LEACH WILL RETIRE.

He Will Give Up the State Committee Secretaryship.

POOR HEALTH THE CAUSE.

Mr. Leach Has Had an Interesting Career in State and National Politics, and Has Made a Reputation as a Clever Tactician and a Skillful Organizer.

Special Herald Correspondent.

PHILADELPHIA, August 2.

OLITICIANS generally, especially those of Pennsylvania, will be regret to learn of the determination of Frank Willing Leach to be relieved of the responsible position of secretary of the Republican state committee. Mr. Leach has held that position since 1883. In conversation with your correspondent, he stated that owing to the condition of his health, he will not be a candidate for re-election under any circumstances.

The retirement of Mr. Leach from this important role will be felt by the Republican organization throughout the state. He has long been in touch with the active party men in every county in the commonwealth, and much of the responsibility of the direction of party affairs has fallen upon his shoulders.

Upon the advice of his physician Mr. Leach has gone to the mountains. Naturally of a nervous temperament, he has succumbed to the strain upon his overtaxed system. He attempted more than he was physically able to endure. He has not been in good health since he broke down in the campaign of 1891. During this canvass he not only satisfactorily filled the position of real estate deputy to the sheriff of Philadelphia, but, besides performing the executive work of the secretaryship of the Republican state committee, he acted as assistant secretary of the Republican national committee. Frequently he was in his office until long after midnight on week days, and he has a stenographer on correspondence covering every state in the union. Owing to the condition of his health Mr. Leach wanted to retire last year. General Reader was unwilling to accept the resignation, however, unless Mr. Leach became his chief of staff.

Reader's Special Tributes. "I recognize in Mr. Leach one particularly well qualified for the position," said General Reader in announcing his appointment. "In fact," he added, "I do not know another man in the whole state who is so well fitted to look after the important detail work of the secretaryship. He has had long experience in this particular field, and I have a very high opinion of his ability and aptitude for the trying and responsible duties of the position."

Many of the most influential Republican newspapers in the state gave flattering editorial commendation to Mr. Leach's party services in approving his reappointment to the secretaryship at that time. The last campaign was particularly trying upon Secretary Leach, owing to the additional work incident to the introduction of the new ballot law.

Where Detail Work Counted. While Mr. Leach has been secretary of the state committee since 1883, part of that time he was not actively engaged on the routine duties of that office. Although still holding the position of secretary during the state campaigns of 1888 and 1890, Mr. Leach was devoting nearly all his time to the work of assistant secretary of the Republican national committee. In the Delamater campaign, but a month before the election, he returned to Philadelphia, and at his suggestion the city committee, of which he was a member, organized a special canvass of the Third Congressional district, with Mr. Leach as chairman of the committee in charge of the party organization. The Republican forces made a masterly battle and reduced the Democratic majority in this district by about 5,000 votes.

Perilous Work in the South. In the national campaign of 1888 Chairman Quay assigned Mr. Leach to an important and perilous canvass of North Carolina. Mr. Leach took entire charge of the Republican campaign in that state. He made an effective suit bank. His mission was only discovered a few days before the election. Although his life was threatened he held his ground until the close of the polls. He perfected an organization such as had never been known in any southern state before. Mr. Leach had the satisfaction of knowing that, though the state was lost, three Republican congressmen were elected, which really saved the house of the Fifty-first congress to the Republican party, for, despite the Democratic wholesale counting in tactics, the Republicans secured the house by a majority of three. Chairman Hayes, of the North Carolina Republican state committee, in a cordial letter assured Mr. Leach that without his help he doubted if one of the three Republican congressmen could have been elected.

A Tactician and Organizer. Although he must relinquish the details of organizing work for a time, Mr. Leach proposes to continue an active interest and participation in state politics. He expects to be called to attend the coming state convention, to which he is a delegate. As secretary of the Philadelphia delegation, and of the committee having Judge Fellis in charge, Mr. Leach has a particular interest in the gathering at Harrisburg on Aug. 30. Leach is a most efficient and diligent to find a man as capable as Mr. Leach for the secretaryship of the state committee. At best it is a thankless task, there being no salary attached to the office, and the onerous duties and great responsibilities involved are seldom appreciated. Mr. Leach is admirably one of the cleverest tacticians and most skillful organizers in the state.

Another Chester County Feud. WEST CHESTER, Pa., Aug. 2.—The feud between the two families of the Leach girls in Chester county continues in spite of the fact that there are now six men in jail on the charge. The ninth and latest attempt surpasses them all in ferocity. Morris Hoy, a busy lawyer, engaged the 12-year-old daughter of Horace Mackey, a prominent farmer of London Grove township, in the orchard and complicity was soon upon her. He threw the little one down and pressed a good sized apple into her month as a gag. The little girl was found lying unconscious, nearly all the clothing being torn from her bruised body.

They Stole His Earnings. HUNTINGDON, Pa., Aug. 2.—At midnight Chalmers Dubbs, of Saltillo, this county, was asleep in his room. He arose to go to the porch. As he stepped on the porch, he was seized by three masked men, who stuffed a paper bag in his mouth and then tied him with a rope to the porch railing. Dubbs had been saving his earnings, amounting to about $200, to build a house, and this he kept under his pillow. The robbers, after tying Dubbs, went to his room and secured the money. They then fled to Jack's mountain.

Dauphin County's Republican Ticket. HAZLETON, Pa., Aug. 2.—The Republican county convention nominated the following ticket: Sheriff, H. Shellenberger; treasurer, Chris W. Lynch; recorder, W. L. Hershey; register, R. H. Steing; committee members, Lewis J. N. Mott, director of the poor, William Lusk; auditor, W. C. Erb; Daniel Gussinger; representative, Second district, H. Clay Keen; delegates to state convention, Second district, Daniel I. Evans, A. M. Dehopp, P. S. Blackwell.

Sons of St. George in Convention. READING, Pa., Aug. 2.—The fifth annual state convention of the Grand Lodge, Sons of St. George, convened in Eika's hall. Nearly 100 delegates are in attendance. The grand lodge elected the following officers: President, William Maylin, Scranton; vice president, Richard Reed, Philadelphia; secretary, J. Henry Williams, Philadelphia; treasurer, Robert Stewart, Philadelphia.

Collected for Fictitious Persons. NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—An attachment has been obtained in this city for George W. Vanderbilt against G. W. Wheeler, Jr., who has the charge of Vanderbilt's factory at Baltimore, N. C., for $10,000, which, it is alleged, Mr. Wheeler has embezzled. It is alleged that Wheeler has been collecting for fictitious names on the pay roll and converting the money to his own use.

His Second Attempt Successful. ALLENTOWN, Pa., Aug. 2.—Samuel Schneck, a carpenter, committed suicide early by taking a dose of poison. His body was found rigid in death. Schneck tried to commit suicide two months ago by hanging himself to a bed post, but was discovered and cut down. He died at about 65 years old and married.

Pottsville's Altruistic Reception. ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 2.—The citizens of this city here concluded arrangements to entertain Governor Pattison and staff when they come to inspect the Fifth regiment at Lakemont Park next Monday. All the civic organizations will participate in a grand demonstration on that occasion.

An Embezzling Bookkeeper. READING, Pa., Aug. 2.—Charles W. Hillebrand, confidential bookkeeper at the West Reading Planting mill, was arrested here on a charge of embezzlement and lodged in jail. He is about 35 years of age, highly connected, and it is alleged that his pecuniations will amount to considerable.

Murder Ends the Honeyoons. PARIS, Tex., Aug. 2.—A young couple named Fisk quarreled in the street, and the woman drew a pistol and shot her husband in the head, killing him. They had been married but a week. The woman had previously led an abandoned life and was addicted to the use of morphine.

Will Not Abandon the Road. EASTON, Pa., Aug. 2.—Secretary Tinsman, of the Philadelphia and New England Railroad company, with an incorporated charter of $2,000,000 capital, and managed from Wind Gap to Port Jervis, N. Y., denies the rumor that the company intends to abandon its project.

Charged with Drowning His Child. ALLENTOWN, Pa., Aug. 2.—Harry Johnson, married, has been committed to jail to await the action of the coroner's jury in the case of his 5-year-old child, whose body was found in the Lehigh river. Johnson is believed to have committed the deed to hide his shame.

Bank Failure in St. Paul. ST. PAUL, Aug. 2.—The Seven Corners bank in this city, a state institution with a $100,000 capital, assigned yesterday afternoon. It is the first bank failure in St. Paul in more than a year and it is not believed to be a bad one.

A DRIVER'S DILEMMA.

Mules Fall Into a Deep Mine

Breach.

TWO OF THEM ARE KILLED

While the Driver Was Chasing Two Runaways Three Mules Broke From Their Fastenings and Dropped Into One of the Death Traps.

YESTERDAY Jacob Franks and John Biter, both of town, were sent to the Elwood colliery, near Mahanoy City, to get a number of mules for work at Turkey Run colliery. Biter took six mules under his care and Franks took charge of five. Biter made the best progress and reached the place without mishap. Franks was less fortunate.

When passing over Duna's hill two of Franks' mules broke away and galloped up the hill into the brush. Franks alighted and, after trying the three remaining mules to a tree, started in pursuit of the runaways.

In the chase Franks was obliged to pass over the brow of the hill and last sight of the mules he left tied to the trees, and after considerable trouble he succeeded in capturing the two stray animals.

Upon going back to the starting point Franks found that the other three mules had broken their fastenings to the trees and disappeared. He started on another hunt, leading the captives, and was dismayed upon finding the three mules at the bottom of a deep mine breach in the midst of thick brush on the top of the hill.

Franks hurried to the Turkey Run colliery with the two mules that had first given him trouble and returned to the breach with assistance and ropes and tackle. One of the mules was dead, having apparently been instantly killed by the fall. A second mule died shortly after being removed from the breach, but the third was only slightly injured.

The mules were said to be worth $250 or $300 each. They were the property of the P. & R. C. & I. Co.

AN EMPTY SENSATION.

One of the Alleged Interested Parties Professes Ignorance.

A story got abroad yesterday that a prominent young man of town and a lady friend had a sensational experience while driving to town from Mahanoy City on Sunday evening, but an investigation by a reporter modified the circumstances. At the time the young man found when passing Indian Ridge breaker that four unknown men were piling railroad sills, which had been dumped for the Lakeside electric railway, in such a manner as to prevent carriages from passing over the turnpike. The young man thought robbery was the motive of the men and applied the whip to his horse, which went bounding over the sills, pulling the carriage and its occupants in safety after it. Upon his arrival here the young man is reported to have told a thrilling tale and some parties who heard it and knew that one of our most prominent business men who was to have received the aid of the armed rescuers drove to town over the same road later in the night without any mishap and without meeting with the experience such as the young man is said to have met. The business man said to-day that he had heard something of the affair, but he believed the whole thing was a joke. He believes some of the young man's friends know who piled the railroad sills on the highway, if there was such an act, and he denied that any armed men went out to the scene. "Don't mix me up in such a foolish thing as that," he said in conclusion.

ORWIGSBURG INTERESTED.

The Bank of that Place Invested in Western Notes. A dispatch from Minneapolis, Minn., says the First National Bank, of Orwigsburg, Pa., has used the New England Association, James C. Plant, Louis F. Menge, the Northwestern Guaranty Loan Association and the other directors of that association to recover $400,445. It is alleged that the New England Association, through James C. Plant, its secretary, made a note which was transferred to the Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company. From this company the note was transferred to the plaintiff through statements that the Guaranty Loan Company was solvent and had a surplus of $50,000, a guarantee of fund of $150,000, in addition to the paid-up capital, which was represented to be $1,000,000.

It is also alleged that at the time of the making of the note—May 19, 1893—the defendants were insolvent and that the Guaranty Loan directors violated the duties of their office by selling to the corporation within the last year $1,250,000 in notes, the makers of which were worthless, irresponsible and unknown to the directors, besides allowing collateral in fictitious bonds and other papers to be taken, while in approving the same the directors had full notice of the fact that they were bogus.

It is also held that the directors of the Guaranty Loan Company were unfaithful in their duties in that they permitted disbursement bonds to be taken upon real estate in sums many times exceeding their value of the real estate and has December declaring dividends upon the capital stock of the company at a time that the company is alleged to have been insolvent.

THE REPORTERS' WORK

Items of a Local Character Briefly Chronicled.

FOUR BOYS IN TROUBLE.

They Attack Miss Jennie Heaton, Daughter of Mine Foreman James Heaton, With Stones and Are Arraigned Before Squire Denlinger for a Hearing.

OUR young boys, ranging from twelve to fourteen years of age, were before Squire Denlinger last evening charged with throwing stones at Miss Jennie A. Heaton and using insulting language. Yesterday afternoon Constable Tosh served notice upon James Flannery, Joseph McAndrew, James Denery and Michael Brennan, to appear before Squire Denlinger on the charge of malicious mischief. The boys reside at Deane's patch, and were on their way to No. 3 for their pay when the attack upon Miss Heaton took place.

Miss Heaton is the accomplished daughter of Mine Foreman James Heaton, of No. 4, and was on her way to this town on Friday afternoon, when she was attacked by the boys. She says she was walking leisurely along the road when a stone was thrown by one of the boys. She remonstrated with them, but that had no effect. Shortly afterwards another stone was fired through the parson's side carrying and struck her on the head. She was also hit upon the hand, and the boys used insulting language toward her.

Joseph McAndrew, the boy who fired the first stone, testified that he threw at a bird near by, while James Flannery acknowledged that he threw the stone that passed through the parson and struck Miss Heaton upon the head. The evidence showed that James Denery and Michael Brennan took no part in the stone throwing, and they were released. The other two boys got off with a warning reprimand by the Squire, and the payment of costs to the amount of $10, including the price of a new parson, and with the promise of not to be caught in the act again.

THE ELECTRIC RAILWAY. The Fifteen Hour Policy is to be Abandoned. It is semi-officially stated that the Schuylkill Traction Company has concluded that the fifteen-hour system it inaugurated recently is not equal to the demands of the patrons and is a source of too many complaints. Superintendent Jones will in a few days announce a new schedule he is formulating to increase the number of cars, motor men and conductors and reduce the number of working hours.

Several Wm. Penn gentlemen were in town last evening and stated that there is great dissatisfaction down the valley over the new schedule. Before that schedule went into effect the women of Wm. Penn found difficulty in securing accommodations on the cars on pay days, but now that so many cars have been taken off these women have no show at all. They must either walk to Shenandoah or get some other means of conveyance.
