THE LOUISIANA MURDERS. The murder of three colored men by a mob in the parish of Jefferson, Louisiana, on Saturday, says the New York Press, will take rank among the most cruel and upjustifiable crimes of the day. The colored men had been guilty of no legal offense whatever. They were simply the brothers of a man who had committed murder, and for this relationship they paid the penalty of death. It is probable that, in accord lation affecting apportionment, taxation, discrimination in freights, honest voting with precedent in Louisiana as well as other parts of the South, the murderers of the colored men will go unpunished. Public sentiment in Louisiana appears to sustain the actors in such tragedies, and would make it difficult, if not impossible, to bring them to justice. As the ancient Spartans used to go forth at intervals and slaughter helots in order to keep the serf race in object submission to their masters, so it seems to be the policy in certain parts of the South to kill colored people now and then on one pretext or another, or no pretext at all, in order to teach the survivors that they are at the mercy of the former slave holding class.

We says this in no spirit of hostility to the South. On the contrary we cordially recognize the many excellent qualities of the Southern people, and therefore the more deeply regret that these qualities should be marred by the continual ruthless slaughter of black American citizens, sometimes accused of crime and at other times, as in the present instance, known to be innocent of any crime.

harmony between the races in the South is to be maintained and perpetnated, but by reason, education and, above all, by justice. When the dom-inant race makes a mockery of the laws enacted by Legislatures of its own choosing how can that race expect unted, but by reason, education and, the negroes to respect the laws? WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—For the third me since the repeal bill has been before the senate the senator in charge of it (Mr. Voorbees) made an effort yesterday to have the opposition fix some time when debate might be closed and the vote taken, and for the third time the proposition met with an unfavorable response. As on the first occasion, Mr. Dubois acted as spokes iftst occasion, Mr. Dubois sated as spokes-man for the supesition, but he was see onded and sustained by Mr. Teller, who stated that he knew of fifteen senators whos still desired to address the senate, of whom thirteen had not yet opened their mouths on the subject, and he added that until all senators who desired to speak had an opportunity of doing so no vote could be taken. Mr. Voorhees then gave notice that he would from and after today ask the senate to have lengthened sessions, and he was informed that his program would not be resisted. After a speech by Mr. Mills in favor of the bill and by Mr.

SIX THOUSAND mill hands are idle in Yonkers, with starvation creeping down upon them. The whole city is organized for their relief. The New York Herald says there is no speedy prospect of a resumption of work in the mills, and the condition of the poor is pitiable in the extreme. And still some Democratic editors of New York City close their eyes to this awful spectacle and insist that the prevailing distress is greatly exaggerated. To the credit of the Horald be it said that it tells the truth in the matter, regardless of party polley. Isn't it nearly time that the purblind Democratic administration opened its eyes? Thousands are daily crying out for bread and the Democratagive them a tariff reform stone.

He has served five consecutive terms as solicitor for Sewickley, and for the fourth term is for Sewickley, and for the fourth term is now discharging the same duties for the borough of West Belluvus, although the political complexion of both organisations is Republican.
