston, Mo. He was identified by parties who had traced him from Kentucky. The murderer left here with Mrs. Ray, where it is thought he will be burned at the stake.

Beltry Destroyed by Lightning.
ELIZABETH, N. J., July 7.—During a storm lightning struck the Park Methodist Episcopal church, destroying the belfry and causing $10,000 damage. The members were holding a prayer meeting in the lecture room at the time.
