GILBERTON'S HORROR

First Day After the Terrible Carnage.

NO ADDITIONAL DEATHS

False Reports About Amour's Condition Get Abated—The Officer Still Lives, but is in a Critical Condition—John Briggs Gives His Version.

EATH has only claimed two of the victims of the terrible midnight carnage at Gilberton on Monday, the street and newspaper reports to the contrary, notwithstanding. The dead are William Holland and James Parritt, as reported in yesterday's HERALD.

Richard Amour is not dead. Yesterday Drs. Hamilton and Stein, of town, and Dr. J. C. Biddle, of the Miners' hospital, made a determined effort to find the bullet that entered the officer's chest, but after considerable probing concluded that the victim was too weak to allow any more work. It is understood that efforts to locate the ball by probing are to be abandoned and the patient is to be allowed rest. Should blood poisoning or like serious results become apparent the doctors may try to get the bullet by performing an operation.

Amour is in a very critical condition and while the doctors do not give any alarming reports there seems to be an under current which do not afford the friends of the officer much encouragement. Yesterday all visitors to the house, with the exception of the doctors and nurses, were denied admission to the sick chamber and the same rule was enforced to-day. The doctors say the injured man must have absolute rest and must not be tempted to exert himself in any way for several days.

William Connor and Evan Davis, two of the wounded, are now at the Miners' hospital. Both these men will recover.

John Briggs, the man who fired the first shot and who was wounded in the head and leg, is at the Pottsville jail with Arthur Weavil, who is charged with being another of the posse who fired shots.

Sheriff Wolf, Deputy Ochs, District Attorney Ryan, Deputy E. W. Bechtel, George J. Wadlinger, Esq., and Stenographer Moore, all of Pottsville, spent most of yesterday at Gilberton gleaning facts concerning the riot.

Yesterday afternoon Coroner Marshall, of Ashland, and his deputy, Dr. Enterline, selected the following jury at Gilberton: J. J. Williams, merchant; Thomas Rafferty, miner; Thomas Carlin, miner; William Parvis, merchant; Thomas Holden, merchant; John Powers, hotel keeper.

Squire Haggerty, of Gilberton, yesterday issued warrants upon the application of Councilman Stone for the arrest of Briggs, Weavil and Amour, as active participants, and against Superintendent Jones and McHenry Wilhelm, Esq., counsel for the company.

McHenry Wilhelm, Esq., spent a few minutes in town this morning while waiting for the departure of the train to take him to Pottsville. He said the object of his visit to the county seat was to prepare papers for the arrest of all the Gilberton people who took part in the riot.

To-day's Miners' Journal publishes an interview which a reporter of that paper claims to have had with Briggs after the latter's arrival at the county jail.

Brigs is reported as having said: "I was asked to go to Gilberton to defend the company's property and was taken there in the 'Dinky,' a car used in transporting repairsmen and supplies to points along the line. There were about a dozen men in the car and Robert Benny was the motorman. Dick Amour acted as captain and came into the car with six Winchester rifles just as we left Girardville. He loaded the guns shortly after we left Girardville and handed them around after he was through.

"Our car stopped at the point where the tracks had been torn up at Gilberton and we did not go out right away. We soon found that the car was surrounded by a hooting crowd, and Dick went out on the platform to quiet the mob. I remained inside chatting to the others of our party until I heard the crowd booing and haling about the Girardville soldiers. Then I went out on the platform and said to them: I belong to the Gir-ardville militia and what have you got to say about them. No sooner had I uttered the words than a man jumped up to the platform and tried to wrest the gun from me. I attempted to club the weapon but found that I was unable.

"I had no other weapon and in the scuffle the gun was discharged towards the ground. I fled at this juncture and ran down the tracks in the direction of the planes. There was only one man in the car then and he was hiding behind a seat. I did not see Amour or anybody else. I did not recognize the man who took the gun from me and I would not know him now. One man pushed a revolver in my face and fired, the ball grazing my scalp on the top of the head. The wound bled and the flash of the powder burnt my face as you can see. I thought that I had been hit by a stone in the leg and limped as I ran, but I soon discovered the blood trickling over my shoes. Blood stains appeared on my trousers, and I found that I had been shot on the side of the leg, several inches above the knee.

"Dr. Forrester probed for the ball, but could not find it. It is still in and gives me a great deal of pain. The company's lawyer, McHenry Wilhelm, will probably call to see me tomorrow and make an effort to get me out on bail. Scared, you can bet I was. I did not fire a shot into the crowd. The only time my gun went off was in the scuffle I had with the man who took it from me, when it accidentally discharged."

TO CHANGE TO-MORROW.

The Reading Employees to go Back to Old Quarters.

A force of men yesterday commenced to give the old Philadelphia and Reading passenger depot at Union street a general cleaning up and continued the work to-day. Under the recent reannouncement of the Philadelphia and Reading lease by the Lehigh Valley Railroad company it becomes necessary for the former to withdraw its business quarters from the Lehigh depot and go back to the place that is now being cleaned and repaired.

After passenger train No. 9, of the Philadelphia & Reading road, comes into town at 10:27 to-night it will be transferred to the P. & R. Railroad tracks and train No. 14 will make the first start from the old P. & R. depot at 2:10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

All trains will leave two minutes later than they have been leaving the Lehigh depot.

Mr. T. J. Davies, late station agent under the combined system, will to-night assume his old position as agent of both the P. & R. passenger and freight stations. Mr. T. J. Farrell, who has been ticket agent at the Lehigh depot, will go back to his old position as ticket agent at the P. & R. passenger depot.

BEGINNING THE WORK.

Another Meeting of the Board of Health.

HEALTH OFFICER REPORT.

His Statement to the Board Last Night Shows That an Active Campaign Against Filth Has Been Opened in the Town and the Sanitary Laws Strictly Enforced.

HEALTH OFFICER Edward Miles and Secretary Thomas M. Scanlan attended a meeting of the Board of Health in the Council Chamber last night and took the oath of office, which was administered by President Spalding. All the members of the board were present, and Borough Solicitor Pomeroy was also there.

The Health Officer said that he intended upon the performance of his duty on the morning following his election and since that time he had visited many places, in fact he had traveled all over the town. The result of his visits was that he found only one clean alley in the town, and that one is Juneberry alley, which runs between Oak and Cherry streets, west from West street. He went in a number of yards to see their condition. Some people objected and some did not. Some of the people did not think the officer had a right to enter the yards.

Officer Miles also reported that he had visited the two places on Market alley complained of so much at the recent meetings of the Borough Council, and the parties responsible for the nuisances had taken steps to abate them.

After hearing the report of the officer the board endorsed his action and told him to continue the good work. In connection with the opposition the officer referred to as having met with when entering yards, the board told the officer that it was his duty to visit from time to time streets, lanes, alleys, manufactories, slaughter-houses, pig-pens, cellars, oyster saloons or restaurants, and green groceries, and shall also, upon complaint being made, visit private yards and residences with a view of ascertaining whether any nuisance or source of filth or disease exists thereon. And Mr. Miles was also informed that every person who shall wilfully and knowingly obstruct or resist the Board of Health, or any of the members thereof, or the health officer, or the subordinate, assistants, and workmen of the officer will be liable to a fine not exceeding $1,000 and imprisonment not exceeding one year, both or either, at the discretion of the court.

After imparting this information and authorizing the officer to purchase a badge of office, the board proceeded to take up other business.

President Spalding appointed the following committees: On rules—Miles, Malone and Broughall. On epidemics—McHale, Broughall and Spalding. On nuisances—Miles, Malone and Broughall. On printing—Miles, Malone and McHale.

The board decided to meet the Borough Council as a committee of the whole at the next council meeting to ask for an appropriation and make other arrangements for the co-operation of the councilmen with the board. It was also decided that beginning with the 8th inst. the board will meet every Friday evening.

Secretary Scanlan was instructed to notify all physicians, undertakers and chorymen in the town that hereafter they must regularly report to the Board of Health all births, deaths, marriages and the existence of any contagious diseases and such reports must be filed within the time prescribed by law.
