ELECTRIC CAR STRUCK

Collision at Big Mine Run This Morning.

NO ONE SUFFERED INJURY

A Philadelphia and Reading Train Carried the Car From a Crossing—The Solitary Passenger, Motor Man and Conductor Escaped.

HERE was a thrilling affair near Big Mine Run early this morning in which a Philadelphia and Reading train and a car of the Schuylkill Traction Company played parts. It seems that the electric car was bound westward on its first trip from Girardville to Ashland and when it reached the crossing near Big Mine Run a west-bound Philadelphia and Reading miners' train ran into it.

Fortunately the motor man stopped his car and allowed the solitary passenger, a woman, to make her escape before the collision occurred. The motor man and conductor also escaped injury.

The electric car was picked up by the engine and carried about thirty feet west of the crossing before it fell to the side of the Reading's track. It was pretty badly wrecked.

The cause of the collision is to be made a subject of investigation, but it is generally believed that the responsibility will be placed at the door of the motor man and conductor of the electric road. The railroad companies have the right of way and it is a rule of the Traction Company that when one of its cars is approaching a railroad crossing the motor man shall slacken the speed of his car, and stop if necessary, to give the conductor a chance to run ahead and see if a train is approaching; if everything is all right the car proceeds on the conductor's signal. It is said this precaution was not taken this morning.

Don't take Hood's for that tired feeling. See Maloy at the theatre Wednesday evening, October 25th.

DEGAN FOR PROTHONOTARY.

Ashland's Representative on the Republican Ticket a Hustler.

Colonel James R. Degan, of Ashland, the candidate for Prothonotary on the Republican ticket, is making a hustling canvass and if he is not elected it will not be due to any loss of time on his part. Mr. Degan is one of the best known men in this county and he has made friends of all his acquaintances. He is always genial and generous, and as a business man his qualifications are beyond question.

If the people of this county want as a successor to the present Prothonotary a man who will conduct the office to the best interests of the people, irrespective of kin or kin, and one who has the independence and courage to manage public affairs as his intelligence dictates is for the best interests of all concerned they will elect the candidate on the Republican ticket this year—Mr. Degan. Mr. Kirk has made a very satisfactory official and it is not because of any omission to misdoing while in office that a change is sought. There seems to be a disposition on the part of the Democratic party not only to monopolize all the offices in the county, but to make permanent pension berths of offices, in order that they may hold for the party on election day the strength of the friends of those retained in office. This system of continuance in office is a dangerous one. The officials retained may be perfectly qualified and trustworthy, but experience has demonstrated that they are not at liberty to do unto the people as they would if not tied to some political string.

If it is for this reason that a change in the office of Prothonotary is desired and as the Republicans have placed before the people one who is as well qualified in all respects for the office as the present incumbent that is no reason why the change should be denied. Mr. Degan's personality makes him very popular with the people and his friends in the Republican party are legion. If elected he will make one of the most conscientious and hard working officials ever elected to an office in this county and at the expiration of his term will present a record that will be beyond the slightest reproach. The Republicans will stand by him to a man and all others who are opposed to making offices of public trusts exchanges for political influence will stand by him on election day.

Amusements.

We are going to have a good performance by one of the best organizations of its kind in America. The new musical and sparkling comedy, called "The Kid," is to be the attraction at Ferguson's theatre on Thursday evening, Oct. 26th. The attraction is winning golden laurels wherever it appears and seems to carry off the palm of pure and simple farce comedy and good genuine music. The company number some fourteen people. All good vocalists and fun-makers and the play is said to be excellent and novel being in three acts and far above the average so called farce comedies of the period.

MR. SCHOENER'S STATEMENT.

He Contends That He is the Injured Litigant.

Mr. R. D. Schoener called at the HERALD office and stated he would prefer to have his side in the suit brought against him by the Rothchild company better particularized. Mr. Schoener says that the litigation over the bar fixtures was precipitated by the company misrepresenting the goods and not keeping their agreements with him. The fixtures, he says, were not according to representations and the top of the bar was split when received. He also says that when the sale was made there was an understanding by which the company was to allow him at least $50 for each sale of bar fixtures made in Schuylkill county by reason of the sale made to Mr. Schoener, and the latter claims that at least two such sales have been made and he is, therefore, entitled to at least $100 in commissions. Mr. Schoener also claims that he is entitled to damages from the company because it promised to have the fixtures delivered by March 10th, whereas they were not delivered until March 20th, and meantime he was unable to properly do business.

THEY RESPONDED NOBLY.

Part of the "Herald's" Usefulness and the People's Spirit.

On Friday evening the HERALD announced that if the people of town would sweep the streets in front of their residences on Saturday Supervisor Llewellyn would start out early that day with a force of men and wagons to gather the dirt swept into heaps. At an early hour next day people appeared with brooms in hand upon every street in town. Supervisor Llewellyn said he never saw such a general cleaning up and it proved two things: first, the HERALD is extensively read in all parts of the town; second, the people are anxious to know how they may help keep the town clean.

PAY DAY.

Only One Disturbance of Any Account Reported.

The employees of the P. & R. C. & I. Co. were paid in town on Saturday and in consequence the town was pretty lively in the evening, but the "pay day scraps" which usually follow in large numbers did not materialize. The only case of any consequence reported was one in the First ward. Joseph Okalski knocked down Peter Thomastalis and cut him on the head with a knife. The injuries were of a severe but not dangerous character. Justice Toomey put the assailant under $1,000 bail for trial.

"Faust."

On Friday evening, Oct. 27th, Francis Labadie and Hattie Rowell, assisted by a strong company of actors, will appear at Ferguson's theatre in a gorgeous scenic presentation of Goethe's immortal poem "Faust." This is one of the best dramatizations of this play ever written and is the same as that which has had such long runs in San Francisco, New York and Philadelphia. The company carries and uses all its own special scenery and calcium lights. The costumes are new and gorgeous and were especially designed for the company. Among the scenic effects introduced are the vision of Marguerite, the transformation of Faust, the square of the Fountain, the Nuremberg Cathedral, the electric duel, the Sunmer of the Broken on Walpurgis Night, the apostrophe of Marguerite and the flight of angels. The prices for this engagement have been placed at 25, 35 and 50 cents. Reserved seats can be procured at the usual place.

The Magazines.

Worthington's Magazine for November is fully up to the standard and is making long strides towards popularity. It is full of the choicest reading and no intelligent family should be without it. It is only $2.00 per year. Published by A. D. Worthington & Co., Hartford, Conn.

Deane's Magazine for November is a most excellent number, and one cannot see how so many good things can be printed in it for the money. Its illustrations are fine and a great treat. The leading article in this issue is "The Naval Cadet at Work and at Play" which will interest the young and old, the brave and gay. Only $2.00 per year. Address W. Jennings Damore, 15 E. 14th street, New York.

Look Out for This Fellow.

A young man who is evidently a professional sharper is traveling through the coal region with the intention of "turning a trick or two." to use the professional phraseology. He is a man about 25 years of age, about five and a half feet in height, wears a gray suit of clothes, drab feldora hat, pink shirt and pattern leather shoes. He enters places in quest of board and asks to be taken through the various apartments to see if they suit him. If women are alone in the house he insists upon being given meals or money before leaving and it is supposed the object of his visits is to learn all he can concerning the inside of houses preparatory to burglarizing them.

There will be an evening of pure fun and amusement for all who attend the theatre on Wednesday evening, Oct. 25th.

Notice.

The undersigned will be absent from his office, East Oak street, Shenandoah, until November 6, 1893.

A LITTLE STRETCHED!

Reports Concerning the English Lutheran Church.

REV. HAVICE WILL LEAVE

The Church Refused His Resignation, but That Will Not Alter His Decision—A Little Unpleasantness, But Not as Bad as Rumor Has It.

CONSIDERABLE talk was wafted through the streets to-day about the English Lutheran church, on North Jardin street, the substance of the reports being that there was a stormy time in the church last night in the midst of which the pastor tendered his resignation, which was rejected; that the council of the church resigned, and that the church was fast crumbling to pieces.

The reports, of course, created quite a breeze, but a subsequent investigation by a reporter showed that the case was not quite as bad as Dime Rumor had made it. Rev. M. H. Havice was seen at his residence on South Jardin street this morning. He confirmed the report of his resignation. The announcement was a surprise, as only two members of the congregation knew it was to be made. Rev. Havice said he had fully made up his mind and the sermon he preached yesterday would be his last, but the resignation would not take effect until November 1st. After the service the congregation met to act on the announcement and by vote refused to accept the resignation.

Many of the congregation moved to tears when Rev. Havice made the announcement. It is said he has been an excellent pastor in all respects. The indebtedness of the church has not been increased a cent since he has taken charge, but on the contrary he has considerably reduced the indebtedness which existed before he came to town and has raised more benevolent contributions than any other pastor the church has had.

Rev. Havice was not inclined to talk about the matter, but since exaggerated reports had been circulated on the streets he felt bound in justice to himself to say that the only thing which caused unpleasantness in the church was the aggressiveness of parties who want to secure leadership in the congregation and are never satisfied unless they are continually pushed and held up at the front. During the past week some of these parties abused him and he concluded to resign at once. Since he has made his announcement several of the strongest members of the church have requested him to give them dismission cards. Rev. Havice says his resignation did not arise in any way over the attempts to sell the church. That matter, he believes, has blown over, and he thinks the congregation will hold together, but he doubts that it will have another regular pastor.

When called upon a member of the church council laughed when told of the report that the council had resigned. "No," he said "there is no trouble of any account. Of course there are people in the congregation who are like some people in all congregations, but I think the whole matter doesn't amount to sufficient to give occasion for any such reports. Rev. Havice has been an excellent pastor and can leave whether or not his resignation is accepted. He has that right. I believe he has a chance to go to another place where he will get more salary and, of course, he has a perfect right to take it. A meeting of the church council has been called to close up the year's business and as Mr. Havice is determined to go I suppose the council will have to take steps to get another pastor."

The Coming Entertainment.

The Shenandoah Choral Union wishes to thank the HERALD for its recent article in encouragement of the anticipated to be held in Shenandoah next Christmas under the auspices of the Ivesites and for its encouragement of the choral union. The choir met last night. It has doubled in quality and embraces many of the best singers in the town. The conductor, Prof. W. H. Waters, wishes all who would like to join to do so next Sunday evening, as the time for practice is short. A ladies' choir and male party will be formed then. Other towns are organizing choirs, but the Shenandoah people intend to make a determined effort to keep the prizes at home.
