THE EVENING SCHOOLS

Special School Board Meeting Last Night.

THE TEACHERS ELECTED

Seven Schools Will be Opened and a Teacher Has Been Chosen for Each. The Term to Last Four Months—Successful Applicants.

SCHOOL Directors Brennan, Conry, Hanna, Burke, Manley, Lynch, Trezise, O'Hara, Muldoon and Devitt were in attendance at the special meeting of the School Board last night called for the purpose of electing night school teachers. The committee on teachers and salaries and evening schools submitted a joint report in which they recommended that seven evening schools be opened for a term of eight months, one each in the Union, White, Centre and Coal street buildings, one at Turkey Run, and two in the Lloyd street building; that the salary of the Turkey Run school teacher be fixed at $90 per month and the rest at $85; that the janitors of buildings where one night school is held receive $7 per month additional, and $10 where two schools are held.

The report was accepted by the board and all the recommendations were adopted. The following list of fourteen applicants for appointment as night school teachers was read by Secretary Hanna: John R. Schenck, Katie L. Burns, Libbie V. Cavanaugh, Katie M. Connelly, Sadie Raugh, Bridget Flynn, Ida Lewis, Katie Brogan, Julia Donahoe, Margaret Cochlin, Jessie Glover, Julia Creary, F. B. Williams and E. A. Mahala.

There was no debate over the selection of teachers and everything passed off so smoothly and harmoniously that within half an hour after President Conry declared the meeting open all business had been transacted and a motion to adjourn was recorded.

The applicants were elected by each director responding to roll call and designating his vote. The following elections were made: Sadie Raugh, Bridget Flynn, Ida Lewis, Katie Brogan, Julia Donahoe, Margaret Cochlin and Julia Creary.

Superintendent Whitaker will assign the teachers to their respective schools.

POLITICAL POINTS.

A Few Straws Which Show the Way of the Wind.

Surprises may be looked for from unexpected quarters. The Republicans will be more than pleased.

State Chairman Gilkyson is working with his gloves rolled up. Philadelphia will roll up an unprecedented majority for the tariff party. The shut down of Dobson's mills is the last straw.

The Democratic candidates in this county do not seem to trust their chairman, as but few of them have paid him their assessments.

"What is the matter with the Unions?" was asked by one Democrat of another, the other day. They are all right (for the Republicans) this year.

The Populists will have little use for their Democratic ally after this. The Democrats always look out for No. 1. Having succeeded in carrying the county with the aid of the Populists they have no further use for them. But, then, there is another day coming.

When the poor, deluded workmen go to the polls to vote this year they will not stand much tuff from the party that has brought about poor times. No more roster diet for them.

Look out for the National plums after the election. They are about ripe and ready to fall. Congressman Reilly will give the trees a shake about that time.

Dr. Duchert, the Republican candidate for Treasurer, was in town again last evening doing good work. If there is a more confident man in politics than the Doctor we have not met him yet.

"The Bopel bill will pass"—but when? Senator Sherman is a thorn in the sides of the Democrats. He is the peer of them all.

Let Congress adjourn. It has been playing the baby act long enough.

The new tariff bill is almost ready, but are the American workmen to accept starvation wages?

Use WELLS' LAUNDRY BLUE, the best Bluing for laundry use. Each package makes two quarts. 15c. Sold by Coakley Bros.

"The Fairies' Well."

The always welcome Irish play, "The Fairies' Well," comes to Ferguson's theatre Monday, Oct. 30th. It has been changed somewhat from last season, and the changes, it is said, have improved it. Geo. H. Timmons is still the feature, while the company is said to be the best ever seen in the play. New specialties, including selections by "The Fairies' Well" quartette, are introduced. This company have always kept faith with our people and in consequence it enjoys an enviable reputation in Shenandoah, which will be tested by the welcome we will give them Monday night.

OBSE'S OBSERVATIONS.

What He Sees and Hears During His Travels.

While perusing one of the Philadelphia papers recently my eyes fell upon an advertisement reading somewhat like this:

$100 Kentucky bred trotting mare, Annie Miller, bred by Bill Miller, to be by Jim Miller, dam Mary Gray. Annie Miller can trot in 2:27 sound, used as a road and family mare, but lately took fright at the table cars and ran away, and on that account must be sold.

The advertisement was so nicely and frankly framed that at the time I concluded that it held out a rare opportunity for some man wishing a horse with some speed, but upon glancing down the column I noticed a number of advertisements differently worded, but evidently inserted with the same object in view and then I commenced to think and tried to fix in my mind why a man should be willing to part with a thoroughbred mare with a record of 2:27 for the paltry sum of $100!

Finding myself to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion I decided to consult a gentleman in town who has had considerable experience in horse dealing. "Why," said he, he glanced over the advertisement I had clipped from the newspaper, "this is merely a 'typ' scheme. There are several men in town who have learned by experience what such advertisements mean. You see, there are various methods of excuses for the disposal of these supposed excellent horses, and some of them are excellent, but you never get them at last figure. The trick is this: You call upon the advertiser and he treats you royally; takes you to the stable, shows you a fine horse and takes you for a drive behind it through Fairmount Park. You become captivated and try to force the $100 into the owner's hand before you get back to the stable, but he refuses the offer unless you will also take the 'buggy, harness, blankets, etc.' The horse is genuine and you want him, hence you give in and ask the price of the buggy, &c. The answer is any where from $175 to $250. High you think, but then you look at the fine horse you can get for $100, and yet you can't get it unless you also purchase the buggy and 'etc.' Terms of payment come next. The seller is fair, 'give me the cash for the buggy, etc. and pay for my trotter when delivered.' Some times he is still more generous and will say, 'I'll ship the buggy, etc., at once. If you pay for them on delivery I'll ship the trotter later.' Either offer is generally snapped up and the purchaser returns home bubbling over with good spirits and chucking with delight over the surprise he will give his townsmen when the trotter arrives.

"Well the 'buggy, etc.' finally arrives, is paid for, and becomes your property; but the horse fails to arrive and when you seek information you are informed that the dealer is very sorry to be obliged to state that the horse you built so much upon went lame and the dealer could not risk his reputation by selling a horse that was not up to the requirements of the advertisement. Furthermore, he informs you, the horse has been sent to the Kentucky fair and should it recover you will be notified. And there you are! Right in it! You have no 2:27 or 2:25 trotter, but you have 'buggy, harness, blankets, etc.' for which you paid $175 or more and which are really worth about $75 or $100. Do you see the point?"

Contrary to expectations, work on the Lakeside electric railroad has not been started. The public looked for it because the newspapers told them to, and the newspapers made the announcement by authority of Capt. J. F. Bailey. If the latter had sufficient information to make him positive in the matter he should not have made the statement. The people got tired of these announcements and the constant disappointments lead them to lose confidence in the project. Just when everything seems to be arranged satisfactorily the unexpected occurs; something which should have been attended to in the first place turns up as among the forgotten, or neglected things, and the building of the road is put off for another period; then the people begin to "kick" about the obstructions on the streets, the Councilmen become impatient, and unpleasant feelings are created on all sides, all because "something" has been forgotten. I have reached the conclusion that no one knows when work on the road will commence and if I were the editor of the HERALD I would not again announce the beginning until I could see some of the rails and stiles down. Meantime I would lay low and electrify the first one asking "when will the road start?"

PROBABLY A HOAX!

Report of a Deal is Vigorously Denied.

THE ALLEGED BAIT STALE

Some Honor Said To-day That Three Good Borough Offices Had Been Tendered the Polish and Lithuanian People of Town Without Success.

HERE was quite a stir in some of the political circles in town to-day over a report that some of the Democratic leaders last night made a desperate effort to reconcile the Polish voters by a promise of future reward. The party who caused the circulation of the report at the same time stated that the effort was an unsuccessful one, as the parties to whom the proposition was made promptly rejected it.

The alleged proposition was that if the Poles and Lithuanian people of Shenandoah should give the Democratic party their support this fall they would be rewarded next spring with at least three good borough offices.

It is more than likely that the whole story is a fake and was started to make people believe that the Poles and Lithuanians are open to propositions to desert the standard under which Bierstein stands as a candidate.

A HERALD reporter to-day called upon several prominent Poles and Lithuanians who were very influential in local politics and they declared the report a hoax. One of them said with much spirit, "You can say in your paper that we are for Bierstein and the whole Republican ticket. This story is nonsensical. If there was such a meeting I certainly would have heard of it. I know nothing of such a meeting and do not believe one was held."

During the interviews the reporter found that the sentiments of the Polish and Lithuanian people are decidedly anti-Democratic. They ridiculed the alleged offer and asked what inducement the three borough offices would be. "We are looking for a county office now," said one of them, "and will look after borough matters later; but when we do we will want something more than what is depend upon. We cannot count on the Democrats of this town. We have found their springs. They promised us a policeman last spring; did we get one? We had a young lady as an applicant for school teacher before the School Board last June and the only votes she received were from the Republican members of the Board."

In another interview an influential and very prominent man said, "The idea is ridiculous. Why do you think people are so blind as to make a deal with these people here when they are doing all in their power to kill us in districts where our people have no vote? The report is no good. There's nothing in it."

It is quite clear that the report is a hoax, but it would not be surprising if it should be discovered that an attempt had been made to bring about a meeting such as reported, as the Democratic party is badly scared. The attempt will not bear fruit, however, judging from the results of to-day's investigation.

NOT OUR FAULT.

The Railroad Companies Have no Room For Complaint.

One of the P. & O. railroad officials has called attention to the report the HERALD published yesterday of the accident which occurred at the Centre street crossing, and states that it was incorrect. We can only say that the report was based upon the statement of the man who was injured, and if the railroad company was not placed in a proper light the company itself is to blame because of its orders which prohibits its employees giving any information concerning accidents. The newspapers are expected by the public to get the news, and if the railroad employees must have their mouths sealed when given an opportunity to put themselves right no blame can be attached to the newspapers if only one side of the story is given. Some of the most eminent writers in the country have denounced the silence rule of railroad companies, but it has had no effect and we hardly expect our efforts in that direction to bear much fruit. We will continue trying to glean the news and when we run up against the obstacles placed in our way by the railroad company we will seek the next best source of information, being careful at all times not to intentionally misrepresent anyone. More than this we cannot do, and more cannot be expected of us under the circumstances.
