EVIDENCE CONCLUDED.

The Case Against Mrs. Chann Considered Very Weak.

A VERDICT EXPECTED TONIGHT.

The Mystery of the Disembowelment as Deep as Ever-The Theory of the Defense That It Was Done by Insurance Men Not Substantiated.

TRENTON, Aug. 18.—General interest in the Shann case is subsiding. The public feeling here is that the state has not made out much of a case against the prisoner. The mystery of the disembowelment is as deep as ever, and Mrs. Shann's story of it Is disbelieved; yet the state has faled to show that she committed the deed or procurred its commission. Many theories are rife concerning the was diseased when he was passed as sound had his laternal organs removed, hoping thus to destroy proof of his disease, while relying on the certificate to show that he died of gastritis.

The theory of the defense is that the insurance men stele Joha's internal organs in order to throw suspicion on Mrs. Shann and escape the payment of policies. They have proved nothing of the sort, however, and the universal expectation in Trenton is that the jury will acquit Mrs. Shann or William Whortley, a night watchman, Several witnesses were put on the stand and swore they were on Witherspoon street the morning of the mutilation. They saw no lights in the Shann house, and ame across no carriages or pedestrians.

Dr. Bergen went on the stand to contratime to call another physician in for con-sultation with him. Dr. Bergen further contradicted some of the evidence given by the Shanns regarding his prescriptions.
The state offered in evidence the will of Mrs. Shann's late husband to prove her necessity for cash and the motive she had in poisoning her son.

The summing up in the case will probably be finished today, and it is expected that a verdict will be reached tonight.

VICTORIOUS VIGILANT.

She Takes the Lead in the Race for the Astor Cup.

A CLOSE AND EXCITING CONTEST.

In the Opinion of Vachtsmen the Vigilant Is Aircady Destined to Defend the America Cup Against Lord Dunraven's Valkyrie-The Jubiles Come in Second.

of every expert yachtsman that witnessed the race off Brenton B. s. yesterday. It was the first fair mer. If the respective boats, and the Vigilant sailed like a witch and stood up like a nonse. No more superb burst of speed has ever been witand ran for the finish. It was not only a great victory for the Vigilant, but the triumph of ideas for the ordinary center board. The type of boat that has so ably defended the cup thoroughly and effec-tively outsailed fin keels and every other device that could be attached to the bottom of racing craft.

On board all of the big sloops there was no dearth of talent, for each skipper had an advisory board with him. Nat Herreshoff and Hank Hoff sailed the Co ler, 360; Buford, 150. The nomination of O'Ferrall was made unanimous. R. C. or the Pilgrim, General Paine advised Kent, of Wythe, was nominated for lice-with Jack Harr on the Jubilee, and C. Oilver Iselin was by the side of Skipper Hausen on the Vigilant throughout the entire race. Despite all this array of skilled and experienced men, the Vigilant sneaked through their less and blanketed them whenever she felt disposed. The wind blew steady and strong from start to fin-ish, and neither fluke nor calm macred any part of the contest.
At 11:33 the signal gun to start the big sloops becomed across the water. Almost simultaneously with the gun the Jubilee and the Vigilant, both on the starboard tack, bore down for the line and crossed close under the flag-lip, with the Jublica to windward. After them came the Colonia, about a length astern, and then came the Vigilant.

All of the rachts carried libs, staysalls, mainsails and club topsails, breaking out their Isaby jilt topsails as they want over the line. The Jubilee and Pilgrim soon took on their light sails, however, followed by the others a half hour later. The Pil-grim now ran through the lee of the Jubiles and seemed to shoot rapidly ahead, but she was treated to a dose of the same medicine a few minutes later. The Colonia was now about 500 yards astern of the Pilgrim, and the Vigilant the same dis tance from the Colonia, though she was eating right up into the wind.

At 11:50 the Pilgrim, having been blan-keted by the Jubilee, split tacks with the others and stood off to the southwest and passed astern of the Vigilant. This left the three others in line ahead on the starboard tack, with the Jubilee leading, but to leeward of the Colonia, which was in turn to leeward of the Vigilant. Of the three boats the Vigilant seemed to hold a better luff and her sails were set neater. The Vigilant was so far to windward that she had easily the lead of the others. Even thus early it looked as though the Vigilant was a sure winner.

So on to the end of the race the Vigilant at every turn showed her superiority. The Vigilant seemed to hold a better luff and move faster through the water as she neared the turning mark, a red flag upon a buoy, fifteen miles to windward of Brentons Reef lightship. The yachis gybed around in the following order: Vigilant, 2:00:27, Jubilee, 2:12:20; Colonia, 2:13:15; W. L. DOUGLAS In the run home the Vigilant held her ead, and would have probably increait had not the weather been so thick that she mistook another vessel for the lightship and stood too far to the eastward. This necessitated her taking in the spinnaker and balloon jibtopsail, gybing over to the port tack, and losing probably three or four minutes.

The Jubiles and Colonia held each other to the finish, but the Pilgrim, carrying away the jaws of her gaff, gave up the race. The Jubilee, after crossing the finish, also carried away hers. The following is the summary of the
