SEVERAL BRANCHES!
Miners and Laborers Organize in Earnest.

THE ORGANIZER REPORTS.
Two Branches are Already in Line and Mahanoy City, Gilberton, Lost Creek, Grantsville and York Farm Will Fall in Two Weeks.

FTER much discouragement and hard and persistent work the re-organization of the Miners' & Laborers' Amalgamated Association is now a certainty. Mr. George Harris, the ex-State President of the Association, has been busy the past week making a thorough canvass of the county and returned to town to-day in order to rest over Sunday. He says he finds the men in every place he visits very anxious for organization, but in each instance there seems to be a will but no way. They are all anxious to join, but each man is waiting for the other to take the initial step.

This has been one of the principal sources of discouragement, but it now seems about overcome and within a short time there will be a number of thriving branches of the association in this county. Thus far there are seven joint organizations in sight. A Shenandoah branch, embracing all the collieries, was ceremoniously organized last Thursday evening; last night a branch was started at Colorado; to-night one will start at Grantsville; Monday evening the men at York Farm will organize; Tuesday evening the Gilberton men will get together; on Wednesday the Mahanoy City men will fall into line; next Thursday the Shenandoah men will meet for regular business and it is quite likely that the advisability of establishing a branch for each colliery will be discussed; on Friday next the Colorado branch will hold its first regular meeting and on the same night Mr. Harris will organize a branch at Lost Creek; to-morrow (Sunday) evening the Polos and Lithuanians of Shenandoah will establish a branch of their own.

"No one but myself knows the trouble I have experienced in getting the movement on foot," said Mr. Harris to-day. "I entered upon the work because men on all sides told me they were waiting for the word, but when I stepped forward I found but a small percentage of them willing to help arrange the preliminaries and for a time I was very much discouraged. Another difficulty I encountered was deception. In several instances I met men who greeted me cordially and urged me on in what they said was good work, but later I found out they really had no sympathy with the cause. For instance, the other night a man urged me to hold a meeting at a certain place and volunteered to take several of my notices of meeting and have them properly distributed and posted. On the night designated I was surprised upon reaching the place to find that none of the notices had been issued and the handful of notices I found at the place said they received their notices through the newspapers. I also learned that the man who volunteered to do so much for me was an underboss in one of the mines. But in spite of all these tricks and the discouragement I have succeeded in planting a number of branches which will soon prosper and lead to the organization of others."

ON THE STREET.
A Pot-Plant of What the Reporters Hear. Spring politics are already the topics of discussion and candidates are becoming numerous. Col. J. K. P. Schreyer, James M. Kalbach and James Tompsett are among the latest on the list as aspirants for Chief Burgesses.

There is a rumor that an effort will be made to do away with the Citizens' party and have the spring fight made on Republican and Democratic lines.

Supervisor Howell had men with horses and carts at work cleaning rubbish from the streets yesterday. This is money well spent. If the streets can't be paved let them be kept clean, by all means.

The ordinance prohibiting the throwing of paper on the streets should be enforced by the Chief Burgesses.

The borough is mesodizing East Lloyd street, between the Lehigh Valley railroad and Erie street. The residents of that vicinity say the stone is the first put on the street since its opening.

Complaint is made that the west end of Raspberry alley is in a bad sanitary condition.

On and after Friday next the ordinance conferring power upon the Board of Health will be in force. The members of the board say that they will then make all persons comply with the law, or learn the reason why they don't.

A number of the young people of town at tended the social of the C. C. club at Mt. Carmel last night. The famous Schoppe orchestra of town furnished the dancing music.

SOLDIERS' MONUMENT.
A Meeting Held to Revive the Project.

TO BE PUSHED AHEAD.

Delegates Held a Conference Last Night and a Committee Was Appointed to Devise Means for Increasing the Fund Now in Hand.

LAST evening a meeting was held in Refowski's hall, after the adjournment of the regular meeting of Wain Wainers' Post No. 146, G. A. R., to revive the soldiers' monument movement. A number of delegates from different societies of the town were present and the president of the committee, Thomas J. James, occupied the chair.

Remarks were made by the representatives showing that there is a strong sentiment in the town in favor of pushing the project to an end which will result in the erection of the monument next summer, but as the committee had been dormant for several months it was concluded not to take any definite action towards devising means for raising funds until the next meeting, which will be held on Friday, 17th inst.

A committee was appointed to consider suggestions for raising funds and make a recommendation to the general committee at the next meeting.

The project has been revived at this time because the winter and spring are the best seasons of the year for giving, festivals, fairs or other entertainments, should the committee decide to give any, and the experience of the past has shown that such a project requires months of labor, therefore the start now makes it not too early if the monument is to be erected by next summer.

OBE'S OBSERVATIONS.
What He Sees and Hears During His Travels.

If people who have the time and will take the trouble to work out the following problem it will show exactly what some other people think they are. Place the year of birth on a piece of paper, add the age at birthday last year, (not this year), multiply the result by 1,000 and subtract 677,423. Substitute for figures letters of the alphabet, a for 1, b for 2, c for 3, etc., and read the rest very carefully.

The western train robberies have had an effect upon the railway officials of the East. Should train robbers attempt to go through the United States Express Co.'s trains on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western R. R., says a Scranton paper, they would meet with a warm reception. The express messengers are not only supplied with revolvers and Winchester rifles, but two Winchesters are placed in each engine for use by the engineer and fireman. The conductors and brakemen are also armed with revolvers. It is also contemplated to arm the trainmen on all passenger trains on the road on which express packages are carried.

A physician says that the widespread fear of disease germs is largely groundless. "Everything," he says, "is full of germs or crusted with them, but every germ is not harmful. Every disease germ on the body does not produce a disease. If it did there would not be a person on the face of the earth to-morrow. People lived before disease germs were known and were as healthy as we are to-day. They lived as carefully as we do—perhaps more so. We cannot avoid contact with disease germs, but we can do what is better, strengthen the body so that it resists them as easily as a lion can a flea. Some scientists pretend to deplore a lack of prevention people take against germs. It is simply because the people use deplorable theories that every germ doesn't produce sickness any more than every man is a murderer. Every man may possibly be one, but he would not be justified in going armed on that account."

THRILLING RUNAWAY.
A Sensation on Main Street Last Evening.

HORSES ON A RAMPAGE.

They Slept Along the Thoroughfare Almost From one End to the Other and Several People Had Narrow Escapes—One Horse Was Badly Injured.

N exciting runaway occurred on Main street about five o'clock last evening and several people and horses had narrow escapes. John Hazeldine, resident of Catawissa valley, spent yesterday in town and about the hour above named started up the hill at the north end of Main street seated in a wagon drawn by two horses. Just before reaching the turn at the foot of the steep mountain road Hazeldine stopped the horses and left them standing at the side of the road while he went to look at an object he saw near the "Hookie" dam.

The horses stood quietly for a few moments and then suddenly wheeled about and dashed down the hill towards Main street. The heavy grade of the road gave the wagon great momentum and at times it threatened to crowd down the horses, but the latter kept to their feet and in the lead. At the side of Main street, in front of Johnson's lumber yard, stood a horse and light wagon. The vehicle drawn by the runaways struck the other with such force as to knock it high into the air and it fell upon the back of the horse which was crushed to the ground and temporarily stunned, but in a moment or two it regained its feet, broke away from the overturned wagon and dashed after the runaways.

The liberated horses overtook the team at Coal street and then for about eight yards the three dashed along abreast. The heavy wagon handicapped the team, however, and the third animal soon took the lead. Away they dashed down Main street with the unburdened horse to the lead and the two others trying to keep at his heels. The heavy wagon slipped almost from one side of the street to the other, now it would drop into a rut, and the next instant it would bound high in the air. Men, women and children screamed as they sought safety in stores, and those who remained on the pavements expected every moment to see collisions with wagons and teams standing along the curbs, but fortunately the runaways kept pretty well in the centre of the roadway. At the corner of Main and Oak streets Hazeldine's team, being pretty well winded, was captured. The other horse was caught at the corner of Main and Cherry streets. When examined one of Hazeldine's horses was found to have sustained a severe wound. The broken point of the wagon pole had been jabbed into its side. The wound was a terrible one, but the horse remained on its feet after the pole was pulled out and the owner hitched it to the wagon again with the other horse and started for home.

"Nobody's Claim."

The next production at Ferguson's theatre, will be the perennial border drama, "Nobody's Claim," with the young actor, E. A. Warren, as the hero, supported with perhaps the best cast with which the popular play has ever been attempted in its long career of prosperity. There is a dash and a charm about this story of "Nobody's Claim" which never fails to carry its audience.
