The decorations were finished last evening. The finest spectacle is to be seen at the Place d'Armes, the largest open space in the town. The entrance to the Prefecture Maritime on one side of the square, is draped in scarlet plush, edged with gold fringe. The court of honor and the front of the facale fronting the Place d'Armes are illuminated by electric lights. The Rue Lafayette, the Rue St. Roch and some ten other important streets are decked with double lines of colored lanterns, which will be lighted this evening.

Tri-colors and Russian colors flaunt from all the buildings, are wound round the lamp posts and from the background in every window. The poorer parts of the city are hardly less gorgeous than the fashionable streets. They all show bust-ing in profusion, tri-colored lanterns, and many portraits of the czar surrounded by the combined colors of France and Russia. There is not an alley without its flags and

The Place de la Liberte, where the battle of flowers will take place, is a magnificant sight. The double rows of pain trees are hung with lanterns, streamers and trophies. The canonied dais will be the

An immense triumphal arch has been erected opposite the city hall and directly in front of the quay where the Russian officers will enter the town. The city hall is atjaze with light and colors. The decorations of the interior have been made without regard for expense. All the rooms to be need in entertaining the Russiana to be used in entertaining the Russiana have been furnished with royal splendor
