THE DOUGHERTY CASE

A Bondsman Gets Into a Law Suit.

FORGING PROSECUTION

Robert Lloyd Did Not Understand What Constitutes a Legal Bondsman and Finds Himself Involved in a Law Suit—A Third Bondsman Furnished.

ACCORDING to the present indications the Dougherty wife bearing, surety and non-support case will be thoroughly ventilated at the November term of the criminal court. The wife is determined in her prosecution and in consequence of that determination a fourth law suit has grown out of the affair.

When the arrest was made on the original charges the accused was put under $1,000 bail, William Malis furnishing the security, but on Saturday evening the bondsman concluded to keep clear of the controversy and surrendered the bail. Robert Lloyd, a brother-in-law of the accused, was then offered as bondsman and as he swore to his responsibility for the amount required Justice Toomey accepted him and Dougherty was again released.

Yesterday, upon solicitation of the complainant and her friends, M. M. Burke, Esq., made a little search at Pottsville, which resulted in a return that Robert Lloyd does not own any real estate. Upon this statement John T. Cassey, a brother of the wife suing, went to Justice Toomey's office last night and swore out a warrant charging perjury. It was alleged that Lloyd swore falsely when he became bondsman, as in fact he owned no real estate.

It was late last night when the warrant was executed. Lloyd appeared before Justice Toomey and said it was all a mistake. He said his wife is a sister of the accused and owns property and it was thought the bond would be all right if Lloyd, in giving bail, would sign his wife's name with his own.

Notwithstanding this statement the charge was allowed to stand, so unless the affair is fixed up the court will have the four cases on its docket next month. Dougherty also again appeared before Justice Toomey last night and A. F. Morgan became his bondsman.

Erupition of the skin cured. Ed. Vennoy, Brockville, Ontario, Canada, says: "I have used Brandreth's Pills for the past fifteen years, and think them the best cathartic and anti-bilious remedy known. For some five years I suffered with an eruption of the skin that gave me great pain and annoyance. I tried different blood remedies, but, although gaining strength the itching was unrelieved. I finally concluded to take a thorough course of Brandreth's Pills. I took six each night for four nights, then five, four, three, two, lessening each time by one, and then for one month took one every night, with the happy result that now my skin is perfectly clear and has been so ever since."

Cheated and Beat Him. John Picinis and John Sharene were engaged in a game of bagatelle in one of the Hungarian saloons of town and John Yergo amused himself by stealing the balls and putting them in Sharene's pockets. When Picinis protested Yergo and Sharene assaulted him. They cut his scalp and forehead and otherwise damaged him. The two assailants were put under bail for trial at court.

A Fortunate Fashion. On account of the hard times, it is fortunate that black is to be fashionable this fall and winter, as with Diamond Dyes any woman can make her faded and dingy clothes a rich and handsome black.

There are three kinds of Diamond Dye fast blacks: for wool, for cotton, and for silk and feathers. They are simple to use, and make colors that never fade, crock, or wash out.

OBSE'S OBSERVATIONS.

What He Sees and Hears During His Travels. Property owners, builders, contractors and mechanics are all interested in the decision of Judge Hemphill, of Chester county, which declares that the mechanics' lien law of June 8, 1891, is not legislation, but usurpation, trespassing upon the inherent and indefeasible rights of property, violates a fundamental principle of the law of both contracts and agency, eliminating from the one mutuality of assent, and from the other the authorization of the principal, and is, therefore, unconstitutional and void.

Progressive poker parties are getting to be the fad in Shenandoah, and this winter poker will take the place of euchre, wint and other popular home games of the past. Penny ante, two cents limit is the size of the game usually played, and a party can get a great deal of fun out of an evening at this kind of game. The other evening at a quiet little poker party, a young lady, who had just been taught the value of the various hands in the seductive American game and thought she knew so much about it that she refused to allow the young man who had taught her the game to look at her hand, threw down her cards with a look of disgust and complained loudly because she had "five high and not a pair." And a gentle laugh circulated around the table, while several gentlemen, in a breath, tried to explain the beauty of holding a "pat straight."

The Allentown Item says the worst case of small pox can be cured in three days, simply by the use of cream of tartar. One ounce of cream of tartar dissolved in a pint of water, drunk at intervals when cold, is a certain, never failing remedy. It has cured thousands, and never leaves a mark, never causes blindness, and avoids tedious lingering.

Three or four young men with a mandolin, a guitar and a harmonica wandered out one of the streets on the west side of town at an early hour a few mornings since and took position in front of a three-story dwelling. They kept their eyes glued on one of the upper windows as though expecting some fair maiden to appear and reward their labor with a rose or some other token. At last the window raised and from the head that protruded came the query, "What yez makin' all that noise down there for?" "We are playin' for Miss—" was the reply of one of the musicians. "Now, that's where yez got left. Yez mean that Dutch girl. She's been gone three days, so good night and bad luck to yez." The players tucked their instruments under their arms and walked away disgusted.

The recent convention of the W. C. T. U. I am informed, was the most successful in the annals of that organization. The delegates from this town, Mrs. S. G. M. Hollister and Miss Belle Brown, submitted to the local union a lengthy and interesting report of the proceedings of the state body. It shows the local "Y" to rank among the first in the amount of work performed as well as the number of members and the amount of money expended.

During the year "93" have been organized, with a total membership of 4,914, distributed among 159 unions. Twenty-three foreign lands have unions, with large memberships. The work among the W. C. T. U. also shows much encouragement, from what I gleaned from a local member. Three new counties have been reorganized, and the total number of unions are 115, an increase of 45 during the year, with a membership of 13,803. Of this number Philadelphia has 1135 members.

These temperance workers have great faith in newspapers. They unanimously agreed to use their efforts to have as much temperance literature printed as possible. During the past year the newspapers in this state contributed 2,700 columns of temperance reading matter, which at the rate of 5 cents per line would have amounted to $25,000. A very pleasing plan of temperance work by this organization, and one of the most successful, is the flower mission. It is claimed that hundreds can be reclaimed for the temperance cause by visiting them while lying upon their sick bed and presenting them with nature's sweetest flowers and palatable fruit.

These temperance women work through many channels, and where one proves unsuccessful they try another. I am informed that the report of the committee on work in jails shows that during the past year the prison doors in this state have been opened to 61,000 prisoners, and 1,223 children are in the houses of correction. The work of this department is to make jails reformatories instead of penal institutions, and to show with what success they are meeting with on this line, at a recent meeting in the Allegheny penitentiary 100 men and 60 women signed the pledge. An attempt was made by the Legislature, to have a law passed compelling the saloons to be closed on Memorial Day, but it was not successful. Many other ways are used to reach fallen men by the union, which the world never learns of. This work is one performed strictly from a sense of duty, without compensation and without fame, so far as the world is concerned. It has no connection with the third party movement, and is entirely upon a different line of action.

AT THE COUNTY COURT

Some of the Cases Disposed of Yesterday.

TRANSFER OBJECTED TO

Why It is Harder to Sell Out Saloons Now Than It Was Some Time Ago—The Liquor Dealers Charge Fraud and Objection.

THE wholesale liquor dealers association of town is making itself a source of revenue for the members by watchfulness on the transfer of saloon licenses. Yesterday T. R. Beddall, Esq., made application to the court at Pottsville for a transfer of the license held by Matt Kakarawicz, of South Main street, to John Augustalis. The liquor dealers' association heard that the application was to be made and M. M. Burke, Esq., was on hand to object on the ground that Kakarawicz was indebted to a considerable amount to wholesale dealers and the intended transfer would deprive the latter of rights. The court fixed next Monday as a day for argument.

A gentleman interested in the case stated last night that the wholesale dealers of the town have lost so much by these transfers that they are forced to resort to the most active and stringent measures for self protection. One man who transferred a license in the First ward a few weeks ago did so after contracting a debt of $500 for liquor, and he succeeded in securing a good price for his place and making the transfer before the dealers could take steps to secure the amount due them.

A week or two later another saloon man attempted to make a transfer after contracting large debts for liquor, but in this case the association got its objection in at the right time and the man who wanted to make the transfer was required to toe the scratch. He paid some of the claims and gave good security for the others, after which the objections to the transfer were withdrawn.

In the Kakarawicz case, according to the informant, the dealers' association will have strong grounds for a protest as the argument. They expect to show that Kakarawicz and Augustalis agree that the sale and transfer were to be kept as quiet as possible until after they were complete.

A Lineman's Fall.

Samuel Hess, of Reading, one of the linemen employed by the Pennsylvania Telephone Company, met with a serious accident near Lost Creek this afternoon. He was climbing an old pole to replace an old wire with one of the long distance service and when he was about thirty feet up the top of the pole snapped off and precipitated him to the ground. Hess was sent to the Miners' Hospital. It is feared one of his hips is fractured.

Borough Treasurer T. F. Bradigan's additional bond of $20,000 was presented to the court at Pottsville yesterday and approved. John J. Bradigan, M. D. Malone and J. J. Franey are the sureties. The bond was required in consequence of the Treasurer having the money derived from sales of water bonds in his hands.

THE WATER CASES.

Exceptions to the Locumtenent Bonds of the Borough.

Representatives of the borough, the water company, Girard Estate and Thomas Coal Company assembled at the Pottsville court yesterday to make and hear arguments in the injunction suits brought to restrain the borough from proceeding with the construction of the public water works. Upon application of counsel for the complainants the court postponed the arguments until next Monday, at 3 p. m. The complainants at the same time filed exceptions to the bonds of indemnity given by the borough to secure the complainants against damage by construction of the works. Arguments on the exceptions will also be made next Monday.

In stating his exceptions to the bonds Ex-Judge Ryan, among other things, said that the bonds were insufficient; that the borough intends appropriating upwards of 240 acres of the water shed belonging to the Shenandoah Water Company, including ten springs, and proposes making excavations to the depth of twenty feet, which will cut off all the springs. Also, that the bond offered was only executed by the president and secretary of the Borough Council, and without authority of the body, or without any survey at law, or in any way to obligate the borough to the Thomas Coal Company. That the bond did not say how much land the borough intends to take, nor has an effort been made to settle damages for crossing the land and erecting the reservoir.

Recovering From Injuries.

Adam Stoffelberger resumed work at the West Shenandoah colliery yesterday. He is employed as carpenter at the mine. A plank on which he was standing broke and in the fall of about eighteen feet his back struck upon a lump of coal. His injuries were first considered dangerous, but a rest of three weeks made him able to resume work.

Richard Anover has so far recovered from the effects of the shot he received in the Gilberton riot he is now able to make walks daily. He requires the assistance of a cane, however, and some time must elapse before he will appear as well as he did before the shooting.

SHU at Large.

There are no new developments in the case of Nicholas Plowden, the First ward Hungarian who was murderously assaulted on Sunday evening by Joseph Bashster. The victim is still in a dangerous condition and suffers greatly from the five terrible knife wounds he received. Constable Glibin went to Centralia last night and made search for the fugitive assailant without success. It is supposed that Bashster is being shielded by friends until it can be learned whether or not Plowden's injuries will prove fatal.
