OBE'S OBSERVATIONS.

What He Sees and Hears During His Travels.

The continued rain last night and this morning gave the town a refreshing appearance. The paved streets showed up in great style after the storm. There was a big fall of rain, but the water company officials say it was only a comparative drop in the bucket as the dry season has made several good falls necessary.

A summary of all the street talk in town on the Gilberton riots leads to the one opinion that both the Borough Council of Gilberton and the Shenylkill Traction Company acted very unwisely in the matter. The borough was at fault in taking violent steps and tearing up the company's tracks. The courts could have given the exact results sought by means of an injunction if the claims of the council are just. The railway company made a mistake in allowing an armed force to go to the scene to relay the track. The past few years have demonstrated that the exhibition of Winchester on public streets in connection with disagreements between corporations and the people tend more to aggravate than allay disturbances.

Another illustration of what people lose by not buying and reading the local papers was given at the Lehigh Valley depot to day. Two gentlemen who are credited with having considerable business ability went to the depot to take a P. & R. train for the Lavelle Fair, and it was not until they had wasted half an hour waiting for the train that they found out the P. & R. trains were running to and from the old depot. The discovery was made too late for them to catch the train at the other station and consequently they did not go to the Fair. They walked up town in disgust. Had they purchased and read a copy of the HERALD last night they would have seen an announcement of the railway changes that took place this morning.

I have been asked to call attention to the fact that the ordinance which prohibits the roaming of horses through the streets without an attendant is not enforced. Drivers are in the habit of allowing their horses to walk through the streets to and from the stables, while they walk on the pavements. This almost resulted in two accidents last week.

Getting the man who recently walked from Pottsville to Chicago, is back in Pottsville and says he intends to repeat the journey and make money by selling his photographs along the route. It is more than likely that before Getting has traveled many miles he will find that the novelty of the undertaking wore off with the first trip and to dispose of his photographs he will have to throw in a little wood chopping as a premium.

COLLISION ON THE READING.

Fortunately Nobody Was Injured and Little Damage Was Done.

A passenger train on the old line of the Philadelphia & Reading railroad ran into the rear end of a coal train near the trestle at the south end of Main street this morning, but there were no serious consequences. Nobody was hurt and the passenger engine only lost its pilot and the pulling bar, which is used to connect the front of the engine with the train when it is impossible to turn the former at the end of the road.

The train was due here shortly after 8 a. m. and was slowly rounding the curve which is spanned by the trestle when it struck the rear car of the coal train, which was stuck on the curve. The rear brakeman of the latter train had neglected to run back with his flag. No cars left the track. The passenger cars were taken back to Mahanoy by means of the Lavelle special and the engine followed to receive a new pulling bar.

Self-Prize.

Self-prize is no recommendation, but there are times when one must permit a person to tell the truth about himself. When what he says is supported by the testimony of others no reasonable man will doubt his word. Now, to say that Alcock's Porous Plasters are the only genuine and reliable porous plasters made is not self-prize in the slightest degree. They have stood the test for over thirty years, and in proof of their merits it is only necessary to call attention to the cures they have effected and to the voluntary testimonials of those who have used them.

Beware of imitations, and do not be deceived by misrepresentation. Ask for Alcock's, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

Grand Display of
FINE DRESS GOODS

DRESS GOODS is such a bewildering topic that we will not attempt a full description, but give a partial outline, which you can fill in by a personal inspection. There are the plain and changeable diagonals; plain, plaid, striped and invisible plaid serges; fancy mixtures in all sorts of odd weaves, dots, threads, cross-threads, hair-lines, lines here and there, many at a glance appearing alike, but upon examination are found entirely different. Our assortment of silks is complete—china silks, china surah, plain surah, bengaline, plain, figured and changeable silks, in all the new shot effects. Full line of fancy braids to match any color of dress goods.

....In Wraps We find the most stylish and the prevailing mode to be the Cape, in some of its variations. Some are plain, others very highly decorated, with fancy indolent braid, butterfly colors, or some full arrangement at the neck, so much approved this season by the feminine fancy. To some, coats only are the correct garment. To those we would say coats are equally fashionable and stylish, many of these having capes also attached—sometimes one, two or three, as the taste or inclination of the wearer may desire.

We have this season, for the first time, added a Millinery Department, and have spared neither trouble nor expense to make it a success. The result exceeds our most sanguine expectations. This department will be under the same management and conducted on the same principles that have always characterized our entire business. We shall keep everything in trimmed and untrimmed hats, novelties of every description. Having secured a trimmer noted for her artistic and skillful work, we are enabled to suit all tastes. We invite a careful inspection of our entire store. All welcome.
