A REGULAR PICNIC!

The Shenandoahs Annihilate Emory's "Giants."

A MISERABLE SHOWING!

Was Made by the Visitors, Who Could Neither Pitch, Bat or Field and Even With the Empire's Assistance They Failed to Score.

MORE disgusted crowd of people than that which witnessed the game of ball between the home team and Emory's aggregation of colored giants (2) never went inside the gate. The game was one of the most ridiculous exhibitions ever given on the grounds and the people of this vicinity will never have any use for Emory's aggregation again. There was not one of the visitors who exhibited the slightest knowledge of the game and any scrub team can beat them.

The Shenandoah players retired the visitors in one-two-three order in almost every inning and the umpire had great difficulty in finding excuses upon which to retire the Shenandoah men. Even when they would strike out the batsmen would succeed in getting to first base, by the failure of the catcher to hold the ball and the first base man's muffs.

In the first inning eleven Shenandoah men went to the bat, Palmer, Martin and W. Henry getting there twice before the side was retired. Two two-baggers, two singles, two bases on balls, two errors, a hit by pitcher and two stolen bases gave the home team a start of eight runs and when the Lumber City players went to bat two of them went out in rotation by Martin's quick pickups and throws to first and the third went out on a fly to F. Henry at second.

In the second inning Reed succeeded. Bell as pitcher for the visitors and he did pretty well, but could not hold the game in face of four errors, five stolen bases and a passed ball, and the home team made four more runs. Reed struck out Martin and Messitt in this inning and Bradley returned the compliment by striking out Snowden and Henson in the same inning.

In the fourth inning the home management, realizing the picnic on hand, decided to withdraw Bradley and let him reserve his ability for better game. W. Henry was brought in from right field and put in the box. He simply toyed with the colored men. He struck out two in the fourth and two in the fifth, and took compass on the visitors and pitched a series of curves, to shoots, up-shoots, drops, etc., just to show the audience how many styles he had in stock. The darkies tried to slaughter all of them, but in the sixth inning only got two hits. Twice the darkies were badly fooled when they saw a chance to get in a run. In the fourth Baker made a hit and stole to second and Jones took his base by being hit. Baker was in high glee, but when he tried to steal to third Messitt and Henry cut off his joyous spell. Henry then struck out Snowden and Battles.

In the eighth inning after Bell had gone out on a fly to Stewart, Reed got his first base on Martin's bad throw and got to third on a wild pitch. He stayed at third. Emory the great struck out, and Stewart retired Baker at first. Were it not for the wild pitch not one of the visitors would have been credited with reaching third base.

During the last half of the game Empire Whelan purposely gave wrong decisions in favor of the darkies and the home players took them good naturedly, but his best endeavors in that direction could not get any of Emory's men near the home plate.

The game was practically child's play and such an exhibition as one might expect to see in the Pottsville club trying to play with one of the National League teams.

FLIES.
The game at Lykens on Saturday was won by the Shenandoahs, by a score of 5 to 3. Lykens had played seven innings and Shenandoah six when the game was called on account of rain.

Fulmer never had so much fun on the diamond. He had three two-baggers, two singles and a triple.

The two new players, W. Henry, late of Wilkes Barre, and Stewart, late of Bloomington, are good players and have made a good impression.

We don't want any more colored giants from Williamsport in this section.

The home team is an aggregation of players now and should not fear the best teams.

The Mahanoy City club plays here next Wednesday.

On Friday the home team goes to Mahanoy City and on Saturday it will very likely meet the Pottsville on their own grounds.

What a gate the Pottsvilles would draw here!

Bradley has become a great favorite. The home team did not get home from Lykens until 3 a. m., yesterday, yet all the players presented themselves on the diamond in good condition for the next game.

W. Henry and Stewart will remain here. The latter is looked upon as a more reliable and harder working man at short than Heckman.

Pottstown, Pottsville, Lykens and Williamsports have been down in succession by our champions, the first-named team suffering two defeats in succession.

A BURGLARY.

Midnight Marauder Caught With Ample Evidence Against Him.

Edward Walters, of North Bower street, was taken to the Pottsville jail this morning and will be held a prisoner there until he can be taken before the court for trial on a charge of burglary. He pleaded guilty, but had he failed to do so the authorities had ample evidence of his crime.

Some time after 12 o'clock Saturday night Walters succeeded in getting into the cellar under Tabor's butcher shop at the corner of White and Centre streets, and by means of a stairway got into the shop. He robbed the money drawer of $2.95, three silver watches and a number of trinkets, and completed his plundering by shoving a piece of meat weighing about 25 pounds under the big gun coat he wore. Thus loaded he started for his home, but Policeman Flaherty noticed his lumbering gait in passing the Lehigh Valley depot and made an arrest.

Policeman Flaherty escorted the prisoner to the latter's home to wait and see if any accomplices would arrive, and Policeman McGuire stood guard outside of the house. No accomplices putting in an appearance, Walters and the booty were taken to Justice Monaghan's office. Walters pleaded guilty, but said he was drawn into committing the burglary by a Pole named Joe Uss. This story is discarded. There is a Joe Uss in town, but he in no way tallies with the description Walters gives of the man he said got him into the affair.

Walters has figured in justices courts pretty frequently of late. Some weeks ago he had a townman arrested, charging him with adultery, Walter's wife being the correspondent, but the case was settled. A short time after Walters was arrested on a charge of attempting to assault a young girl. This case was also settled. This time he will probably go behind the bars for a while. There may be more developments concerning the burglary by to-morrow.

CHURCH REOPENED.

The Ebenezer Evangelical Congregation at Home Again.

Yesterday the congregation of the Ebenezer Evangelical church, corner of Cherry and West streets, reopened the office which had been closed for three months on account of repairs. The event was celebrated by services in the morning, afternoon and evening and sermons were preached by Rev. G. W. Gosw, presiding elder of the Pottsville district; Rev. G. B. Fisher, of Bernsville; Rev. H. G. Guck, of Hazleton; and Rev. R. M. Lichtenwalter.

Neurology.

Lorenz Schmidt, the Mt. Carbon brewer, died last night. He was afflicted with catarrh of the stomach and had been confined to his bed for three weeks. Mr. Schmidt was born at Bavaria, Germany, August 1, 1845, and fought in the Franco-Prussian war. When that war ceased he came to this country and secured employment in Lauer's Reading brewery. In 1878 he moved to Pottsville and took possession of the Orchard brewery, and in 1880 he built the brewery at Mt. Carbon which he controlled at the time of his death. A wife and four sons survive him.

Francis A. Mortimer, Esq., died at his home at Edgewood Farm, near Cresmona, yesterday afternoon, in his 42d year. He was admitted to the Schuylkill county bar in 1877, but the labors of the profession broke down his health and he was obliged to retire. He had been a confirmed invalid for the past two years. Mr. Mortimer was unmarried and resided with his parents. In accordance with his wishes the body will be cremated at the Germantown furnace.

Mrs. Hannah Manzer, wife of James G. Manzer, proprietor of the Mahanoy house at Ashland, died on Saturday. Mrs. Manzer was born in Elbert township and was 42 years of age. Death was due to a complication of diseases resulting from a protracted affection from which she had suffered for years.

OBE'S OBSERVATIONS.

What He Sees and Hears During His Travels.

The rain storm was a welcome visitor and it did good work on the streets and gutters, but the reservoirs could have stood a much heavier and longer fall. The colliers are suffering the worst. It is said some of the boiler houses where purified water is used smell like garbage storage houses.

People at the Cambridge colliery complain that one night last week the contents of an outhouse were dumped near the breaker and the stench in that vicinity has been almost unbearable since. They intend to lay the matter before the Board of Health.

When the organ grinders give up it is an indication that times are hard. One of them left town Saturday avowing that he would put the organ away and seek a job with one of the reservoir gangs.

East Centre street was clear of beer kegs yesterday with the exception of one place near the bridge, and Chief Burgess Burns lost no time in having the ordinance complied with there.

The clam bake which was to have been held at Davis' Run yesterday under the management of J. K. P. Schelly was indefinitely postponed on account of the storm on the previous night and the cool morning following. When it takes place those who attend will have a good time.

There is a wrong impression prevailing among many of the school children and their parents regarding the rules of the local School Board under the free text book bill. They are laboring under the impression that there is to be a general distribution of new books, but such is not the case. Children who have books in fair condition will be required to use them and an inventory which has been taken shows to a pretty close figure how many children have books that can be used.

One of our contemporaries has spread a report that supervisor D. P. Llewellyn contemplates matrimony. This the supervisor indignantly denies.

When the Board of Health meets to-morrow night it expects to adopt rules and regulations which will give the public a better idea of the board's duties and powers and what violations of its order will mean to the transgressors. On Drowned in a Branch.

Robert Salzigler, a boy residing at Frackville was drowned in a mile branch near Mahanoy on Saturday afternoon. The boy could not swim and upon going into deep water he went down before he could be given assistance. There were several boys about the branch at the time and two of them narrowly escaped a similar fate in attempting a rescue.

A LITTLE BRIGHTER!

Bankers of the Region Hold a Meeting.

MEET PRESIDENT HARRIS

It is Believed a Plan for Relief From the Stringency has Been Arranged—The Railway Employees Were Paid Here To-day.

THE prospects for the employes of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company brightened somewhat to-day. On Saturday afternoon a meeting of the bankers of the anthracite coal region was held at Pottsville for the purpose of arranging to cash P. & R. checks given to employes for wages during the present stringency.

The meeting was held upon the instance of President Harris and it brought about the following aggregation: William S. Hoaton, of the Citizens' National Bank of Ashland; John Mullen, of the First National Bank of Shamokin; E. B. Hunter, cashier of the Merchants' National Bank of Shenandoah; E. J. Reinhold, of the Citizens' National Bank of Mahanoy City; Major Wallace Guss, of the First National Bank of Tamapa; Captain Emil C. Wagner, of the First National of Girardville; John C. Lee, of the Pennsylvania National Bank of Pottsville, and M. K. Watkins, of the First National Bank of Mt. Carmel. President Joseph S. Harris, of the Philadelphia & Reading company, and Paymaster J. H. Jones, were also in attendance.

The object of the meeting was to discuss a proposition of the company to pay its employes in checks and have the banks represented agree to cash them.

What transpired at the meeting was kept secret and when spoken to on the subject several of the gentlemen said they had nothing to say and some said nothing definite had been arranged.

The secrecy led to a report that nothing had been accomplished at the meeting because the banks had refused to promise acknowledgements of the checks.

At noon to-day, however, the pay car arrived here and all the railway employes received checks for their July pay at the Lehigh Valley depot. The checks were drawn on the Clearing House and were readily cashed by the banks of town.

This afternoon there was a prevailing belief that the mine employes in this district will receive their pay for the last two weeks in July by next Thursday or Friday.

ASSAULTED AND ROBBED.

A Workman at Raven Run Loses His Savings.

Two stalwart and vicious looking Hungarians were prisoners before Justice Monaghan this afternoon charged with assault and battery and robbery. They gave the names of Mike Gintsky and Joe Jannick. They and the prosecutor, George Motuzanko, are employed as workmen by Quinn & Koras at the new Girard reservoir at Raven Run. Saturday night the trio got drunk and after starting a fight Gintsky and Jannick knocked the other down and took $28 from his pocket. Notwithstanding the act was committed before a crowd of other workmen and the evidence against them was conclusive, the accused protested their innocence when arrested to-day. None of the money was recovered. The prisoners were committed to the county hotel in default of $3000 bail each.
