THE MAN WHO TALKS.

Loquacity of County Chairman Litsch.

POLITICAL POT-POURRI.

The Democratic Captain Lets the Tabby Out of the Bag and Lets His Big Foot Into His Party's Harmony Pie With Dastardly Results.

Special HERALD Correspondence.

POTTSVILLE, July 24, 1893.

LI successful general who commands triumphant armies are those who recognize, respect and practice that admonition of great worth, "Silence is golden." Napoleon was a silent general; so were Grant, McClellan and Sherman. In politics, as in war, those who have won great fights are the men who kept their thoughts painfully to themselves. Matthew Quay, the great Republican leader, is a conspicuous illustration of this. A dozen others in this state and country could be named who possessed this great attribute at times when it was most needed and who brought their hosts out of chaos and confusion into discipline and snatched victory from the very jaws of defeat.

This is just that critical period in the Democratic campaign in this county when the chairman of that party should move and speak cautiously. Every utterance of his is weighed and analyzed at this time and he would do well to remember that wise injunction (which has become historical) sent by Chairman Quay to Candidate Beaver on a notable occasion—"Dear Beaver: Don't talk." This could be profitably employed now by one of the candidates slated by the Democratic chairman to win, and the advice would sound well in these words:

Dear Maurice, if you are for us Please button up your lip; Or our opponents will overpower us, And smite us on the lip.

"Out of the mouth the heart speaketh," and Chairman Litsch has unwittingly let slip the names of his pet candidates at a time when he should have been as silent as the grave. He has all along been suspected of clinging to the skirts of a certain clique of candidates, but it was only the other day that he was so injudicious as to mouth his preferences in public.

THE CHAIRMAN'S CHOICE.
That he has been openly for Wadlinger for Judge has been patent for a long while and it is very natural, and perhaps excusable, when their long association and friendship are considered, but one day last week he let go the information that "some people would be surprised on the morning after the convention when they learned the ticket would be Wadlinger for Judge, Folmer for Treasurer, Brennan for Prothonotary, Cook for Clerk and Schourman for Recorder." There he stopped and let his auditors use their imaginative powers in framing the balance of the ticket.

Now this is a nice morsel for the other candidates to roll under their tongues. Messrs Wetman, Muldoon, Duff, Boyer, Kirk, Purcell, Ports and others now know, if never before, just where the chosen leader of their party stands in the fight, and if his slate is broken and they, or any of them, are nominated they will have to entrust their cash and chances. They will know their captain general is a man whose heart was not for them and they will have to battle under a leader in whom they could not even confide.

About twenty years ago, during the labor reform period, the county Democracy woke up on the morning after the convention with a good ticket and a discordant committee to manage the campaign. The chairman himself was discreet enough, but he was unfortunately handicapped by a number of committeemen who wanted to run the campaign for him and into the ground. The chairman complained of his predicament to a number of staunch leading Democrats of this town and county, and it was not long before a committee was organized to conduct the campaign to win while the old committee was not disbanded, only ignored and ostracized from the real movements of the campaign. The old headquarters in the Lower building was retained and the old committeemen went in and out and were entertained by the chairman and led to believe they were the people, when they were only drummers and the working committee of the party met at night in a private room in the Eaterly building and by quiet and efficient work snatched victory from defeat.

HISTORY MAY REPEAT ITSELF.
It is most likely that history will repeat itself this year, for it is not improbable that Chairman Litsch's slate will be smashed to smithereens and it will be necessary for the anti-ring candidates to get together, take the bull by the horns and conduct their own campaign, leaving the chairman to sit and sing, "Daddy won't, on buy me a bow-wow." If any one considers that the Democracy has a path way of roses this year he is woefully mistaken. The Republicans are going to nominate their strongest men this year, taking advantage of all mistakes made by their opponents and they are going to pay particular attention to the organization of their committee, especially the selection of a chairman which will be made by the candidates named on the ticket, the only safe and sure method of securing the right man at the right time. If a mistake is made in thus selecting a captain it is the mistake of the men most interested and no one is to blame but themselves.

I notified the readers of the HERALD that they may expect to hear of the funniest kind of a time about Democratic headquarters when Mr. Maurice Litsch's slate gets it where the chicken got the hatchet next Monday afternoon.

Let us wait and see how business keeps up.

THE FAIR TOURISTS.

A Statement Regarding a Tourist Organization's Defeat.

Yesterday we published an interesting letter from one of the World's Fair excursionists and should have had more such communications, but presume the tourists are too busy taking in the wonderful sights of the White City to spare time for newspaper correspondence.

Other advice from nearly all the party are to the effect that they would not have missed the trip for many times its cost. There was one unfortunate feature of the out-bound trip which was a source of much disappointment and chagrin to the proprietors of the HERALD and that was due to a failure on the part of the tourist agent. He was in Shenandoah the day before the excursionists left and received all the money due under the arrangements, but failed to get back to Philadelphia in time to reserve berths in the sleeper for the trip west. Hearing of this failure, the HERALD at once sent a check to its representative to more than cover the amount of extra expense for berths, etc., which the excursionists may have been put to by reason of the default on the part of the Tourist company's representative. The HERALD has since received a letter of apology from the latter and there will be no danger of any default or disappointment on the homeward trip. We hope this explanation will be satisfactory to the forty-haired individual who is assuming the role of editor of a town paper.

Base Ball.

The defeat Shenandoah gave the South Bethlehem club was a surprise to many who had lost faith in the home team on account of the poor showing at Jenneville and Pottsville last week.

Fortunately for Shenandoah it had no match game with Pottsville last week.

Manager Bradigan is hunting for a good pitcher.

Setley is no longer an idol in Shenandoah. He told Manager Bradigan that Bloomberg wanted him, but he would be willing to pitch for Shenandoah once a week. The manager gave him an unconditional release.

Some of our fielders are getting Setley-like. They should be informed that their work is falling a little.

Mr. Carmel would like to test his skill on the diamond with Shenandoah's willow widders. Six of the old Bellows players form the nucleus for a strong team and we have plenty of competent youngsters to complete the nine.—Mr. Carmel's News.

Messit has supplanted Setley in favor with the Shenandoah people. It is hoped he will not fall in the footsteps of his predecessor and get a swelled head.

Shenandoah is the best base ball town in the coal region. Its attendance at games is a all times at least one-third greater than in any of the other towns which claim to stand by the game.

Headache and Dizziness.
William E. Rockwell, No. 51 West 57th street, New York, says:

"I have been a martyr to bilious headache and dizziness. Any indigestion in diet, over-fatigue or cold, brings on a fit of indigestion, followed by a headache lasting two or three days at a time. I think I must have tried over twenty different remedies, which were recommended as a train cure by various friends, but it was no use. At last I thought I would take a simple course of purgation with BRANDRETH'S PILLS. For the first week I took two pills every night, then one pill for thirty nights, in that time I gained three pounds in weight, and never had had an ache or a pain since."

Disease is one part of the body will eventually fill the whole body with disease. Every year or two some part of the system grows weak and begins to decay. Such part should be removed at once, and new matter be allowed to take its place. There's no need of cutting it out with a surgeon's scalpel. Purge away the old, diseased and worn-out parts with BRANDRETH'S PILLS. 7 25-31

Evangelical Camp Meeting.
The camp meeting under the auspices of the Evangelical Association opened at Lakeside to-day and will be continued until August 3rd. The tents are pitched in the grove which forms a part of the trotting park grounds and which was used as a camping ground by the Pawnee Bill company two years ago. It is a place well adapted for such meetings and the Association is highly pleased with it. Thirty marquees and other tents are pitched in circular form and in the centre of the area which is thus fenced in by the tents are seats formed in a hollow square about a pulpit. The indications are that the meeting will be the most successful ever held by the Association.

There is but one "cure" remedy for rheumatism and all rheumatic pains and aches. It is the genuine imported "Anchor Pain Expeller." For sale at C. H. Hagenbuch's, P. P. D. Klein's, J. M. M. PAVIE TO DEPART.

The French Minister to Leave Bangkok To-morrow.

THE SITUATION CRITICAL.

Any Entoward Act of the Kettled Siamese as the Minister is Going Down the River May Lead to the Long Feared Bombardment.

Special to EVENING HERALD.

BANGKOK, July 25.

FFAIRS between France and Siam are approaching a crisis. M. Pavie, French Minister resident, has lowered the flag over his office, and has notified the Siamese government that he will leave the city to go aboard the French warship in command to-morrow. He has requested the government to provide pilots to conduct the Lutin and Comte down the river. French subjects in Bangkok will be placed under the protection of the Dutch consul.

London, July 25.—A Bangkok telegram, published in London, declares that the Siamese government offers to pay an increased indemnity in lieu of the cession of the province of Luang Praabang to France.

The correspondent has been misled, or the French government has misrepresented the text of Siam's reply, as imparted to the Paris press. What is quite certain is that we have not yet seen the verbatim report of the ultimatum.

Suspicion exists in many quarters that France has intentionally withheld a part of the ultimatum and the reply, and as the session of the chamber is closed, the probability of little chance of learning the real position. M. Pavie's official dispatches containing the text of the reply arrived in some confusion, and, being in cipher, an omission, such as has been referred to, could be easily explained away.

Accompanying the telegram to the Siamese legation in Paris, containing Siam's reply, was another dispatch with confidential instructions, which has not been published, but which was retransmitted to Lord Rosebery. This may, perhaps, have contained the offer of an increased indemnity.

The eighteenth parallel of latitude mentioned in the Siamese government's reply cuts the Mekong river in a line with the Moon, where Captain Luce is now operating with a French force. The French claim, in fact, fixed the twenty-third parallel as the boundary. As the northern frontier of Cambodia is almost the fourteenth parallel, Siam in her reply grants only half of the French demands.

The situation is extremely critical. The conciliatory reply is the direct result of the influence of the king of Siam; but, in the present temper of the Siamese, he may be unable to prevent some untoward incidents, such as firing on the gunboat Incomat as she passes down the river, with M. Pavie on board. If this should occur, the French would immediately bombard Bangkok. The Paris Figaro ascribes Siam's request for an expansion of limit and a desire to prolong negotiations, to an intention to render the French gunboats impotent by exhausting their coal supplies before they are able to leave the river.

The Siamese warships are anchored a mile higher up than the French, and around a bend of the river, which shelters them from sudden French attack. The current on the Menam is very swift, and would give them a considerable advantage in descending upon the French vessels, which would be compelled to slip their anchors and manoeuvre at a disadvantage.

The London papers are filled with leading articles in which France is charged with aiming at the commerce of England and other countries having commercial relations with Siam, and warning the republic not to go too far.

The Times says editorially: "England's main objection in the matter is against making British and French possessions in Asia continuous. If she so desired she might warn France of the dangers she is running by retarding her of the Tonquin fleet."

The Standard says: "The terms that France is trying to impose on Siam would be undoubtably in any court of international morality. The remarkable experience which we gained from the occupation of Tunis of the methods of French diplomacy forbids us to accept too confidently the published program of the Quai d'Orsay. His the Earl of Rosebery's duty to tell France plainly that she is pledged to respect the independence of this buffer state. We cannot remain inactive in the face of France's preparations for contrary action."

PARIS, July 25.—The Paris Solr utters a threat that France and Russia will combine to set the screws on England, and says: "The concordance between the Russian movement in the Panics, and the French in Siam, has not been sufficiently remarked. It may be mentioned in passing that Russia hides the nature of her action in the Pamir by calling its scientific expedition."

The Liberte says that the French gunboats probably will go down the river, shell and destroy the Paknam forts, and then return to their positions before Bangkok to bombard the palace. Some pointed measure is necessary, adds this journal, for the preservation of France's prestige. The Debats thinks the Siamese will be provided surreptitiously by England with all the arms they need. The majority of the Paris newspapers devote as much space to denunciations of England as to the matter at issue between France and Siam. England is reproached by them with supporting the Siamese in their opposition to France's just demands and with planning to give the Siamese secret aid when hostilities begin.

The Temps says that the beginning of the blockade will be deferred until Thursday or Friday to enable France to take the steps prescribed by international law. Besides the blockade, military operations will be opened shortly. The details of these operations are still undetermined.

A CRUEL DESERTION.

Mrs. Daturka Both Robbed and Abandoned.

HASTY MARRIAGE SEQUEL.

After Her Husband Accidentally Killed Himself She Married a Younger Man and Gave Him a Saloon—Now He Skips With Her $2,700.

HE First ward is the prize winning district for local elections these days. Last week it furnished an elopement, on Sunday a riot, and to-day it brings forth a desertion with many interesting features. The principals in the latest sensation are Charley Daturka and his wife. They keep a saloon on East Centre street, almost opposite Justice Monaghan's office.

Mrs. Daturka was formerly Mrs. Krievianis, and her first husband was the proprietor of the saloon which is now conducted under her second husband's name.

When Mr. Krievianis conducted the saloon he had a shooting gallery as one of the attractions of the place. One night about nine months ago, while a number of men were in the saloon shooting at the target, Krievianis received a ball from the Flober rifle in the left breast. He expired instantly.

An inquest was held and the jury decided that Krievianis met death at his own hands by accidentally discharging the rifle. Four months later the widow married Daturka and the saloon license was transferred to him the day before the wedding took place, but the widow held on to $4,000 her husband left her.

The neighbors say the second marriage was an unwise and unhappy one and there was no peace in the household. Mrs. Daturka is a stout, good looking woman, but much older than her second husband. It is supposed that the trouble in the house was caused by Daturka trying to get control of the money the first husband left.

Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Daturka drove over to Malvern and during the journey they quarreled. They returned separately. To-day Mrs. Daturka was found in her saloon weeping bitterly, and to the sympathetic neighbors she said that at an early hour this morning her husband disappeared, taking with him $2,700 of her money and leaving her but six dollars. Efforts to find the man to-day were fruitless, and it is believed he has gone for good. Mrs. Daturka is left with two children.

She Wasn't Shot.
Mrs. Mary McGeever appeared at Justice Monaghan's office this afternoon with blood streaming from a wound in the back of her head. She declared that she had been shot in an East Centre street Polish saloon, but when Constable Toomey investigated the case he found nothing to confirm the story and that the woman sustained the injury by a fall.
