These men in the rooms of the Ways and Means committee of the House when one hundred of the principal men of West Virginia, most of them Democrats of great prominence in their state, appeared to protest against tariff reduction, and to notify Prof. Wilson, chairman of the committee, and elected from a West Virginia district, that there would be trouble for him if he persisted in his free trade scheme, was a spectacle for the political gods. Most of the delegation admitted voting the Democratic ticket last fall under the belief that the Democratic tariff plank didn't mean anything, a significant exhibition of Democratic want of confidence in Democratic declarations. Free trade for a few years might be welcomed if such faithless citizens were the only sufferers. The "object lesson" cannot be made too pointed for men of that class.

The disasters chronicled in the world thus far form a startling chapter in the history of 1893. The catalogue is appalling. They began early and have continued almost without interruption up to date. The newspapers have scarcely had an issue that did not contain an account of casualties of a startling character and often they come to the newspapers in shoals and battalions. Railroad accidents, mine explosions, shipwrecks, drownings, holocausts, murders, suicides, hurricanes, floods, cyclones, earthquakes, and many other frightful occurrences, to say nothing of the great slump in business of all kinds. The calamity record was a bulky one for 1893 and it has caused great loss and much suffering, but notwithstanding the old world still stands, the United States is the best country on the globe, the people have lived through it all and they still go on forward. The record may continue to be disastrous until the close of the year, but everybody hopes for a cessation of calamity and a long breathing spell in which to recuperate.

A WISE MOVE.
After a long and expensive experiment, the majority of the theatrical managers throughout the country have decided to do away with the expensive and highly colored lithographs and spend the cost in extra newspaper advertising. They find that in this nineteenth century, that the only sure and satisfactory way to reach the masses is through the daily press. There is no class of business men in the country better able to judge of a newspaper's influence, than a theatrical man, and for this reason there is no person so anxious to please those who have the power to make or break them. This move on the part of the theatrical managers should set the business man who puts his signs on the farmer's fence, and passes the newspaper by, to thinking. The penny daily press has become a great factor, and the liberal use of its advertising columns in a bright and catchy manner, is what makes dividends for the business men.

The grapes are in. Eat grapes, ripe, sound ones, in abundance. Many people can make a whole breakfast of them and nothing else and feel the better for it. Don't be afraid of them. The grape cure in Europe frequently cures a man's dyspepsia and dumps to flee away forever, and he feels as if he were made over again and were walking on air. It will do the same in America. If anything is certain, it is that the food of civilization is changing somewhat, particularly in America. The heavy, starchy, greasy foods of our ancestors are giving way to those which are lighter, more nourishing, and more quickly digested. The American can not afford to spend six hours digesting his dinner, when he wants all the blood he can get for use in his brain to invent new machines, to write, or to plan out commercial enterprises. Life is too short to give so many of the twenty-four hours up to the stomach. Therefore fruit, and a quantity of it, takes the place of sausage, "baked dinners," mince pie, and green pork, or even the time honored sheet iron sandwich. The attention of economists, too, is recently called more and more to the limitless possibilities for food of the best quality for man that lie in our culture.

Troops to Quell Disorderly Strikers.
MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 4.—Governor Jones received news from the sheriff of Morgan county, which Decatur is the county seat, saying that there will be trouble at Decatur, and troops will be needed. Decatur is the site of the large and noisy machinery and car shops of the Louisville and Nashville system of railroads. There is trouble between the union men and the men sent there to take the place of the strikers. The shops employ 1,000 operatives. A reduction in the wages was the cause of the strike. The telegram stated that the strikers had threatened to burn the shops, and only by the aid of police can it be prevented. Governor Jones issued an order calling out the militia at Birmingham.

Didn't Know the Vice President.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Vice President Stevenson was stopped at the outer door of the treasury department by a vigilante watchman, who refused him entry. The vice president gave his name and stated that he had an engagement with Mr. Carlisle, but the watchman evidently did not know who "Mr. Stevenson" was, as he still barred the way. The appearance of a newspaper man, who addressed Mr. Stevenson as "vice president," caused the door to be opened to the vice president, while the watchman was profuse in apologies.

Vatican Versus Quirinal.
ROME, Oct. 4.—No less than forty Italian bishops are now without their episcopates, owing to the conflict between the Vatican and the Quirinal. The bishop of Fiesole recently complained personally to King Humbert about the government's action. The king replied that he deplored the situation, but the ministry had decided to refuse all excommunications until the Vatican should recognize the rights of the crown. The trouble arose over the pope's refusal to recognize King Humbert's right to nominate the patriarch of Venice.

Paterson Bombers Convicted.
PATERSON, N. J., Oct. 4.—The trial of the fourteen members of the board of freeholders indicted three months ago for an alleged fraudulent transaction in the purchase of a court house site was held yesterday. It is claimed that the owners of the land paid $20,000 to members of the board and a few outsiders to carry the project through. The county paid $85,000 for the site. The jury returned a verdict of guilty, but recommended mercy.

McAuliffe "Downed" by a Cab Driver.
NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—As Jack McAuliffe, the pugilist, was crossing Thirtieth street last night, in a half dark cab, he suddenly stopped a passing cab horse, throwing the animal to his harness. The driver protested, and Jack started to "do" him, but by a vigorous use of his whip "cabby" kept the pugilist at bay, and Jack was hurried away by his friends to escape arrest.

Remorse Drove Him to Suicide.
CATASAUGUS, Pa., Oct. 4.—Thomas Bear, who for more than a score of years has been a faithful, careful watchman at the Lehigh Valley railroad crossing at this place, signalled to two engines to come ahead. A disastrous wreck followed, and two trainmen were injured, Freeman Ray so severely that he died soon after.

Guests Narrowly Escape.
BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 4.—The Plaza hotel and its adjoining barn and stables were totally destroyed by fire last night. The fire was probably of incendiary origin. The loss on buildings, furniture, etc., is $25,000. The guests and employees narrowly escaped from the hotel, saving only the apparel they wear.

Ignoring the Separate Dispatches.

AN INSANE MURDERESS

This is the General Belief Regarding Mrs. Fitzgerald,

THE SLAYER OF MRS. PEARSON.

The Cause of the Crime Was Jealousy, Though There Seems to be No Reason for the Murderer's Suspicious—The Case to Come up on Saturday.

New York, Oct. 4.—Mrs. Catherine Fitzgerald, wife of John J. Fitzgerald, an examiner in the corporation counsel's office, and a sister of Inspector William McLaughlin, of the New York police force, who shot and killed Mrs. Carrie Pearson, wife of Police Commissioner John W. Pearson, at the latter's home Monday afternoon, was held yesterday by Police Justice Wells in the Jefferson police court without bail to answer for her crime. The examination was set down for Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

The cause of the crime was jealousy. Mrs. Fitzgerald believed that her husband was fonder of Mrs. Pearson than of her, and she lay in wait for her and shot her. Mrs. Pearson was younger and far prettier than is the woman who murdered her.

At the court, the woman looked, what she undoubtedly is, temporarily insane. Some time ago she had an operation performed on her for a tumor on the head, and ever since then she has acted queerly. She has just recovered from an attack of nervous prostration, for which her family physician was treating her. She is a tall, fine, handsome woman, no longer young, but the wrinkles which time and trouble have drawn upon her face have taken away no wish of interest and beauty in it.

She was dazed and could hardly stand. At times she looked as if she were about to faint. Her husband was very nervous and showed it. He declared to the reporter that his wife had absolutely no reason to be jealous of him; that he had never been anything more than a friend to Mrs. Pearson.

The detectives who are investigating the homicide say that as yet they have found no evidence to substantiate the statement by the murderer that she shot the woman in self defense.

The police and everybody concerned believe her crazy. They are divided in their opinions as to what grounds the woman had for her jealousy.

An Austrian Count's Suicide.
RAHWAY, N. J., Oct. 4.—Count Rudolph Paiffy, who resided on the Haverney estate, at the foot of the Ramapo mountains, committed suicide yesterday by shooting. Count Paiffy is said to be a cousin of Prince Paiffy, of Austrian fame. He has been in the United States on a sightseeing tour for nearly two years. It is believed upon local authority that the count had been cut short in his allowance of money because he married outside of the royal family and not according to the wishes of his parents, his wife being a native of Switzerland. Count Paiffy was 32 years old.

Another Alleged Plot Against the Czar.
LONDON, Oct. 4.—A dispatch from Copenhagen to the Central News says: "Exciting reports are current here concerning a plot against the czar. It is stated that a French monk appeared at Frederiksborg castle on Sunday claiming that he was sent by the pope on a secret mission to the Princess Wladimir, King Christian's daughter-in-law, who would present him to the czar. As the princess and the other royal personages present refused to receive the monk, he disappeared. No trace of him has been found since."

Mrs. Theresa Hartson

"For fourteen years I have suffered with kidney troubles; my back so lame that sometimes I could not raise myself. I could not sleep, and suffered great distress with my food. I have taken four bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I feel like a new person, and my terrible sufferings have all gone. Life is comfort compared to the misery it used to be." Mrs. Theresa Hartson, Albion, Pa.

J., Oct. 4.—In the Union court Judge Van Syckle charged the grand jury that the granting of a license by the Linden township committee to the Linden Blood Horse association in consideration of $5,000 to be paid to the Linden Sewer company, a private corporation, was corrupt and constituted bribery as much as though the money had been paid to the committee men personally, and he instructed the jury to find indictments against the committee if evidence proved these to be the facts in the case.
