Pleasant Reunion of the Beddall Family.

A VERY ENJOYABLE TIME.

The Members of the Family, With a Number of Intimate Friends, Visit the Scene of Their Childhood Days at Port Carbon, and Spend a Pleasant Time.

SCENES of childhood days were brought forcibly to the members of the Beddall family yesterday when they assembled once more under the parental roof at Port Carbon. For a number of years it has been the annual custom to hold a family reunion, and last year it was held at the picturesque Lakeside park. This year, however, in deference to the wishes of their aged mother, the members assembled at the family mansion in Port Carbon. The selection was undoubtedly a wise one, as the grounds surrounding the house are very suitable for such a gathering, besides the building is large and commodious.

From a social standpoint the gathering was certainly an enjoyable affair. The older heads of the family lived with the younger folks in their indulgence in juvenile games, while the more active contented themselves with conversing upon the pleasures of past like gatherings. To merely mention the fact that the Beddall family, all of whom are prominent in social and business circles, had assembled under one roof is in itself sufficient to say that all present had a pleasant time.

Those in attendance were: S. A. Beddall and family, Thomas R. Beddall and family, George W. Beddall and family, Nathan Beddall and family, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. George Millichap and son, Mrs. W. J. Morgan and son, Clarence Crobaugh, Benjamin S. Daddow and Miss Jennie A. Thomas, of town; Joseph Beddall, Ephraim Beddall, Mrs. Dunlap and children, and William Beddall, of Wm. Penn; Mrs. E. Barlow and grandson, George Barlow and wife, Mrs. George W. son and daughter, and Charles O. Smith, of Mahanoy City; Joseph S. Beddall and family, and Misses Harris and Wolvarth, of Tanawagon; E. A. Beddall and family, Mrs. Robert Quinn, son and daughter, and Miss Susie Bedford, of Pottsville; Misses Shoener, of Germantown, and Bessie Woolley, of Philadelphia; Joseph Bedford, Chicago; Roll S. Beddall and family and other friends of Port Carbon.

ONE DANA'S SARSAPARILLA, ITS "THE KIND THAT CURES".

Shenandoah has three games booked to-morrow at the trotting park with Pottstown; Saturday at Ashland; and the next game here with Pottstown.

Our home club requires more than one game a week. Many of the players complain of want of practice.

The more frequently games are played the greater becomes the interest taken in the national sport by the public.

Messitt went to Philadelphia yesterday in search of a pitcher for the home team. Bradley, late of Camden, N. J., failed to report, but Manager Bradigan still has hopes of securing him.

Pottsville suffered a humiliating defeat Tuesday at the hands of Pottstown. The score was 19 to 4. Martin, of the home team, played third base for Pottsville.

The directors of the Mahanoy City club have decided to disband the club for the want of patronage.

Bradley, late of Camden, N. J., arrived in town this morning to become the regular pitcher for the home team.

Manager E. J. Williams announces that he has secured a game with the strong Shenandoah team for Saturday, to be played here. The Shenandoah team has been putting up the best ball in the region, and it will take work to win from them, and that is what the home boys will do their best to accomplish.—Ashland Telegram

Bradley and Messitt will be the battery at the trotting park to-morrow afternoon against the Pottstowns.

The Great Day.

Tuesday, next, is the day fixed for the great coal region pleasure event—the Grant band musical at Lakeside. It will draw thousands of people from all parts of Schuylkill and adjoining counties and the railroads will be taxed to their greatest capacity to accommodate the crowds. In addition to the program to be furnished by the Grant and other bands, there will be sculling and pigeon shooting matches and the much-looked-for championship game between the Shenandoah and Pottsville base ball clubs. It will be a great day at Lakeside—August 15th.

A common cold should not be neglected. Down's Elfix will cure it. 1m

It Pays to Advertise.

It pays to advertise, and especially in the HERALD. Mrs. Howard, of West Oak street, inserted a lost notice in this paper, and before the ink was hardly dry upon the paper the lost article was returned.

OBSE'S OBSERVATIONS.

What He Sees and Hears During His Travels.

When Chairman Betteridge announced the appointment of the Board of Health on Tuesday evening, members of Council asked him if he was certain the gentlemen named were willing to act and he replied: "They promised me they would serve faithfully, impartially and without fear." That is the kind of a board we want, for in all probability the members will frequently be called upon to perform a duty which many would try to shirk under ordinary circumstances. Most of the more aggravated nuisances exist on properties owned or controlled by people who rank among the most prominent and influential citizens, and it has frequently occurred that they have escaped the consequences of their neglect by the fear of the authority that to offend such people would mean a decapitation from some source or another. There is one consolation the people of town will have hereafter. Should any one persist in maintaining a nuisance and the local Board of Health refuse or neglect to act, there is a higher authority than the Borough Council to which an appeal can be carried, and that is the State Board of Health, backed by the state laws.

Should the annulment of the Reading's lease of the Lehigh Valley railroad result locally in the former company re-establishing its passenger station in the old building at Union and Centre streets, which will in all probability be the case, it is hoped that before the building is reopened it will be considerably altered and improved so as to give the patrons of the road better accommodations than they had under the old system.

Views of a varied nature are heard expressed upon our streets in relation to the annulment of the lease by the Lehigh Valley Company, under which the Reading controlled that system since 1892. I am inclined to believe, considered from a Shenandoah standpoint, that the annulment was for the better. The only surprise that the announcement occasioned was the fact that the Lehigh people caused the abrogation of the contract. It is no secret that the Lehigh Valley has been a great financial disappointment to the Reading, and a heavy drain upon its resources. For this reason it was thought the Reading would take the initiative in abrogating the lease.

An official of the Reading company, who is well versed in the affairs of that company, informed me yesterday that the Reading company has fostered the trade of the Lehigh Valley, in order to make it a paying investment, by curtailing its own production of coal and diverting great amounts of freight that formerly passed over its own lines. He says it will require some time before the two systems will be running as they did previous to the "combine," the affairs of the two companies being so badly tangled up.

Under the management of President McLeod, the Reading company became a leading factor in trunk line transportation, and thus advanced the interests of all connected with the mining of anthracite coal. From this position the Reading is relegated to its former position, that of a local coal-carrying corporation. Viewed in this light, I consider the annulment of the lease by the Lehigh Valley a great drawback to the anthracite coal regions.

It will take several days to disseminate the information to the various officials of the Lehigh Valley of the annulment of the lease, and to have the road in good working order under the new management. Active preparations, however, are in progress for the transfer, and in a few days we may look for a change at the local stations.

Speaking of the change here, would it not be a good business stroke on the part of the Reading to abandon the passenger depot at the lower end of Centre street and build a more commodious building where the freight depot is now located, at the north end of main street? I imagine it would; and it would certainly be a great convenience to the patrons of the road and materially increase passenger traffic over the Reading. It would also improve that section of the town, enhance the valuation of properties in that locality and make business boom at the northern part of our main thoroughfare. ONE.

Require Attention.

EDITOR HERALD: Your repeated mention of the nuisance prevailing in town of young men and ladies—who are old enough to know better—congregating upon the sidewalks, met my hearty approval, as well as that of all orderly citizens. The police appear to be unable to abate this nuisance. I also notice there are a number of young men who make strenuous efforts to make progress heavenward in their intentions of going to church, but become stranded at certain corners of one otherwise orderly town. Here they will remain in droves, and we unto the respectable and modest young woman that will have to run the gauntlet on her way to and from church. These young men are not beautiful; they are not even artistic. As the congregations pass their corner they endeavor to pose; they endeavor to look cleverly critical, and they endeavor to be witty. But they fail. I have seen the ladies laugh more and enjoy the antics of a monkey on a string, than they do at the attempt at wit of these dudes. For real animals are interesting. But these poses do not know this. No young man that wishes to be respectable should be found in such company, and all the rest should be driven to behavior by our police authorities.

GOOD BEHAVIOR.

Shenandoah, August 10.

A Valuable Remedy, Hon. Edmund L. Pitts, the late president of the New York State Senate, writes:

"STATE OF N. Y., SENATE CHAMBER, ALBANY, March 11, 1886.

I have used Alcock's Porous Plasters in my family for the past five years, and can truthfully say they are a valuable remedy and effect great cures. I would not be without them. I have in several instances given some to friends suffering with weak and lame backs, and they have invariably afforded certain and speedy relief. They cannot be too highly commended."

DEMOCRATS IN CAUCUS

Senators Unable to Agree on a Mode of Procedure.

IN A COMMITTEE'S HANDS

The Silver Men Evidently Undismayed by the Suggestions in the President's Message—Free Coinage Men of the House Adhere to Their Principles.

Special to EVENING HERALD

WASHINGTON, August 10.

THE Democratic Senatorial caucus held yesterday forenoon adjourned for dinner without an agreement. The afternoon caucus was almost unproductive of results as the morning session. Most of the time was consumed in the expression of individual views which clearly demonstrated that each element in the party was firmly wedded to its own notions. One of the senators, who occupies an important and high position in the finance committee, and whose leaning toward free silver is pronounced, declared positively, "You can get it down as a certainty that the Sherman act will not be repealed unconditionally." On the other hand, some senators who have sided with the president, said rather despondently that while no tangible advance had been made toward a point where the party could be regarded as united, they had not abandoned hope that the efforts in that direction might not eventually result in success.

It is gathered from this that the conditional repeal proposed is not of sufficient strength, and that certain of the ultra-silver men are preparing to follow in the direction indicated by the leaders in the silver caucus in the house yesterday, namely, towards repeal with free coinage on an increased ratio. It was a rather significant fact that the silver men appeared to have less anxiety than their opponents about the result of the caucus, as was evidenced by their conduct while the senators were discussing the question. A number of them leaving the room and going to the restaurant, where they calmly indulged in luncheon, apparently unperturbed as to what was going on in the chamber above.

Neither party in the senate has ever been able to caucus with complete success on the subject of silver, and yesterday's caucus was no exception to the rule. So, after exhausting the possibilities of debate, the caucus fell back upon the oft tried expedient of delegating to a committee the task of endeavoring to arrange a plan of business that should be satisfactory to all sides. Mr. Gorman, the chairman of the caucus, was authorized to appoint this committee, and the caucus then adjourned subject to his call, which will be issued as soon as the committee has reached an agreement and is prepared to submit a report for action.

After the adjournment of the caucus Mr. Gorman repaired to the room where the committee on appropriations and called into consultation Senators Blackburn, Gray, Ransom and Voorhes. Senator Cockrell was invited to remain in the room. All of these senators, with the exception of Senator Gray, were members of the Democratic caucus committee of the last session, and, although Mr. Gorman had not yet made his appointments, their presence gave color to the expectation that they would be named as members of the caucus committee.

The caucus of members of the house who favor the free coinage of silver adopted the following resolution by a unanimous vote:

"Resolved, That we will support a bill repealing the purchasing clause of the Sherman act and concurrently providing for the free and untrammelled coinage of silver, with full legal tender quality, on such a ratio as will provide and maintain parity between the gold and silver coins."

A committee of seven was appointed to draft and introduce such a bill. The committee is composed as follows: Messrs. Bland, Sibley, Boies, Lane, Bankhead, Fry, Bailey and Culberson.

When the caucus met, it was estimated that there were about forty members of the house in the hall, but during the time caucus was in session about 100 members were admitted. Estimates of the number in attendance ranged from 80 to 125—the clerk of the caucus fixing the number at 98 and Mr. Bland saying he counted over 100. Many known silver men failed to attend.

Brief Session of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The senate was in session yesterday only twenty minutes, and a considerable part of that time was occupied by the chaplain in an eloquent eulogy of the late Senator Stanford, of California. All the Democratic senators voted for Mr. Gorman's motion to adjourn, and were reinforced by all the senators from the silver producing states. The negative vote was given by Republicans. The result was: yeas 48; nays 41. The house was not in session.

A Farmer's Strange Disappearance.

EASTON, Pa., Aug. 10.—There has been a mysterious disappearance in Allen township. Barney Braker, a well to do farmer, told his wife Sunday morning that he would go to the barn, hitch up the team and drive her to church. He did not return to the house, and his wife, thinking he had driven up the road to overtake her, walked to church. Braker was not there and no trace of him can be found. It is thought he wandered off in an attack of insanity.

To Increase the Navy.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Preliminary steps for the construction of three new gunboats for the United States navy were taken by the navy department in the issuance of advertisements inviting bids for their construction. One of the vessels is to be of a special type for use in Chinese waters, while the other two are to be ordinary gunboats. The last congress appropriated $1,200,000 for their construction.

Wilder Wouldn't be Whipped. WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 10.—White-eyes went to J. E. Wilder's boarding house to tar and feather him because he had not obeyed an order to leave the country. Wilder fired on the crowd, hitting Rowell Becker and probably fatally wounding Thomas Coyns. Wilder surrendered.

LOCAL POLITICAL FIELD

Points of Much Interest to the Local Candidates.

VERY PECULIAR TACTICS

An Attempt to Use the Republican County Ticket to Subsidize the County Chairmanship for Which Major Losh is an Aggressive Aspirant.

HERE is danger lurking in the air for some of the local Republicans who are aspiring for office, and if they will open their eyes and take in the surroundings with a common sense view they can readily see that a deep pit has been dug beneath the surface on which they stand; that when the proper moment comes the surface will give way and they will drop into obscurity to make room for the choice of men who have been selected by people who would grasp the wand of the ruling powers.

If the people who are in this plot succeed neither Shenandoah or Gilberton will have a County Commissioner on the Republican ticket this year; notwithstanding the prevailing sentiment that it is time Shenandoah be given a representative in the Commissioner's office.

On Monday last "Sam" Losh, of Schuylkill Haven, and "Dick" Koch, of Pottsville, paid a visit to town and were received with open arms by their old-time champion and admirer, a Third ward office holder. They came, they saw, and went away again, supposing that all they had done and said was completely shrouded in mystery, and nothing would be known of their arrangements until the moment to strike and conquer should arrive, but they were mistaken. The shroud of mystery was broken after their departure and the secrets of the deal have leaked out.

The facts are that Losh and Koch came to Shenandoah to give its three candidates for County Commissioner a black eye, and to do this they have made arrangements to spring two Shenandoah men at the last moment for entirely different offices. One of those men is Mr. Bierstein, who is wholly unknown in county or local politics, and so much generally unknown that upon mention of the name almost everybody asks, "Who is he?" Mr. Bierstein is to be sprung as the Losh-Koch candidate from Shenandoah for Recorder.

But let the convention may possibly decide that the Recordership and a Commissionership would not be too much for Shenandoah, these schemers have gone farther by inducing James Champion to announce himself as a candidate for County Auditor.

Messrs. Severn, Neiswender and Bellis can readily see that they are not the choice of the Losh-Koch schemers, because Shenandoah cannot hope for three offices. The idea is to dump the three candidates named and quiet the town with something which it does not want.

Mr. Losh has also been active in other parts and has been prevailing upon Alexander Scott to come out for County Treasurer against Losh's own townsmen, Dr. Deibert, who announced himself as a candidate for the office early last spring, and who is favored by the leaders of the party. Mr. Losh's idea is that with Scott in the field Steve Middleton's chances for County Commissioner will be cast to the winds, and thus both Shenandoah and Gilberton will not be in it so far as a Commissionership is concerned.

Now why is it that Mr. Losh undertakes to dictate to the people north of the mountain what offices the towns shall have? He has an excellent motive, and it is this: Mr. Losh wants to get as many men as he can of his own choice on the ticket so that when the new rules go into effect they will support him for chairman of the county committee. Under the new rules the candidates will have the power of creating that chairmanship. That is the motive, and Mr. Losh intends to put it through at the expense of Severn, Neiswender, Bellis and Middleton, the aspirants for County Commissionerships. Do these people see that hump?
