MISS BARTON'S APPEAL. Great Distress Among the Suffering Sea Islanders.

THE NEED FOR FURTHER RELIEF.

No Prospect of the Inhabitants Decoming Sair Supporting Before Next Spring, Their Only Menns of Earning a Living Raving Been Swept Away.

CHARLESTON, S. G., Sept. 10.—At the re-quest of Governois Tillman, the central re-lief committee in charge of the distribu-tion of money and supplies for the suffer-ers on the seablands by the recent cyclone met Miss (Then Barton and her staff of the Dat One. Red Cross association at the Charlestor hotel restorday to discuss and decide upor the best breaks of carrying forward the work of relief. Governor Tillman was present and took part in the conference. After a full dimension of the situation the Bell Cross association was by formal resolution requested to assume charge of the work. Miss Barton makes the following statement: "I think the present condition of the Carolina aca islands hears out all that I have seen in print. I should think that the puople on these islands are enjoying more, comforts now then they will for some months if left to themselves. My reason for this opinion is that through the liber-ality of the people they have some sup-plies in hand today which without replen-tishing will soon be exhausted. In addiplies in hand today which without replen-tating will soon be exhausted. In addi-tion they have a small quantity of food stuff that was saved from the storm, which really seems pitiful to look at. This, too, will soon be consumed. Sufficient time has not clapsed to develop the missimatic conditions that are sure to follow from the vast amount of vegetable matter killed by the salt water, and must decay on the ground

The water supply has become brackish, "In water supply has become brackish, and the destruction of houses has necessi-tated crowding many families into one house. With but little clothing, less food, decaying vegetation, stagmant water, ex-posure to the weather, medical assistance miles away, few medical supplies, what but sickness can be expected, without prompt attoution and limitediato relief? What is there to prevent the recurrence of the malignant makarial fever that history shows has followed the previous storms that have visited these plants? "There will not be work for these people for months. The orops, on which they can get advances through liens, will not be planted antil spring. On the upper islands there is a considerable area of truck farms, and on these the work of pesparation floes not begin until February. The work in the phosphate mines will be paralyzed for months, and there is no regular work to which the laborer can turn, willing as be may be to work for the support of himself and family. The fishing boats of the peo-ple were swept to sea, their poultry in the main drowned and on many islands cows and goats were destroyed. The entire sea coast belt of islands extending south from James Island to Hilton Head Island, with 30,000 population, has been devastated. Crops were runnel, houses swept away, clothing destroyed, sickness is breeding and perhaps half of these poor people will be dependent upon public charity for sup-port, if they are not already so. There is a severe winter season ahead "The men, so far as I have been able to severe winter season ahead. "The men, so far as I have been able to se and hear, are willing to work where here is anything to do, but there is little fauything, and there will be less when he winter comes. If they leave the islands helr families, generally large ones, will be off behind entirely destitute and helpless. "The appeals for help have been gener-ously responded to up to this time, and have doubtless saved many lives. But the work has just begrun. Months and mouths of bread have to be supplied. The Red Cross comes to be scene by the united re-quest of Senator Butler and Governor Till-man. The research work of the science of the the United States has always been equal to meet occasions of this kind, when brought to its knowledge, and it is to give this information that this plain statement of facts is made."
