DEATH ON THE RAIL

Two Killed and Three Injured in an Indiana Wreck.

MANY PASSENGERS ENDANGERED.

The Fireman Buried Beneath His Engive and Scalded to Death by Escaping Steam-The Wreck Takes Fire, but the Flames Are Soon Subdued.

WHITING, Ind., Oct. 11.-Late yesterday ernoon train No. 2, of the Pennsylvania road, ran into an open switch, causing the engine, rustle our and two Pullmans to leave the track. The dead are: Henry Warner, engineer; John Christie, fireman. The accident occurred just west of the One Hundred and Nineteenth street crossing. Three persons were injured, incind-ing the conductor, but none fatally. The ing the conductor, but none fatally. The fireman was buried beneath the engine and scalded to death by escaping steam. The train was composed of a mail car and nine vestibuled cars. The train was running but ten miles an hour. Had it been running at full speed the death list would have been very large. The fire company was at the scene in five minutes and extinguished the rapidly gaining flames. The track was not cleared until after 8 o'clock track was not cleared until after 8 o'clock last evening. There were more than 400 passengers on the train. The engine and mail car are total wrecks.

Both Locomotives Demolished. ALTONA, Pa., Oct. 11.—A Philipsburg train on the Tyrone and Clearfield railway and a passenger train on the Beech Creek railroad collided at the point where the roads cross at grade just north of Philipsburg, resulting in the demolishment of the two locomotives and two coal cars, but fortunately only slight injury to human limb. The cellision occurred just at the watch box, in which was John Lyon, the watchman. The frail little structure was toppled over, and as it fell Lyon managed to jump out of it, receiving only alight bruises. Clarence Branin, engineer of the coal train, was bruised rather severely about the legs and suffered some painful cuts on the head.

Excursion Train in Collision.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. II.—A Jersey Central special train carrying several hundred members of the Father Mathew societies and others to Wilkesbarre to the sumual parade of the societies, met an other train bound in the opposite direction in the southern part of this city. There was a slight crash between the two trains, but no one was injured except. Miss Florence Blewitt, who in the excitement jumped from the train and had a leg broken.

Wrecked by a Broken Rail.

MONTGOMENY, Ala., Oct. 11.—A Demopolis special says that the east bound Louis-ville and Nashville passenger train, run-ning as a special over the East. Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia, was thrown twenty feet down an embankment east of Demop-olis by a broken rail. Conductor Morris, the fireman and several passengers were slightly injured.

Prominent Lawyer Placed in Jail. CAPE MAY, Oct. 11.—Sheriff Robert 1 Hand, of this county, arrested Herbert W. Edmunds, a well known lawyer of this city, and placed him in the county jail, in city, and placed him in the county jail, in obedience to the commands of the chan-cellor of the state. He is held for his failure to pay $700 over to the court, after having been peremptorily ordered to do so in September. The money comprised taxes on the Shoreham hotel, Cape May Point, which were collected by the sheriff sale of the property and turned over by m to the court of chancery. Edmunds, is alleged, representing himself to b borough solicitor, obtained possession of it from the court, but was ordered to return it when it was represented to the court that he had acted without authority. His failure to do so has caused his arcest.

The Williamstown Centennial. Williamstown, Mass., Oct. 11.—The centennial closed brilliantly yesterday afternoon with an alumni banquet at which an unusal array of the most diswhich an unusal array of the most dis-tinguished college papers and professors appeared. Letters of regret were read from President Cleveland, ex-President Harri-son, David Dudley Field of '25, the oldest living graduate, Justice Field of the su-preme court, all of whose health kept them away; Rev. Dr. Storrs and Senator Hoar. Speachmaking was then in order and was participated in by Governor Rus-sell, President Dwight, of Yale, and others.

OUR COAST DEFENSES.

Brigadier General Breckinridge's Report to Secretary Lamont.

DISGRACEFUL" AFFAIRS EXIST.

It Is Shown That Almost the Entire Southern Coast on the Atlantic Sea bourd Is Unprotected and at the Mercy of a Foreign Foe.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Brigadler General Joseph C. Breckhridge, inspector general of the United States army, has made a report to the secretary of war indicating a condition of affairs prevailing in regard to our coast defenses which is officially characterized as "diagraceful." It is shown that almost the entire southers coast on the Atlantic scalebard is also lutely unprotected and at the mercy of a foreign for. Forts have been allowed to crumble away, cannon have rusted and cannon carriages rotted. To quots In-spector General Breeklaridge in his statement of the master to Secretary Lamon these forts and their armaments "pov serve the single purpose apparently of re-minding on of the high estate from which we have fallen, and that we are not well prepared for resistance against any bold inspared for resistance against any bold and aggressive gogornment."

In advanced sheets furnished by the secretary of war of that part of his annual report relating to ungarrisoned fortifications, General Breckinridge says:

"The very careful inspection of ungarrisoned posts between Baratoria Bay, La., and the Delaware river, made under your supervision, has brought very plainly to view the defenseless condition of our southern coast, and the great importance. wise the defenseless condition of our southern coast, and the great importance of immediate action if these fortifications are to be relied on to repeal attack. No intelligent and experienced officer can look on our southern defense without feeling the deepest solicitude for the safety of our entire coast line. That there is no immediate probability of a foreign war will mediate probability of a foreign war will be granted, but it must be admitted that such a contingency is not impossible and that should it happen within the next ten years we must rely in the main for the protection of our harbors on the forts and guns we now have no matter, how inferior they may be as compared with more recent

"For various reasons the garrison of twenty-seven of these forts have been withdrawn until there is not now, nor has there been in most cases for more than twenty years, a single soldier to care for them, ordnance sergeants sometimes su perannuated and decrept alone excepted As a result of this long abandonment and the changes which have meantime af fected methods of attack and defense, the forts and their armsments have come to be regarded as obsolete, deserving and re-ceiving but little attention, until they now serve the single purpose apparently of re-minding us of the high estate from which we have fallen, and that we are now well prepared for resistance against any bold and aggressive government." General Breckinridge will suggest to Secretary Lamont the adoption of certain

Secretary Lamont the adoption of certain measures toward correcting the abuses and neglect that have placed the southern coust so absolutely at the mercy of an enemy. He desires that an estimate bemade for cleaning and clearing up the forts and to with promptions. Surgical operations performed with the greatest care. Officer commercial Hotal, Shensadosh such repairs as will prevent further deterioration. He will also suggest that a sufficient expenditure be authorized to put all guns and carriages that can be relied on in connection with the operation of torpudo lines in a serviceable condition. Younger and more active men, he contends, should replace the particular ordnance sergeants on duty at the forts inspected, and he asks that this be done as effort be made, where it can be done proerly, to counteract the impression which prevails, even in the army, that these forts are junk shops and their armament and stores obsolete, and that instructions be issued which will enable, or compel, all ordnance sergeants, when once the armaments are put in order, to keep them so."

Holidaysburg's Sensation.

ALTONA, Pa., Oct. 11.—Hollidaysburg, the county seat of Blair, had a first class sensation last night. One of the staid old town's most prominent citizens, a leader of a church choir, and a weit established merchant, eloped with a young woman and left his wife and four children overwhelmed with grief. The man's name is Leslie Lotz, and the woman in the case was his next door neighbor, Mrs. Craw-ford. He is supposed to have taken $10, 000 in ready cash along in his flight, and further developments are anxiously awaited.
