THE DEAD STATESMAN,

His Notable Ancestry and Eventful Pub-

Few of the younger generation will remember that Hamilton Fish, who has just gone to his final reward, was for many rears a particularly prominent political figure. He was Grant's intimate friend and his choice for the presidency in 1876.

Hamilton Fish was born in New York city Aug. 3, 1808. He was the son of Nicholas Fish, a revolutionary patiot, whe was an intimate friend of Aaron Burruntil the latter killed Alexander Hamilton in their historic duel. ton in their historic duel.

ton in their historic duel.

As a boy he was very bright, and gradu ated from Columbia college before he was 19 years of age. In this Mr. Fish was the Whig candidate for the state assembly, but was defeated. In 1842 he was the successful congressional candidate of the Whigs the Sixth district of New York city. He rved but one term. He was a candidate or lieutenant governor in 1846, but was efeated, owing to the active efforts made gainst him by the anti-renters, whose inciples he had vigorously assailed. The ad of the Whig ticket was elected, how-

When Mr. Fish's successful Democratic ompetitor, Addison Gardiner, resigned his office during the following year to accept a seat on the court of appeals bench.

Mr. Fish was chosen to succeed him, and in 1848 he was further honored by being elected governor by a majority of more than 30,000 over John A. Dix and Reuben H. Walworth. At the expiration of his gubernatorial term Mr. Fish was elected to the United States senate to succeed Daniel S. Dickinson. In the senate he acted with the Republican party and opposed the Missouri compromise.

In 1857, when his senatorial term had. In 1857, when his senatorial term had ended, Mr. Fish made a tour of Europe with his family, remaining abroad until 1866. He returned in thus to take a prominent part in the presidential campaign which resulted in the nomination and election of Abraham Lincoln. In 1882 Mr. Pish and Bishop Ames were appointed by Secretary of War Stanton a commission to visit United States soldiers, relieve their sufferings and proving for their necesdite. While they this not succeed in their immediate purpose, they arranged for an equal exchange of prisoners, which prac-ically prevailed in the details agreed upon y them up to the close of the war. Mr. Fish was an entinesiastic admirer of Seneral Grant, whose nomination for the presidency he advocated warmly in 1868. After Grant's election he was appointed secretary of state and held the office until the expiration of Grant's second term in 1877. An effort was made to nominate Mr. Flah for the presidency in 1876, Presi-dent Grant being an earnest supporter of the movement. the movement.

It is upon his work as secretary of state that Mr. Figh's regulation principally rests. He was one of the United States commissioners to negotiate the treaty of Washington, which was signed May 8, 1871. Mr. Fish brought about a settlement of the northwestern boundary dispute, by which this government was given the island of Sec. Juan. He also figured.

the island of San Junu. He also figured prominently in the settlement of the Alabama and Virginius questions.

For many years he was president of the New York Historical society, and was president general of the Somety of the Cincipositi continuously from 1854 up to Cincinnate continuously from 1854 up to the time of bis death, his only predicessors in this highly honoraids effice having been George Washington, Alexander Hamilton, Charles Coresworth Phickney, Thomas Pinckney, Aaron Ogden, Morgan Lewis, William Popham and A. The most horrible sight was the mass of human remains that was dashed against the tender of the Panlandle locomotive It had once been a man. Some said he was a tramp, and that he lad been stealing a ride on the blind baggage platform. When the collision came this unknown man was crushed between the baggage car and the heavy tender. One man, whose name has not yet been learned, was thrown partially loned the remainder of the body within the wrecked car. All effects to disengage the body were unavailing, and the livid features of the dead man stared the resquers in the face.

There will certainly be an investigation to fix the blame for the terrible loss of life. At present there is a dispute between the operator at Colchour and the general office of the road in the city as to what the train orders were, each trying to fasten the blame upon the other. The operator at Colehour is A. R. Kennedy. Railroad men at the scene of the wreck said Ken-nedy's orders were to hold train No. 12, the wrecked Louisville train, until No. 49, the milk train, had passed. A brakeman on the Pauhandle train said the train left the city on time and stopped at Colchour for orders, and none being received, it started again without instructions.

THE BURLINGHAM MURDERS.

Paul Hailiday's Body Found-The Mur deress Attempts suicide. Minoterows, N. Y., Sept. 8.—The body of Paul Halliday, the husband of the DR. E. D. LONGACRE, woman now under arrest, was dug up yesterday it was under the Halliday house, and was found lying on its back. Constable Scott reports that Mrs. Halliday tore her garter loose and twisted it around her neck and pulled on both ends with all her might. He removed it her as soon as he discovered what she was attempting to do, but her face was badly flushed and she was panting for breath. A band of gypsies has arrived at Bur-lingham, and it is believed they will make an effort to secure the release of the murderess, who is said to have belonged to the tribe a few years ago.

About two years ago a boy named George Kline, who lives in a house next to the Halliday's, disappeared. It was supposed at the time that he had stolen a horse and wagon which had been missed, and had gone off with it. It is now thought that he had in some way incurred the displeas-ure of Mrs. Halliday, who put him out of the way. In fact, it is generally believed that more bodies may be found about the locality of the Hamday house. There i great fear that a mob will form and lynch Mrs. Halliday.
