SHENANDOAH
At 11 o'clock this morning William J. Stineck and Miss Louise R. Millchapp were married at the residence of the bride's parents, George and Eliza Millchapp, 207 South Main street. Miss Nellie Baird was the bridesmaid and Alfred Millchapp the groomsmen. Rev. Daniel Savage, of Shenandoah, officiated at the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stineck left on the 11:45 Pennsylvania train to visit Philadelphia and other points before taking possession of the comfortable home the groom has prepared.

Increase in the I. O. O. F.
The growth of the order of Odd Fellows in this country has been phenomenal. In 1830 there were 1,000 members; in 1840, 111,698; 1850, 130,312; 1860, 149,250; 1870, 297,637; 1880, 440,738; 1890, 649,703, and at this time the membership is more than 800,000. There has been expended by them in all these years $30,000,000 for relief. Pennsylvania has 1,865 lodges of the order, with a membership of 199,113.

Political Points.
Little money will be spent in politics this year.
Fireworks and red fire will be scarce. Money, too, scarce.
Hard times and Democracy travel hand-in-hand.
The political striker is keeping steady just now. He will be on hand as soon as the frost comes.
Raffle and ball tickets are finding their way to the candidates for office quite freely.

Points.
Autumnal blasts will be blowing before many weeks.
The housewife is busy canning and preserving fruit.
Blankets were brought into use for a few nights recently.
Putting-up stove time is sauntering along this way rapidly.
The quinces are ripening and some are already in market.
Everywhere are seen the indications of approaching autumn.
A good way to test the smoothness of a railway track is to try how neatly you can write while the car is in motion.
"Two little girls in blue" is the latest popular song.
The coal snafu has cleared the town parly of flies and mosquitoes.
Plant your fall advertisements and reap your reward in a big trade.
Corn cutting will be difficult because so much is blown flat on the ground.
"Snitzings" and apple butter bollings are now in full swing in the rural districts.
Even with free silver a man would have to work just as hard as ever to earn a dollar.
The Welsh Congregationalists will hold a convention at Wilkes-Barre on Sunday.
Will Shenandoah have a foot ball team this winter?

Base Ball Notes.
Mt. Carmel is agitating the question of sitting up a park, and organizing a base ball team next season.
Mahanoy City played at Pottsville this afternoon.

The home club has three games booked for the near future. Friday at Mahanoy City, Saturday at Pottsville, and the next game will be played here with one of the State League teams, probably Harrisburg. The club had intended playing at Jeannette tomorrow, but the game could not be arranged.

Di a
McHALE.—At Girardville, Sept. 11, Mrs. Annie McHale, aged 43 years, daughter of Thomas and Mary Haley. Funeral on Thursday, Sept. 14, at 9 o'clock a. m. High Mass at St. Joseph's Catholic church. Interment in St. Joseph's cemetery. 9-13-1f

Commander Adams' Welcome Home.
LYNS, Mass., Sept. 13.—A rousing reception was tendered Commander-in-chief John G. B. Adams, of the Grand Army, upon his return home last evening. After a short reception there were formal exercises in Odd Fellows' hall. These consisted of congratulatory addresses by Mayor Hayes, Rev. J. W. Tivert and Judge John W. Berry. Commander Adams' appearance brought out deafening applause, and he was greatly affected by the warmth of his reception.

Action Defeats the Four-Year-Olds.
CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Arion, the sensational son of Electioneer, made his debut as a 4-year-old at Washington park yesterday, and won The Spirit of the Times stakes worth $11,000. After Trevelian had taken the first heat Arion trotted three heats without being headed, and at no time was he forced to his speed limit, the fastest mile being done in 2:12 1/2.

Declines a gubernatorial Nomination.
PORT DORCH, Va., Sept. 13.—L. R. Coffin, who was nominated for governor by the Prohibition-Republicans Sept. 5, while absent from the state, issues a letter declining to accept the nomination. The Prohibition central committee will probably select Dr. Emory Miller, of Des Moines, to take the place refused by Mr. Coffin.

Evidence of Renewed Confidence.
VICTORIO, Mass., Sept. 13.—The five banks of this city, which some weeks ago adopted the system of certified checks and reduced cash payments to depositors, voted unanimously to remove all restrictions, thus showing their confidence in the present improved condition.

Rains Damage the Cotton Crop.
DUCK HILL, Miss., Sept. 13.—Heavy and continued rains for the past four days have seriously damaged an already short cotton crop. Cotton in this section is fully one-third short of the August estimate.

Voted to Continue the Strike.
LONDON, Sept. 13.—The question of continuing the coal strike in Derbyshire and South Lancashire was put to a vote yesterday. An immense majority of the men voted in favor of continuing the strike.

Charles de Lesseps Released.
PARIS, Sept. 13.—M. Charles de Lesseps, who was sentenced to five years' imprisonment for complicity in the Panama canal scandal, was released from prison yesterday.

OB'S OBSERVATIONS.

What He Sees and Hears During His Travels.

The Delaware and Maryland peach has won the first prize at the World's Fair, where California concedes herself beaten, and names the product of the peninsula as the queen of American fruit. It is estimated that the crop this year, from the Delaware-Maryland peninsula, has been the largest ever grown, and will exceed 6,000,000 baskets.

This great crop is a marvelous result, when it is remembered that a year ago peach growers were lamenting the decay of their orchards, and looking in vain for a cure for peach yellows—the scourge of the peninsula orchards. Because of the failure of last year's crop thousands of trees were cut down and their stumps pulled out as uselessly lumbering the ground. Although the price received has been a small one, the financial result of marketing the crop has made the region of berry patches and orchards prosperous during a financial depression.

Some people never know the value of a good thing until they have a practical illustration. This fact has been brought forcibly to my mind by an occurrence that should teach some people a lesson, especially our business people who are seeking the patronage of the public. Shenandoah is blessed with a sufficient supply of peddlers, who ply their trade from door to door. Nine times out of every ten, where purchases are made from these men, the same article can be bought from the town merchants at a much less cost, and a better article. The great trouble in our business men, with a few exceptions, fail to appreciate the great power of the daily press. The wife of a South Main street merchant bought a new fangled teapot from a peddler. When she explained the great merits of the article to her husband on his arrival at the house, he reproached her, saying that he had the same thing in his store for less money. The rejoinder was to the point and unanswerable: "Why don't you advertise? One never knows what you have in your store."

President Harris, of the Reading company, is credited as being an excelent financier and a thoroughly equipped railroad man. I don't question the truth of these two assertions, but I do question the wisdom of his selection of Pottsville as a place of abode during the summer. My reason for this is that the "admiral" editor of the county seat will have him in his grave er long. One day that sheet comes out in an exclusive interview, with bold headlines, stating that the President of the Reading will resign, the next day he may resign, and the following day he will not resign. Although President Harris would not talk, the reporter of the "admiral" sheet was equal to the emergency, and interviewed its own editor, palming it off on the public as an exclusive interview with the head of the Reading. For the life of me, Mr. Editor, I don't know whether Harris is still President of the Reading Company or not, and don't suppose he knows himself after reading the aforesaid sheet. Will you kindly scan the files of the latter and let a suffering public know "where are we at?" What makes me a little credulous about these interviews is that the editor's affidavit was not attached thereto.

Getting, the beer-keg curiosity, proposes doing the town of this region, in company with the rig which he recently wheeled to the World's Fair. During the present week he is taking in the dimes of the people of Frederickville. I understand he is very anxious to visit this town, at the expense of some restaurant keeper. He charges the landlord so much a day and board for exhibiting himself, claiming that his great attractive powers are sufficient to draw people, as well as their nickels and dimes, to the place of business of the landlord who is so fortunate enough to secure an easy living, and I predict for him much success. ONE.

An Officer's Statement.
The Grand Jury last week ignored the bill that was presented against two young men named Fahey and Dowling, of town, and Policeman Flaherty claims that a correct statement of the circumstances which led to the arrest has not been given. Officer Flaherty stated last night: "Officer Dougherty and myself stood at the corner of Oak and Main streets on the morning of July 5th. It was 2:40 o'clock. We heard a door getting tampered with and had an idea somebody was trying to get into a house. In trying to locate the sound we heard glass break and saw two men on South Main street. Dougherty followed them down and I waited to see which way they would turn. They turned east on Cherry street and I turned east on Oak street. I went out Oak street as far as White and then south and out to the corner of Cherry and Main streets. Dougherty had both men in charge. When Dougherty arrested Dowling he was in the cellar way of the Brennan building, where the laundry is, and Fahey was standing on the corner."

Died.
SHELLY.—At Shenandoah, on the 11th instant, Jacob Shelly, in his 60th year. Funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon, the 14th instant, at 2:00 o'clock, at the residence of his son-in-law, Evan J. Davies, North Main street. Interment in Old Fellows' cemetery. Friends and relatives respectfully invited to attend. 9-13-2f
