It was not until 1/64 of the Malabelos were killed that the remaining members of the imple refreated and allowed their king's capital to fall into the bands of the British. The British loss was only five men killed.

After Hubiwayo was captured the place was set on fire and burned. The magazine, was set on the sind burnet. Lot magazine, containing the greater part of Lobengula's armunitien, was blown up. It is reported that some of the Matabale commanders committed suicide after the fight at Shan gant, being impolled thereto by the cove ardice shown by their men.

In the house of commons Mr. Henry Las-bouchers, who is bitterly opposed to gov-ernment by chartered companies, and to government by the British South Africa. company in particular, obtained permission to move the adjournment of the house in order to discuss the question of allowing the British South Africa company to establish a claim uponor contract engage-ments requesting Matabale land. Mr. Labouchero declared that when King Lebenguia granted the concession to territory in Mashematand to Mr. Rudd on which the British South Africa com-pany was founded by was ignorant that he thus gave the whites the right to dig gold anywhere in his territory. When he learned this he repudiated his action. The concession, Mr. Labouchere declared, was obtained by trickery.

Mr. Gladstone said that the government did not desire to be disassociated with what had occurred in Matabele land. He did not agree with the statement that the company had tried to swindle the British public. The company had met with great difficulties owing to the Matabele raids, which was a support of the Matabele raids, which was a support of the Matabele raids. which were a source of serious danger to new industries in Mashenaland, Mr. Labouchers was wrong in assuming that King Lobengula was master in his own country. On the contrary, the younger men had forced the king's hand, and the government was forced to demand that he maintain peace and prevent further raids. The government could not assume the responsibility of acceding to Mr. Labou-chare's request for the pre-unptory cos-sation of hostilities, and he thought that the discussion had been carried quite far enough.
