"AFTER THE BALL"

A Pottsville Letter on the Convention.

AN INTERESTING REPORT.

With an intelligent weighing of the circumstances in favor of the Ticket—Whitehouse, Pomeroy and Potts Committed—Some Very Fugient Points.

Special HERALD Correspondence

POTTSVILLE, Aug. 16. IT WAS not at all like a Republican convention of "ye olden time," it was too turbulent, unmanageable and entire-ly too Democratic. Yet it brought forth good fruit, and no Republican has good cause to refuse to support any one of the thirteen good nominees.

The credit of naming such an excellent ticket, if it can be said to belong to one man more than another, is due to the leadership of Com. W. J. Whitehouse, who organized a crusade against un-Republican politics a fortnight before the meeting, when the specter of fully first made its appearance in an attempt to play into the hands of the enemy by making no nomination for Judge, and thereby surrendering before a single gun was fired.

This movement was hatched by the people in charge of the party organization, aided by ex-Congressman Brunum, Representative Leach, ex-Chairman Phillips and others, and it was a wise move on the part of their antagonists, Messrs. Whitehouse, Koch, Potts, Job and others when they decided to make no fight on the chairmanship, and suggested to Mr. Koch that he nominate Mr. Brunum and ask that he be chosen by acclamation. Heads had been counted hours before and the anti-openers knew they had the convention body, boots and breeches. They knew Brunum would make a good chairman and they knew they could cripple him and the scheme he nurtured by honoring him with the presiding role, and Koch wanted not the labor or dis-tinction and felt that he could be more effective in the body of the convention free and untrammelled. Brunum was there fore har-nessed to the chair and got in but one good speech (which he can always make) and presided with dignity, grace and tireless energy.

OPENING THE BALL. After the morning session, which was prin-cipally devoted to considering the party's new rules which were adopted as reported with few alterations the ball was opened after recess in the afternoon. Delegate John W. Reese, of St. Clair, was selected to throw in the fire brand and he did it by offering a resolution to leave the office for Judge open. Delegate Potts at once moved to amend by including the offices of Treasurer, Prothono-tary, Court Clerk and one Commissioner. The venerable ex-legislator supported his amend-ment by showing how ridiculous and unbecom-ing it would be in a Republican conven-tion to retire before the enemy had fired a gun and he advocated a full ticket as the only nerry thing open to the convention. Mr. Reese followed and made an unfortunate al-lusion to the purpose of the leaving the judge-ship out of the ticket, naming it as an effort of bottling up a certain corporation which would not spend money in the campaign if Weidman was not opposed. This drew all the fire of Mr. Koch's lightning-pent-up guns and he blasted all the hopes of the pro openers by a speech which was characterized by good sense, sound argument and solid points. Then stepped down from the platform Mr. Chairman Brunum and he, too, made a telling speech, but misquoted history in saying that the Hon. C. L. Pershing, a Democrat, was brought here by Republicans in 1872 to run for Judge, when every student of Schuy kill county poli-tics knows that he was brought here by D. E. Nice, (who wrote him the first letter), F. W. Hughes, Guy E. Farquhar, Mason Weidman, James B. Reilly and John A. Nash, and also that his first nomination was by a Labor Re-form convention, that he got left by the Demo-cratic convention and was endorsed by the Republicans, whose convention was held last. Yet Mr. Brunum made a strong speech for his side and if the convention had not been un-favorable his efforts would have been more kindly greeted. The non-nomination of a judge was snowed under by a vote of 174 to 50, more than three to one, and it was at once apparent that the Whitehouse party would select most of the ticket.

SELECTION OF JUDGES. The winners of the chief contest at once went to work and marshaled their forces for Seltzer with so much success that the Potts-ville-Shenandoah lawyer won by 155 to 109 for Mr. Lyon. The successful Seltzer owes his strength as much to the HERALD as to his own individual canvass and he owes his nomina-tion to the wise manipulation of his cap-tain, Mr. Whitehouse and Lieutenant Pomeroy and Potts, with a little credit due to the unpopularity of the scheme to let the nomina-tion open, which had a direful downfall. Mr. Seltzer is a deserving winner and will grace the head of your ticket. He will make a good canvass for Seltzer but he will also make the success of others on the ticket his special care. Republicans will find in Mr. Seltzer a candidate who is unselfish, fair and honest. He will trade nobody to get votes for himself. This whole Republican party can rely on, and if he is only treated fairly by the others on the ticket he will treat them some of the Democratic nominees of July 31st will fall by the wayside.

Judge Weidman, against whom Mr. Seltzer will urge a manly campaign, on the principle that minority representation on the bench should be always conceded, has no mean an-tagonist in William D. Seltzer. The latter has a faculty of making friends who remain as true to him as the needle to the pole, and in saying this I mean no pun if the Poles are true to Seltzer. I will not say that Mr. Selzer will be elected, because doubtful things are uncertain; but it can be said that stranger things have happened than the overturning of a majority such as confronts Mr. Seltzer to-day, and it may be that in the long cam-paign before election there will a great change come over the spirit of the dreams of a goodly number of voters who may be made to believe, as is claimed by Mr. Koch and others of Mr. Seltzer's warmest advocates, in this—that a non-partisan judiciary was sought to be de-stroyed when Governor Pattison ignored the claims of the minority in this county by ap-pointing a Democrat to a Republican seat.

THE LITTLE LION WINS. Mr. Seltzer's nomination was followed by what proved to be the strongest nomination of the day. No one had seriously thought of Hon. R. Severn, of your town, as Controller, but it was always conceded that when the ticket was made up he would be found to be somewhere on it. These letters always pro-nounced that, as the reader will attest. So when it came to be so well known that Hon. Severn was not only needed on the ticket, but that he would fill the bill better as Controller than in any other position, and since C. N. McGinnis could not be induced to enter poli-tics under any consideration (always a com-mendable resolution) all eyes turned to the little lion, ten. Under the management of Messrs. Whitehouse and company (although a little interfered with by Mr. Koch, who named his client John Kaufman, of Spooky Hollow, or Hellagone, or Sumschublatz, who don't even size up with Mulholland) Mr. Severn was an easy winner against Hon. John T. Shoener, of Orwigburg, on the second bal-lot after Koch had been notified that Kanif man could not win by the receipt of only 19 votes on the first call. Among the solid del-egations which made Severn the Controller were Shenandoah, his own town by adoption, and Pottsville, his birth place, the latter giv-ing him all its votes but one, Mr. Potts, of the South ward, who never can forget that he was born in Orwigburg.

Mr. Severn enters the contest for Con-troller with a thousand majority from Potts-ville alone. Let me in this connection notice that Mr. Severn fills the bill in all the re-quirements mentioned in former letters from your scribe and those mentioned by his Honor Judge Pershing, who is quoted as rising above supporting Mulholland and his manager, who supported him so faithfully last year in an earnest effort to secure a competent man irrespective of party. A Pottsville paper last Saturday quoted Judge Pershing as follows:

The Judge said he did not know Mulhol-land and when told that he was man of genial nature and plenty of friends, he said: "The controller must be something better than a good-natured man. He must be a man of strong mind and executive ability, a man who will not let his good nature interfere with the re-sponsible duties which he has to perform. Governor Pattison, while controller of this del-egate, saved to that city hundreds of thou-sands of dollars. A man who can take the office in this county and perform the work successfully will be worth $4,000 a year in-stead of $2,000."

The Judge must have had just such a man as Severn in his mind when he uttered the foregoing words and he endorsed in the opinion by thousands of Democrats, including it is believed, Judge Weidman, the head nomi-nee of Mr. Mulholland's ticket.

A SCRAMBLE FOR PLACE. After Emanuel Jenkins, of Porter, and Thomas Samuels, of Mahanoy City, two very reputable citizens, had been nominated for Auditor and Jacob Day, of Palo Alto, had been named for Director of the Poor, Joseph W. Geary, Jr., of Pottsville, was nominated for Surveyor by acclamation and then a regular scramble for place on the Commissioner ticket began. Frank Reutz, of Ashland, got first position on the third ballot and Charles F. Allen, of Tanoga, secured second on the fifth call. Steve Middleton, of Gilberton, was a close second to Reutz for three ballots and was withdrawn on the fourth in the in-terest of Ivor D. Jones, of Minersville, who contested with Allen, who cast his lines with Whitehouse and party from the first, and Allen won against Jones by 89 to 79. Middle-ton's rise to favor Jones having reacted on the latter.

It was a close race and hotly contested, the floor being cleared time and again of can-didates, Democrats and all but delegates. Chair-man Brunum waxed wild and grew hoarse in the effort to maintain order, several times relinquishing the gavel to a vice-president to get relief. It was during this contest that the convention resembled the enemy's camp in one of its most turbulent periods. The outcome was a very good one and the people now have four excellent candidates to select three Commissioners from. The people can't go wrong on this office, no matter what three are selected.

Charles C. Mattern, Borough Solicitor of Pottsville, is another good nomination. His victory over James O'Brien, of Mahanoy City, and Sid Shaw, of Pottsville, was easily ac-complished by the anti-openers of the judicial nomination. Mattern having wisely joined these forces last week.

Dr. Daniel Deichert, of Schuylkill Haven, was named for Treasurer by acclamation, as was A. J. Shortall, of Pottsville, for Court Clerk, and James R. Deegan, of Ashland, for Prothonotary.

The convention closed its work with a grand wind up for Recorder, in which two Shenandoah men were the principals, F. W. Berstein and J. J. Dougherty. Never before has a bout in a political convention been taken a Lithuanian and an Irishman ever taken a lick, and when Dougherty was bested by the accomplished business college manager there were many who marvelled and uttered strange language. Dougherty was only beaten by four votes, but candor compels me to say that had there been more delegates present at the late hour when time was called for this last engagement of the evening, the victory would have been more pronounced. Mr. Berstein is no dummy and if he could have been in full view of the assembly so that it could have been demonstrated that he wore no horns and was not clovenfooted he would have captured a greater following.

And by this I mean no disparagement to his worthy competitor, who claims to have always been a consistent Republican.

POINTS. J. H. Pomeroy, Esq., made his nominating speech of the session in placing Mr. Severn before the convention.

Harry Filbert, a law student in D. C. Henry will be elected, because doubtful things are uncertain; but it can be said that stranger things have happened than the overturning of a majority such as confronts Mr. Seltzer to-day, and it may be that in the long cam-paign before election there will a great change come over the spirit of the dreams of a goodly number of voters who may be made to believe, as is claimed by Mr. Koch and others of Mr. Seltzer's warmest advocates, in this—that a non-partisan judiciary was sought to be de-stroyed when Governor Pattison ignored the claims of the minority in this county by ap-pointing a Democrat to a Republican seat.

MIDNIGHT DEPARTURE

A Young Girl Goes With a Ball Player.

HOW THE FORMER DID IT

SHE feigned illness as an excuse for leaving the house at an unseasonable hour and joined the player in an alley—a hat and dress left behind.

SEVERAL young women gazed admiringly upon Setley, the base ball player, during the game at Lakewood on Tuesday, but none were more wrapped up in his magnetic influence than a girl who hails from Girardville and who has been employed as maid of all work by a family residing on North Main street. The girl is Miss Alice Dillon. She is about 18 years of age and said to be rather prepossessing. It is said Setley was frequently in her company when he was located here.

The ball player and the girl were seen on the streets of town at a late hour Tuesday night. At daybreak both were missing from their usual haunts. Setley's departure was not unexpected, as he told his friends he would leave for Bloomsburg on the 2:08 a. m. train. The disappearance of the girl caused a sensation because the circumstances strongly indicate an elopement.

According to the lady with whom Alice lived, the girl came in the house at a late hour last night and all retired. The neighbors say that just before entering the house the girl was in the yard. The neighbors say that just before this a young man appeared in the alley and gave a whistling signal. They claim to have been watching the whole affair and say that the girl, with a bundle in her hands (presumably her clothing) hurriedly joined the figure in the alley and both disappeared.

Yesterday morning neighbors found a dress and a hat in the yard through which Alice passed, and which evidently dropped from the bundle in the hurried flight. Alice's mis-tress feels very sorry that the girl should have left her so abruptly.

TWO SHARPEERS CAUGHT.

Brought Back Here for Jumping a Hotel Bill.

At noon to-day Detective Amour arrived in town, bringing with him two men he arrested at Sunbury this morning for leaving the proprietor of the Ferguson house out of a board bill. After a hearing before Justice Williams they were committed in default of three hundred dollars bail each.

The men are short, dark complexioned and dress moderately. They became guests at the Ferguson house and stated that they had come to this town to rehearse a theatrical company before opening the fall season at Pottsville. Some of our townsmen recognized one of them as a member of the "O'Flynn in Mexico" company when it was here and the recognition gave the pair a little prestige. After a stay of several days they disappeared, each leaving an unpaid account of $10.95 at the hotel. They were traced to Sunbury and Detective Amour went after them yesterday afternoon.

It has been learned that the pair beat Louis Blaw at Girardville, Mahanoy house at Ashland, Central and Clement hotels at Sunbury, and a hotel at Northumberland. In some places they registered simply as "advance agents" at others as advance agents for the "O'Flynn in Mexico" company; and at some as representatives of the "Rausch King" com-pany. When before Justice Williams to-day they said they were penniless.

THE ST. CLAIR MURDER.

Details of the Horrible Case Briefly Reported Yesterday.

Additional details of the murder committed at St. Clair yesterday show that the victim was George Ochs, aged 30, a miner employed at the Pine Forest colliery, and the murderer was Fiero Manfred, an Italian.

The crime was committed between one and two o'clock yesterday morning. Ochs and Manfred had been together at the former's until midnight, when Manfred was told it was time to go home. The Italian then left the house, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Ochs "good night." The Ochs then retired, the wife going to her bed and the husband lying on the floor.

Shortly after 1 a. m. Mrs. Ochs was awak-ened by hearing a noise in a room adjoining her bedroom and she called for her husband. As the latter sprang to his feet the light which had been left burning was blown out by the intruder, but before this was done Mrs. Ochs had recognized Manfred. Then there was a short struggle between Ochs and the Italian, followed by the muffled report of a pistol shot. The victim held on to the murderer until the second floor was reached and there fell, weak from loss of blood. He died a few minutes after. The Italian escaped by jumping from a second story window and his hat was found in the house.

The authorities were notified and three officers sought Manfred at East Mines, where he was known to occupy a log cabin with a notorious woman named Rosa Cummings. The Italian was found in bed there. He was too nervous to dress himself and the officers were obliged to put his clothing on him. A revolver was found on a trunk in his bedroom with one chamber empty. On the way to the Pottsville jail Manfred cried repeatedly and said, "What a pity, he was a good butty."

The fatal wound was made by the ball enter-ing above the collar bone on the left side and taking a downward course into the lung. Manfred's real name is Fiero Manfredro. He is 30 years of age and is a native of Calabria, Italy.

USE DANA'S SARSAPARILLA, ITS "THE KIND THAT CURES"

BASE BALL.

The Bogus Champion's False Attempts at Justification.

The Shenandoah people will not stand dirty ball playing and the player who indulges in it may as well pack up his grip and go west. The Pottsville people say their club will play the Shenandoah team at the Orwigburg Fair on September 8th, provided the Lakewood $75 guarantee is paid over. No indeed—Pottsville is not entitled to the guarantee, which was offered for a game of ball, not for a riot. Three thousand people were disap-pointed solely through the dirty work of Pottsville players, who were given ample opportunity to earn the guarantee, but pre-ferred to breaking the game up with a wrangle rather than suffer a Waterloo.

The plan of the Pottsville players to break the Lakewood game up with a wrangle in case defeat should threaten them was concocted while they were at dinner in the Mahanoy house at Mahanoy City, after the game with the club of that place. A reputable gentleman of Shenandoah was near the players at the time and heard the whole conversation.

Pottsville may yell about a technical deci-sion of 9 to 0 in their favor, but the people who were on the grounds know that it was Shenandoah who got the decision and the record of the game showed an actual score of 6 to 0 in favor of the coal cutters.

Mr. P. J. Ferguson says he is so confident that Shenandoah can defeat the Pottsville club he will give $10 towards a $100 purse to be played for here.

The Pottsville club played dirty work on the Pottstown and the latter were obliged to stand it because they were among strangers and an appeal for fair play would have been useless; but when Pottsville tried dirty work on Shenandoah it overreached itself.

Whether or not the Pottsville and Shenandoah clubs ever meet again the event of last Tuesday demonstrated that the latter's claim to the championship in preference to the other club was a good one.

Pottsville papers are harping on decent ball playing. Why, bless their hearts, honest and fair playing always means decent for the Pottsvilles and that is the reason they don't deal in it.

TO POTTSVILLE. For months you made a bogus claim and said you were the "champs;" but by your showing on Tuesday last you gave us all the cramps. Your pretensions are highly polished. And you play with pretty fair skill. But when you tackle the coal diggers you find that you're not "in it."

A common cold should not be neglected. Down's Elixir will cure it.

THE BRIDGE BROKE.

Fatal Plunge of Two Railway Passenger Cars.

SEVEN PEOPLE KILLED.

Five Escaped With Injuries Which Will Not Prove Serious—Fortunately There Were but Few Passengers on the Train Dropped Sixty Feet.

DANVILLE, Va., August 17. AN AWFUL accident occurred at the county line trestle, just east of Milton, by which two passenger coaches and a sleeper were precipitated into the creek, sixty feet below, killing several people outright and wounding a number of others. While going over the trestle the engineer, Peyton Tunstall, who says he was running at the rate of ten miles an hour, felt the bridge giving away. He threw open the throttle, and the en-gine, tender and a box car got safely over, but the passenger car was too late, and the span went down under its weight, the second passenger car and sleeper following.

The cars were shivered into kindling wood, and the escape of any of the pas-sengers was a miracle. The water in the creek had then to the depth of twelve or more feet, and it is the general belief that the rise had undermined the foundation of the iron piers, causing the trestle to settle.

On the train at the time were about sixteen persons, including the train hands, but only one of the latter—Conductor H. Morris, of Portsmouth—was killed, none of the others receiving serious injuries.

In the sleeper were Mrs. Harvey Giersch, two children and nurse of Salem, N. C.; Conductor J. L. Sizer, of Richmond, and J. R. Townes, colored porter. The nurse was drowned and the conductor and por-ter slightly injured. Mrs. Giersch was on her way to Lawrenceville to visit friends. The depot agent at Milton heard the crash and immediately gave the alarm by tolling the bell. The people turned out in full force and went to work at once to rescue the dead and injured from the debris.

The little 13-year-old daughter of Mrs. Giersch, not realizing the danger through which she had passed, said to the rescuers: "Don't mind me, I am not hurt, but please take mamma out."

The following is the list of the killed and wounded:

Killed—H. Morris, conductor, Portsmouth, Va.; W. R. Elison, Alton, Va.; J. G. Davies, a farmer, of Baskerville, Va.; W. H. Elam, Durban, N. C.; James S. Lowe, a railroad conductor from the west, who was a passenger; Thomas Lee, colored, Winston; Francis Jenkins, colored, Salem, N. C.

Wounded—Mrs. Harvey Giersch, N. C., slightly; J. L. Sizer, Richmond, Pa., slight internal injuries; J. R. Townes, colored porter on Pullman, N. C., about the body; D. E. Great, colored, about head and face and foot; J. R. Townes, colored porter, about the head. The injuries of none of the latter were likely prove serious. The loss was heavy to the railroad company, and a full span of the bridge is lost.

New Jersey's E. O. S. of BELVIDERE, N. J., Aug. 17.—A hundred delegates, representing the camps of the Patriotic Order of the Sons of America, held their state camp videre yesterday. "We further believe," says "that Mr. Cleveland and his cabinet and the Demo-cratic leaders in the senate and house squarely favor this plan."

Officers of Virginia Farmers' Alliance. RICHMOND, Aug. 17.—The Virginia Farmers' Alliance elected officers for the coming term as follows: President, Dr. L. Winston, of Hanover; vice-pres. G. W. H. Hale, Franklin; state lecturer, William H. Keyser, Page; secretary, treasurer, J. J. Silvey; chairman of executive committee, J. W. Buffin, Hancock. C. H.
