CLEVELAND has spoken again and we presume that settles it; but then Stewart has not finished yet.

THE Republican newspapers that are "jumping" on Senator Cameron now will be the first to crawl in a hole after a while.

THE necessity for harmony is greatly needed in Schuylkill county just now. Later on in the campaign will be too late. "Now is the accepted time."

LET the Democrats finish the job they have undertaken. Republicans will get no thanks for any assistance they may render, and for that reason alone Senator Cameron should be commended.

A LUCKY NEGRO.

Capt. W. H. Woodruff, of Memphis, received the following telegram last Friday from Birmingham, Ala.

I am sent here to be hung for murder December 24, 1891. I was working for you at the Woodruff Stove Works. Come and save me. WILLIAM BELL.

Capt. Woodruff remembered the man, examined his books and found that Bell had worked for him in Tennessee for several months, including the day on which he was supposed to have committed murder in Alabama. He started to Birmingham that night, and Bell's life will be saved, as by a miracle, not so much because he has a complete alibi, but because he happened to be tried in Birmingham, which is a new city, built up about some iron works, with a strong northern element in its population, and some northern ideas. For Bell is a negro, and the usual Southern mob would have been much easier to convince of his guilt than was the jury. Almost anywhere else in the South a bare suspicion against him would have been enough. The only question then would be whether he should be burned before or after hanging, which lady should light the fire, and a possible dispute as to which prominent citizen should be privileged to fire the first load of buckshot into his helpless body. He might have been molting stove-plates in Memphis or cutting ice in the North Pole on the day of the murder, for all the difference it would have made in his fate. His ashes would have blown away and his charred bones have been carried off for remembrance of an event as notable as a carnival feast in Borneo long before there was any chance to establish his innocence. When the truth at last was made known the comment would have been: "Well, he was only a nigger, anyhow."

There is a difference between being a negro in the Republican North and a "nigger" in the Democratic South. Here, anonymous letters, pretending to be black, but more likely to be white (on the surface) pose in print to their own profit as men who can throw the negro vote against the Republican ticket on the plea that some particular one of their race hasn't been appointed a policeman. Down South, under Democratic rule, three brothers were hanged in Louisiana by a mob last Sunday for refusing to betray the hiding place of a fourth brother, whom the mob desired to hang, and their old mother and sisters were whipped from the parish. On Thursday of the same week another negro was hanged and burned for robbing a Virginia white woman of her pocket-book and hitting her with a brick when she resisted. This is a difference which intelligent colored men can be trusted to appreciate when Democratic agents try to trade their votes for promises or police appointments which they do not intend to keep.

CALVERT'S FATAL FALL

Terrible Accident to the Famous Rope Walker at Trenton.

UNCONSCIOUS WHEN PICKED UP.

He Fell Nearly Feet from a Pedestal, Breaking Both Arms and Several Ribs and Sustaining a Contusion of the Brain.—A Journey Seriously Injured.

TRENTON, Sept. 29.—The interstate fair grounds never held a dumber mass of people than yesterday. They came from all sections of the state and Pennsylvania and New York, and the funnels showed that nearly 50,000 passed the party gates. It being "Political" day, Governor Werts and the leading men of both parties were in attendance. Clifford M. Calverly, the famous Niagara Falls tight rope performer, fell off a pedestal ninety feet from the ground in the afternoon and sustained fatal injuries. He lost his balance while adjusting his gear and tumbled headlong to the ground. Men cried out in horror at the sight, and women shrieked and fainted. Calverly is now in St. Francis hospital, and physicians say that his recovery is impossible. Both his arms were broken, as were also several ribs. His most serious injury was contusion of the brain. He was picked up unconscious and removed to a tent, where several physicians gave him all the aid in their power. A boy jockey named Stewart was thrown from his horse in consequence of an accidental collision with a mounted track policeman. The boy sustained serious, if not fatal injuries.

The Racing Miss Melton's Assistant.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Prompt action on the part of the United States government has compelled the Turkish authorities to adopt radical measures to avenge the outrage perpetrated upon Miss Anna Melton, an American missionary of the Presbyterian board in Mosul, who was attacked on the night of June 14 last while stopping in a little village in the Kurdish mountains, near Amadia. The grand vizier has ordered the removal of the governor of Mosul, because that official did not act with sufficient promptitude in bringing the offenders to justice. The new governor is instructed to push the case.

EXPENSIVE LITIGATION.

General Young's Futile Efforts to Get Rid of His Wife.

New York, Sept. 29.—Another phase of the trouble arising out of the marriage of General Henry C. Young, of Cincinnati, was disclosed in supreme court chambers before Justice Ingraham yesterday. The general has three times tried to get rid of his wife, but has not yet succeeded. When he married her in Connecticut, in August, 1890, she was the divorced wife of Robert Smith. She and General Young did not live happily together, and he began a suit against her in Cincinnati for absolute divorce. He discontinued that action and began one for abandonment, but it only resulted in his being ordered to pay $100 a month for her support. Then he came to this city and sought to have his marriage annulled on the ground that the divorce which was obtained by Mr. Smith for her was void. It was held that the divorce was valid in Connecticut, and being valid there, was valid in all other states.

"During all this trouble Mrs. Caroline M. Collins, General Young's sister, remained his wife's firm friend, and about this time sued him for $25,000 for accessories furnished to her. General Young, in his answer, charged his sister with cohabiting at his wife's adultery by telling her to meet her paramour in her home. Thereupon Mrs. Collins sued him for $25,000 damages for libel, and obtained judgment by default. Yesterday General Young obtained judgment to have the defendant opened, claiming that his client was in Paris at the time judgment was obtained against him, and that his counsel had made a mistake as to the time when the suit was to be called up. Justice Ingraham granted the motion.

Times Punished by Their Flounder.

THIRASVILLE, Ga., Sept. 29.—Two negroes, Shade Lee and Gus Alexander, met at Lee's house to divide some stolen booty, among which was a twenty-five pound can of powder. In dividing the powder some was spilled on the floor. Shade threw a teaspoonful in the fire, which flashed and set off the remainder on the floor. This in turn caused the can to explode, which demolished the house and fatally injured the two thieves. A shotgun lying near was also discharged, the lead wounding Lee's wife. Alexander was placed in jail, but he will probably die. Lee is expected to die.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 29.—Ray C. Snowden, a young man who is well known in Baltimore, is in police custody on a charge of having been connected with a robbery that is said to have happened several days ago on the Pinneo road. When she got on the Pinneo road road with Snowden, she says, three men sprang upon them and fired at them. She fainted, and on regaining consciousness found that she had been robbed of $200 worth of diamonds.

CONNELEIGH, Pa., Sept. 29.—The meeting of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad employees at this place Wednesday night was secret. It is also stated that a mutual understanding exists between the different departments, and that they will stand by each other in resisting the reduction.

IN SENATE AND HOUSE.

Mr. Hoar Forgets His Liberal Benignity in a Personal Discussion.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The senate yesterday was in a quiet mood, but yesterday there was a ripple on the surface of its proceedings, and that was over a matter of ancient history which Mr. Hoar brought up in the way of personal explanation on behalf of a former colleague of his in the house of representatives now long dead, Mr. Hooper. This senator was chairman of committee on banking and currency at the time of the passage of what is commonly known as the silver demonetization act of 1875. A story has been in circulation to the effect that Mr. Ernest Seyd, a bank writer on finance, had had much to do with the passage of that act by the use of a corruption fund of $200,000 contributed by foreign capitalists. The absurdity and falsity of the story have often been exposed, but it always comes up again. A recent letter from Mr. Seyd's son asserting that his father had not been in the United States since 1866, was supposed to have given the stunner its death blow, but it seems that even that statement failed of its purpose. In order to contradict it, an extract from one of Mr. Hooper's speeches was published in the Peoria Journal, and a copy of the paper sent to Mr. Hoar, in which a reference to Mr. Seyd was made, and the words "now hoar" were crudely interpolated. In denouncing the fraud Mr. Hoar forgot his usual benignity of manner and language, and characterized its author as belonging to the species of "the bedding or the quashling." Mr. Cullom came to the defense of the editor of the Peoria Journal as a man who would not knowingly commit such a fraud and forgery. And it appeared after a long discussion that the extract from Mr. Hooper's speech had been floating about (thus falsified) for the last fifteen or twenty years. The only speech made on the silver purchasing repeal bill was by Mr. Peffer. His remedy for the financial trouble in the adoption of an amendment offered by him to restore the free coinage act of 1875. That amendment, he said, the repeal bill could be passed in twenty-five minutes.

The Debate on the Federal Election Bill in the House was Productive of but Little Excitement.

The debate on the federal election bill in the house was productive of but little excitement. Mr. Beckridge, of Kentucky, and Mr. Johnson, of Indiana, became involved in a personal controversy which at one time promised to become exciting, but finally passed into insignificance. Prior to this time there had been a colloquy between Mr. Morse, of Massachusetts, and Mr. Fishman, of Illinois, wherein the epithet of "falsehood" was passed, but this also ended amicably.

To save his life one of his legs has been amputated.
