Disastrous Railroad Wreck.
 LEBANON, Pa., Aug. 1.—An east bound stock train was derailed at the west end of May's bridge, not far from this place. Two cars were thrown over the bridge, killing twenty cattle and mangled horses. The roadway was blocked, detaining general travel from one to two hours.

Singular Damage Suit in Williamsport.
 WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Aug. 1.—A novel damage suit was begun here yesterday. Mrs. Clara Smith brought action against Andrew A. Doney for selling her husband liquor that caused his death. She claims $10,000 damages, and has engaged the best of legal talent to push the case. The husband, James H. Smith, died in Doney's saloon last March, and the coroner's jury rendered a verdict of death from alcoholism. Smith was a man of known intemperance habits.

They Want Greenbacks.
 READING, Pa., Aug. 1.—The executive committee of the People's party intend holding a series of public meetings in this city, the first of which will take place next Monday evening, Aug. 7. At a meeting the committee decided in favor of the repeal of the Sherman law, provided a good substitute was presented. They are free silver men as long as metal is used, but prefer a paper currency. They are also opposed to the national banking system, and wish to see in its place government banks.

Arms & Oil Lubricant is very healing and soothing, and does wonders when applied to old sores. 1m

Pennsylvania Commandery, Loyal Legion.
 READING, Pa., Aug. 1.—Arrangements are being made by the Reading members of Pennsylvania commandery of the Loyal Legion for the meeting to be held in this city on Oct. 4. General Wertz will preside and over 400 delegates are expected to be in attendance. Quite a number of distinguished guests will be present, among whom will probably be ex-President Hancock. An excursion will be made to Gettysburg on Oct. 5.

A Pious Lady Pedestrian.
 CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—Mrs. Lucille Rodney, accompanied by her husband, G. B. Rodney, and W. W. Holliday, had a narrow escape from death in Chicago, Tex., having walked the entire distance. The trip was for a wager of $5,000 and sundry considerations. Mrs. Rodney wore eight pairs of shoes, and averaged twenty-three miles a day. She left Galveston May 16, and was due here today.

Cyclorama of Mission Ridge Reelnd.
 NEWVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 1.—During a severe wind, rain and thunder storm the circular building containing the cyclorama of the battle of Mission Ridge gave way before it, and is a complete wreck. If the picture is ruined, loss will be $20,000, with no storm insurance. No people were hurt.

A common cold should not be neglected. Down's Elixir will cure it. 1m

BEAUTY ALBUMS.

Result of Kate Jordan's Visit to a New York Photograph Studio.
 (Special Correspondence.)
 NEW YORK, July 30.—I stood in a peculiar little shop on Broadway the other day. On the walls, in glass cases, in the windows, were lines of photographs, tiers of them, and in boxes and stacked rows, a vast number of them. Photographs everywhere. There were actors and actresses gowns, ministers, pugilists, authors, statesmen and women who are photographed for beauty's sake alone. These last were in the majority.

If you do not think that each country has its own particular type of feminine beauty, it is because you have not thought seriously of the matter at all. The beautiful English woman is quite unlike the equally beautiful Austrian, and both are essentially different from the American. The American is always slighter. There is vivacity in her expression, her features are more delicate, her mouth and chin indicative of laughter and independence. In a word, she looks as if she might be frolicsome, as if she put on her dignity for the camera. The English woman seems born with it.

The Austrian is very lovely. As a general thing the face is childish, wistful, a little heavy in expression. No daring lurks in the eyes, as in the case of the American. You know that from the tones of the Teutonic woman's education she could not floutly contradict her husband.

"Who lays these pictures?" I asked of the pretty girl behind the counter. "Don't mind the actresses. I mean the beauties of private life."

"What beauty people from the west and south visiting New York make up collections of photographs—beauty albums—and others of people acting tragic or pathetic histories. Among the latter you will find Mrs. Maybrick—here she is in mourning bonnet and veil—pretty Marie Bashkirtseff, and always the beautiful and unfortunate Marie Yessera, who met a tragic death with the Croire Prince Rudolph of Austria."

"What beauties are most popular?"

"The Duchess of Leinster, Miss Mertens of Vienna, Jane Hading—for besides being a great actress she is the most beautiful Frenchwoman. Mrs. Langtry still sells. Lillian Russell is always a favorite. Among other Americans who are very popular are Mrs. Cleveland, Lady Randolph Churchill and the young girl whose exquisite photographs bear the name of 'Grace' and who is now Mrs. Raphael de la Mar.

American beauties who belong to the Four Hundred and who are photographed here seldom permit their pictures to be put on public sale.

KATE JORDAN.

The Bare Grass.
 About $2,000 is the price at which one authority on zoological matters estimates the grass. Grasses are most difficult to get since the Sudan war. A few years ago Kansas, which lies between Khartoum and Suakin, was the center for the hunters, but the war broke up the parties, and the grasses have retreated into the remote interior. A horse cannot live in East Africa—the tsetse fly kills him—and to reach a grassy plain you must travel north of the cape, but the difficulties of transport are enormous. The most and best shot, and the little ones are brought up on goat's milk, the hunters taking up a flock of goats with them. The chances against the lasty grasses living are large.

"PATIENCE OF JOB."

The Subject of Rev. Fowler's Sermon in the M. E. Church.
 The sermon in the Methodist Episcopal church on Sunday morning was on "The Patience of Job." James 5:11: "Ye have heard of the patience of Job." The sin of impatience, though lightly regarded, lies at the foundation of about as much human misery as any other sin. It is so common for men to get angry under provocation, to get discouraged after failures, to yield to despondency in the midst of trials and to doubt God when they cannot fathom the dispensations of His providence that the sinfulness of so doing sometimes does not occur to them.

But impatience is always a confession of weakness and a badge of littleness. Job is presented as an example of patience. Look at the circumstances of his life and character. His very name means "predestined one." He lived in the heathen, idolatrous land of Uz. So far as we know he had not the advantages of Sunday schools and churches. The Bible was not yet written. So none of God was yet built and no ministering priest was yet ordained. God's judgment of his character was "there is none like him in all the earth, a perfect and an upright man, one that feared God and eschewed evil." And what made it still harder to be good he was very rich so that he was the greatest man in all the east. He was familiar with all the trials incident to domestic life for he had seven sons and three daughters. But as he had the disposition he found the time to be religious. As there were no places of public worship he turned his own home into a church and observed family worship.

But the time came to him, as it does to us, when his property was stolen and his person afflicted. The wife of his bosom turned upon him and exhorted him to do what Satan said he would if he was afflicted: "Curse God and commit suicide." His friends, miserable comforters, under pretense of weeping with him slandered him. But mark his course: When the messengers bring tidings of his stolen herds and murdered children he fell down on the ground—not in a fit of rage nor inconsolable grief—and worshipped, saying "The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away, blessed be the name of the Lord." When his wife bethim cursed God and die he says, "What Shall we receive good at the hand of the Lord and not evil?" When his friends misrepresented him and charged that his faith was only presumption he cries "though He slay me yet will I trust Him."

Patience is not mere stoicism. It does not require us to be not to affect to be indifferent to our sufferings. It need not seal the lips and not allow us to say anything else. Job, whose name has become the synonym for patience, gave free vent to his feelings and even cursed the day in which he was born. His supreme test is not in the quenching of emotion and the clenching of the teeth in passive silence while a fiery volcano rages within. It exhibits itself not in casual utterances and spontaneous feelings but in unwavering loyalty to God and duty in spite of trials. Patience means endurance. We can excuse the groaning ship for tossing about if only she endures the storm and brings us safely into port.

The superstition of Job's friends that unal sorrow prove unwise, guilt still survives. But the bible teaches that "whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth." It would seem that Job's trial was to display and to perfect his virtue. The sufferings of saints are disciplinary and not punitive. This is the great lesson of this sublime poem. There is more in the bible to prove that unal sorrow proves unal goodness in the suffering than in the country. Even Satan could not touch Job's own property, nor can he touch ours, till first obtaining permission of God. There are no accidents in the government of God. He doth not afflict willingly. Every branch in us that breatheth fruit he purgeth it that it may bring forth more fruit.

The end of Job is a commentary upon the passage: "All things work together for good to them that love God." And if Job could love and serve God so faithfully that God himself could say he was "perfect" notwithstanding his adverse circumstances, who can not? "Ye have not yet resisted unto blood striving against sin."

LEBANON COUNTY REPUBLICANS

Official Returns, It Is Said, Show More Votes Cast Than There Are Voters.
 LEBANON, Pa., Aug. 1.—The official returns of the Lebanon county Republican primary show the following: County commissioners, John H. Kreller, of Mill Creek; register of wills, Joseph Danley, of Independent district; recorder and clerk of quarter sessions, Ephraim M. Boite, of Lebanon; clerk of orphan's court, John R. Fertig, of North Lebanon; county commissioners, Oliver H. Henry, of South Ansville, and John I. Kreller, of Lebanon; director of the poor, Alfred H. Rosen, of Jackson; county auditor, Albert H. Carmany, of Lebanon, and Henry E. Shelman, of Jonestown borough delegate to the state convention, D. S. Bank, of East Hanover; Dr. Thomas V. Miller, of Heidelberg, and Andrew J. Merith, of Lebanon. On the question whether the Crawford county system should be continued, or whether there should be a return to the old delegate system of nominations, the vote was overwhelmingly in favor of the Crawford county system. There is considerable dissatisfaction and some talk among the friends of defeated candidates of contesting the result. It is charged that in one case more votes were cast than there are voters in the district of all parties.

Northampton County Democrats.

EASTON, Pa., Aug. 1.—The Northampton county Democrats held their nominating convention here. D. J. Goddard, of Bethlehem, presided. The following were elected delegates to the state Democratic convention of 1894: H. W. Scott, W. A. Wilbur, James Smith, William Chapman, H. J. Steele, Francis Calvin, J. T. Woodring, B. J. Berlin, L. P. Ryan and Irwin J. Horn. The following were renominated for offices which they now hold: H. S. Cavanaugh, prothonotary; John J. Hertz, recorder; George W. Hoch, register of wills. The only contest of the day was over the nomination for county treasurer, which resulted in the selection of Charles H. Hemingway, of Easton. The other nominees were: For county commissioners, Charles Kichline of Lower Saucon, and Terrance McCabe of South Easton; for port director, Samuel Dessler of Nazareth. Resolutions of respect to the memory of the late Congressman Mutchler were unanimously adopted.

Pennsylvania Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The following Pennsylvania postmasters have just been appointed: Adolphus Yerkes, Andalusia; Charles Harris, Buckhorn; J. N. Bitter, Flemington; B. B. Shiffer, Hudson; Mrs. S. L. Mackey, Kellton; W. C. Schwan, Leola; Oliver Kistner, Northampton; H. C. Welch, North Bend; E. J. Marshall, Northbrook; S. T. Tarbox, Ogdenburg; D. D. Miller, Pickering; Andrew Smith, Port Clinton; M. B. Bessner, Pottsville; Mrs. E. F. Frazee, Rohrbaugh; Mrs. M. P. Yost, Rupert; Walter Williams, Tullytown; Lee Heller, Wellersville.

Fatal Kerorecse Again.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 1.—The house of J. H. Langrain, a farmer, near Olga, N. D., was burned through lighting a fire with kerosene. Two of the children were burned to death, and Langrain and his wife were so badly injured that recovery is doubtful.

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION!

Too High Pressure.
 In these days of keen competition in every line, the business man is compelled to use his intellect and every energy to the success of his business; the clerk, book-keeper, professional man and laborer, to drive themselves at a terrific rate, there can be but one result—an explosion, which, if not contemplated. Our homes, hospitals, and insane asylums are full of these unfortunate and are being crowded still further. There is but one solution of the matter. Recognize the importance of the situation at once, and take the necessary measures to overcome it. If you have falling memory, hot flashes, dizziness, nervous or sick headache, hollowness, irritability, melancholy, sleeplessness, fainting, nervous dyspepsia, epilepsy, etc., know that your brain is hot and that the remedy that may befall you and even though you have used so-called remedies and treated with reputable physicians with little or no benefit, give Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine a trial. It is the only remedy that may be depended upon for nervous disorders.

"Two years ago I used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine with marked benefit, and later induced my son, who had been sick with convulsions of the bladder five years in the hands of our best physicians, to try it together with Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. He was so wonderfully benefited that he is attending to business again. My wife used it, and she is greatly improved."—Louis G. Huber & Gibbs, Plow Co., Canton, Ohio.
 Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent by Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of $1 per bottle, six bottles $5.00 prepaid. It is positively free from opiates or dangerous drugs. Free book at druggists, or by mail.

Grand Display of FINE DRESS GOODS

DRESS GOODS is such a bewildering topic that we will not attempt a full description, but give a partial outline, which you can fill in by a personal inspection. There are the plain and changeable diagonals; plain, plaid, striped and invisible plaid werges; fancy mixtures in all sorts of odd wave, dots, threads, cross-threads, hair-lines, lines here and there, many at a glance appearing alike, but upon examination are found entirely different. Our assortment of silks is complete—china silks, china surah, plain surah, bengaline, plain, figured and changeable silks, in all the new shirt effects. Full line of fancy braids to match any color of dress goods.

....In Wraps
 single, double or triple cases. In some of its variations, it is highly decorated, with fancy fold-out hoods, butterfly colors, or some full arrangement at the neck, so much approved this season by the feminine fancy. To some, coats only are the correct garment. To those who would say coats are equally fashionable and stylish, many of these having cases also attached—sometimes one, two or three, as the taste or inclination of the wearer may desire.

We have this season, for the first time, added a Millinery Department, and have spared neither trouble nor expense to make it a success. The result exceeds our most sanguine expectations. This department will be under the same management and conducted on the same principles that have always characterized our entire business. We shall keep everything in trimmed and untrimmed hats, novelties of every description. Having secured a trimmer noted for her artistic and skillful work, we are enabled to suit all tastes. We invite a careful inspection of our entire store. All welcome.
