MAIZEVILLE.
Were it some of our Polish citizens who were engaged in the fracas on Thursday night, the very ones who were urging it on would be the loudest in denunciation. This is no mere surmise, as it has been proven. Maizeville has entirely too many of these brawks, and the only remedy is prompt arrest and punishment in every case, regardless of whom the participants are. A continuance is likely at any time to end in murder, in which instance all concerned would be sorry when too late. If such should unfortunately be the case, each and every officer in whose hands is entrusted the peace of the community would be morally responsible for their neglect in allowing such a condition as exists at present. They have taken an oath, clear and sacred, and to say the least, it must indeed be an individual conviction that can ignore its requirements. This language may be strong, but it is spoken in the interest of peace and for the benefit of the people, not in haste or anger.

Mr. and Mrs. John O'Brien left for their future home, Allentown, at noon on Tuesday, but this did not prevent the bride's father, Mr. Moran, from having the event of the first marriage among his children properly celebrated. His numerous friends were invited and entertained in a royal manner.

Gilberton Borough, according to the official count, has 812 votes distributed as follows: Middle ward, 155; East ward, 331; West ward, 316.

MAHANAY PLANE.
Michael Mooney, of Allentown, circulated among his many friends here during the week.

John Metzger, a popular and corpulent tenorist, who lately has been manipulating the razor in Chicago, paid a visit to his parents during the week.

Miss Annie Goff returned home Saturday, after a pleasant sojourn among Philadelphia friends.

Miss Mary Brehony, will leave for Philadelphia Monday after an extended visit to her parents.

Conductor John Stevens, left for New York Thursday, where he will remain for a few days. He was accompanied by his son, John, who attends school in that city.

An interesting 3 year old child of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Flannery died on Wednesday of scarlet fever, which is the second death in this town in a short time from the same cause. Three more cases of the fever have been reported during the week. It is to be hoped that all due precautions will be taken to prevent the spread of this dangerous disease.

A broad smile illuminates the formerly sober countenance of John Flynn since the arrival of a little boy, which occurred Friday.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the church of the Holy Rosary on Wednesday, the contracting parties being John O'Brien, of Allentown, and Miss Mary A. Moran, of Maizeville. They were supported by Michael Mooney and Miss Katie E. McKewen, respectively. The church was filled with a large number of personal friends and acquaintances, who came to witness the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. J. F. McGinn. The bride was attired in a steel-colored costume, and wore a bouquet of choice flowers. After the young couple were united for life they repaired to the home of the bride's parents, where a reception was held. In the afternoon they left for Allentown, where a pleasant time was given to the many friends of the groom in that vicinity. We wish them a long and prosperous journey on life's tempestuous sea.

Another marriage took place at the Holy Rosary church Tuesday, when Michael Brennan, of Shamokin, and Johanna Dann, of this place, were united in wedlock by Father McGinn. After the ceremony the bridal party received the congratulations of friends, and then drove to Pottsville. The young couple will go to housekeeping in Shamokin.

Mrs. Thos. Wright, aged 65 years, died at her home Tuesday after a prolonged illness, during which she suffered intense pain from cancer in the mouth and frequent hemorrhages resulting therefrom. Mrs. Wright was well-known in this vicinity as a sympathetic and intelligent mother. Her funeral occurred on Friday and was well attended. High mass was celebrated in St. Mary's church, after which the remains were taken to Frackville where interment was made.

OSE'S OBSERVATIONS.

What! He Sees and Hears During His Travels.
The other evening I enjoyed a profitable chat with one of the leading lawyers of this county. It is always a pleasure for me to converse with a "lib of the law," no matter upon what subject, as it will invariably result in useful information. I know of no other class of men, as a rule, who are better entertainers, and especially the gentleman in question.

The profession of the law, above all others, is one of the members of which should be men of a high standard of morality, and possessed of a nice sense of duty and honor. In the members of no other profession is so much confidence necessarily reposed by the public, owing to the complicated condition of modern law and the consequent necessity for the existence of a body of men specially trained in the science of enforcing rights and redressing wrongs. On account of this intimate fiduciary relationship to the public, it would seem proper that the government should exercise supervision over the legal profession and its members, at least to the extent of seeing that only fit and qualified persons should be admitted to membership.

In England and her colonies the profession of law is a liberal one, admitted to which requires the profession of no ordinary qualifications, while the government and the bar itself keep a vigilant watch upon practitioners. How different is the state of affairs that exists to-day, not only in Schuylkill, but nearly every county in the state. My lawyer friend admitted this, and further expressed himself as follows: "The rules governing admission to the bar in this state are strict enough, if they could be strictly lived up to. But there are many ways of evading them. It is true the applicant for membership is required to be of good moral character, but the certificate of any practicing lawyer is taken as to this, and is never scrutinized to strictly, if at all. And it is only within a comparatively short time that the state required any special qualifications for admission. The result is, even in our own county, that many persons are entitled to sign 'attorney-at-law' after their names, who could not stand the simplest kind of an examination in the elementary principles of law, and who, if morally, were considered, by some strange accident are not residing permanently in the penitentiary. Things are certainly improving under the stricter rules that now govern admission. But these 'black sheep' that have got into the fold, will continue to cast odium upon the entire profession by their wrongful acts."

I claim that the regulations and provisions controlling the legal body should be more strictly enforced. That I am correct in this claim is proven every day by events that are happening around us. Your own columns, as well as those of the other dailies of the country, supply us with many cases of sharp practice, shysterism and puff-blowing on the part of men who have no better qualifications for the profession than your humble servant. Furthermore, where one such case appears in the press, there are ten others that the general public never hears of. The odium of all this falls not upon the members who are guilty, but upon the profession at large.

In nearly every county of the state there are "bar associations," and our own county has such an organization. One of the supposed objects of such associations is to attend to just such cases as my lawyer friend has cited. The members of the bar unite for mutual protection, and if the professed object of the associations were carried out, they would take in hand all cases of the character mentioned, and first sitting them to the bottom, would prosecute to the fullest extent of the law those members who were guilty of a violation of the law. But who ever hears of such action? Who ever hears of a member being disbarred? And how many of the attempts at disbarment have been successful? This is an evil that is growing daily. More than that, the influence of such defaulting members is permeating the profession and slowly but surely contaminating some of the younger members. There are a thousand and one ways in which the bar may be injured by the presence of such men in its ranks that it is not necessary to point out here. This is particularly true under the present system of "office study." Example is oftentimes far more influential than precept.

A strange tenderness seems to possess the hearts of the majority of the public who suffer wrongs at the hands of these miscalled attorneys whom they may employ, for we never hear of any attempts at prosecution. The public are content to go away and to rail at and cast slurs upon the entire bar, never thinking that they owe a duty to themselves and their fellow citizens to prosecute the delinquents. This is all wrong, as well as injustice to the profession, the great majority of whom are conscientious and upright men. Under the present state of affairs the latter have to suffer for the acts of the evil doers.

DR. DAN'S SALESAPARILLA, ITS "THE KIND THAT CURES."
Say it Was a Bear.
The occupants of a house at the east end of Apple alley say that at one o'clock this morning they saw a dark object crawl along the alley between Bowers and Emerick streets. The object had every resemblance of a bear. It groveled about for nearly an hour, but made no noise. Finally it threw itself in a heap near the corner of the alley and Bowers street and remained there for some time. Several dogs gathered and snapped and snarled at it, but the object paid no attention to them. After a rest the supposed bear hurried westward along the alley and disappeared in the darkness. The parties who tell the story are said to be strictly temperate.

FRACKVILLE.

Mrs. H. R. Snyder, of Lehigh Avenue, is visiting her daughters at Reading.
Mrs. Dr. Taggart returned on Saturday after a delightful visit to the World's Fair.
Mrs. Shultz and family, of Hamburg, were the guests of William Kalbach, of Nice street, during the week.
Ambrose Lockett, one of Lebanon's best railroaders, with his family, are enjoying a week's visit in town.
Mr. Taylor, of Donaldson, a graduate of our High school and of Millersville State Normal School, visited his classmate Prof. Miller during the week. Mr. Taylor succeeds Mr. Miller as principal of the Oneida schools.

Miss S. Taggart, of Northumberland, returned home on Monday after a few weeks' visit as the guest of her brother, Dr. D. Taggart.
H. D. Berkeiser, accompanied by his son Willie, will take a much needed rest at the World's Fair during the next two weeks.
Miss Mamie Scott, who had been seriously ill while visiting relatives in Girardville, was strong enough to be moved to her home in town, on Monday. At writing she is rapidly improving.

The many friends of James McManiran heard with regret of his death on Tuesday at Philadelphia. James, prior to going to Philadelphia, was one of the teachers at Frackville Junction. Interment was made on Friday at Fort Carbon.

Harry Hahn, moved his residence on Monday evening and treated his many friends to a genuine old time house-warming which was duly appreciated.

Under the skillful hands of Messrs. Moyer and Haupt our new school building is looming up. As our scholars are overworked, the completion of the new building is anxiously looked forward to, by teachers and pupils. There are over 500 scholars enrolled, or an average of 56.2 in each school.

Miss Amy Haupt, accompanied by Miss Thilie Shesfer, left on Tuesday for Philadelphia, where they have procured employment.

Dame Rumor has it, that one of our most popular teachers will shortly be led to the altar by a gentleman high up in the education circles of the state.

Our neighbor, Frank Grumm, who is one of the most ardent and thorough sportsmen in the county, has a number of Jack rabbits, and German hares, which he has been raising for the purpose of endeavoring to get them to breed on our mountains. Some of the rabbits weigh over ten pounds.

The promised suit between Contractor O'Neil and the School Board is likely to be amicably adjusted. While the Board will not permit the taxpayers to be imposed upon, yet it has no desire to see Contractor O'Neil lose any money that justly belongs to him.

Grandmother Stewart, one of our oldest and most respected residents, left on Monday for Branchdale, where she will make her home with her son James. Grandmother is 90 years old, and will be greatly missed by our good people, by whom she was highly respected.

John Phillips will act as P. & R. agent during the absence of Agent Berkheiser at the Fair.

Disgraceful Conduct.
The success of Pottsville's base ball ventures are threatened by dangers from two sources. Shenandoah sent down nearly three hundred people to witness the game on Saturday and a large number of these people they were subjected to gross indignities by the Pottsville hoodlums. Special complaint is made against the management of the electric railroad line at Pottsville for not providing means for the protection of its patrons. The conduct of the hoodlums on the cars was disgraceful and even extended to personal altercations into which Shenandoah people were drawn while riding from the grounds. Several ladies who were on the car were subjected to gross insults. Setley, the Shenandoah player, and his wife were also subjected to treatment that would not be tolerated in any other community. If gambling sharks are allowed to ply their vocations near the ball grounds it will kill patronage by the lovers of wholesome sport. One thing is certain, Shenandoah will never patronize the game at Pottsville again until they are assured that there will not be a repetition of these evils.

The Gilbert Opera Company.
There are many strong points about the presentation of the "Black Hussar," by the Gilbert Opera Company, that is looked for the near future. The company containing some forty members and carrying their own orchestra, ensures a musical treat of a kind rarely given here. Besides this the costumes are exceedingly fine, and the opera is perfectly mounted. As a special feature Flurette, the famous dancer, has been secured, and the wonderfully clever performance of this little lady will amaze the audience.

Flurette, one of the greatest of fancy dancers, is with the Gilbert Opera Company.

Seventh Penna. Cavalry.
The sixteenth annual reunion of the Seventh Penna. Vet. Vol. Cavalry Association will be held at Pottsville, on Tuesday and Wednesday, October 24th and 25th, 1893. Business meeting at 9 a. m. Tuesday, October 24th. An effort will be made to have a monument erected on the battle field of Chancellorsville, Va. Address all communications to Gen. F. Stebbins, Secretary, Orwigsburg, Schuylkill county. Capt. Heber S. Thompson, President, Pottsville.
