THE DAY'S GLEANINGS

Some Effects of the Sudden Cold Snap.

WELCOMED BY MINERS!

If the Present Weather Continues it Will in all Probability Result in Keeping the Mines Working on the Present Schedule, Other Work.

THE winter season is here with all its freezing characteristics and the small boy's rhyme to the effect that "your nose is red, the violets blue, see your nose like, as thick as glue," comes in very appropriately. The cold weather increased in severity yesterday, accompanied by winds, and continued so all night and this morning. It was bitter cold last night and few people ventured out upon the streets. At one time the thermometer showed that the temperature was but five degrees above the freezing point.

There was only one piece of mischief done by the gales which arose yesterday and that affected the street electric light system. When the hour arrived to turn on the current last evening it was found that none of the arc lamps would burn. A test showed there was a break some place, and George Lomborg and George Seager started out to find it.

It was a cold and tedious job, but after a search of two hours they located the trouble at the corner of Jardin and Lloyd streets, where a lamp by rapid swinging to and fro on account of the gales had become disconnected.

The employees of the Shenoykill Traction Company suffered from the sudden change in the weather yesterday and today. The freezing gales sweeping over the platform of the cars made the position of the men extremely uncomfortable, and when their cars stopped at a turnout or other point of delay they eagerly sought the shelter of the cars.

If there are any employees who have decided to give up work on the road for the winter this weather will cause them to resign very soon. Despite the cold weather Mr. Watts, the representative of the Selsley Manufacturing Company of New York, which has the contract for all the overhead electrical work on the Lakeside Electric Railway, started men this morning on the pole and wiring of the line. This was a cold job, but as many of them are old hands at the work brought from other places, and many of the town men employed had similar experience when the Shenoykill Traction Company's line was constructed, the freezing weather did not prevent the force from working.

The change is welcomed with delight by the miners. It makes travel to and from the mines and their home very uncomfortable, and in some cases disastrous, but they will gladly put up with this in return for steady work, and a hard winter generally means an increase demand for coal, which should mean more work for the miners.

On Tuesday it was reported that orders had been sent out from Philadelphia to the effect that owing to the mild weather the P. & R. colleries would shut down two days in each week. If the weather was the sole cause of this decision it is safe to say that the company has changed its mind within the past forty-eight hours.

An Interesting Letter. After being sick with Lung, Liver and Kidney trouble, and after trying several of our most eminent physicians and obtaining no relief, I took Microbe Killer. It cured me. Mr. Joseph B. Freeman, Portsmouth, N. H.

THE TRACTION COMPANY. Interesting Items Concerning the Operation of Its Lines. A few days ago a report was circulated that the Shenoykill Traction Company contemplated making a reduction in the wages of its employees. A gentleman connected with the company has declared the report a false one. Positions on the road are not much sought after in the winter season; in fact, a number of men who have been serving as motor men and conductors are throwing up the positions to go back to the mines.

The walls under the boilers at the Haystack power house have sprung badly and the company has a force of men on to repair them.

USE DANA'S SARSAPARILLA, ITS "THE KIND THAT CURES." Union Meetings. The camps of the P. O. S. of A. in this district have decided upon holding union meetings every month during the winter. The district is presided over by District President S. L. Brown, of town, and it was through his efforts that the meetings were arranged, the first of which will be held to-morrow evening in the lodge room of Camp 235, of Lost Creek. Representatives from all camps in the district will be present, and a good time is expected.

WASHINGTON WHISPERINGS.

Some Interesting Details of Affairs of National Importance.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 15.—There are two things uppermost in the thoughts and words of the residents of the Capitol in these days. They are the elections and an American policy of the Administration in regard to Hawaii. In the matter of the result of the elections and the effect it is likely to have on the legislation, particularly the tariff legislation of the next Congress, a great deal of interest is manifested. The battle between the two parties with protection or free trade the ruling issue, having resulted in a victory so overwhelmingly in favor of the former, the opinion at once gained currency that the Democratic party in Congress would be so influenced thereby as to greatly modify its intended course in reference to the new tariff bill now being formulated.

While such a course would be in accord with the wishes of the people, as expressed by them so abundantly in their votes, no such good fortune can be looked for. It is now contended that the late election had absolutely no significance as far as the proposed action of the Democrats relative to the tariff is concerned. From such a contention it is an easy step to a continued adherence to its policy by the present majority in Congress, and as is well known the Ways and Means Committee are hard at work preparing the bill which is to be submitted to the public ere long as an embodiment of Democratic doctrine in regard to the protection or destruction of American industries.

Chairman Wilson has announced his purpose of bringing in a bill, no part of which shall be different from what it would have been had the vast majorities which were rolled up for protection been on the other side.

What the result will be when the majority bill has been reported and how it will be received is a matter of conjecture. As yet no information as to what innovations the proposed bill introduces has been given out, although from a reliable source it is learned that it will embody all the minor bills known as "pop gun bills" which were passed by the last House. These put on the free list blinding twine, cotton, logging, jute, etc.

This determination on the part of the Democratic leaders to persist in a policy which the American voters have so vigorously rejected is sure to call down on their heads unflinching censure, but not in a greater degree nor less deservingly than that of which the Administration, Secretary Gresham especially, is now being made the recipient on account of the startling position taken relative to Hawaii and its governmental complications.

In this connection there is an important fact which the opponents of the present policy sometimes overlook. While Gresham is the author and originator of the report which inaugurates this change in our attitude to Hawaii, yet President Cleveland is positive in his assertions that he is in thorough accord with the opinion of the Secretary of State, and more than that, Gresham's position is endorsed by every member of the cabinet, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding. So that the action taken by which the forces of the United States are to be a party to the restoration into power of a disunited and incertuous Queen is the act of the Democratic party in power, and not simply that of one who "betrayed and deserted the great political party whose honors he had shared," because, as ex-Minister Stevens alleges, of his intense hostility to ex-President Harrison and Secretary Blaine.

This action, in a matter in which the American people feel deeply interested, is but another rock upon which the Democratic party is splitting. Prominent members of the Democracy are not slow in denouncing the course pursued, and when Senator Morgan, than whom no man in public life is better informed in all matters pertaining to our foreign relations, openly condemns the policy which at present obtains, the Democrats may well pause in their headstrong course and ask, "Whither are we drifting?"

What Little Fights Will Ultimately Become.

GUilty AND NOT GUILTY.

Another Warning to Mutual Friends—It is Cheaper to Stand Aside and See the Fight Out Than to Interfere—So Says the Law.

AMONG the cases tried at the Potomac court today in which town parties are interested was that in which the following statement of facts was made: On the evening of August 25th last, a number of Polish people became involved in a quarrel at a boarding house on East Lloyd street kept by one Carl Golewski.

Among the participants in the affray was one Joseph Danfiski, and he was being badly beaten when John Gurney came upon the scene and went to the assistance of the victim.

Gurney met with the fate of all mutual friends, and the friends of Danfiski, John Young and a number of others pounced upon him. Gurney was dragged into the boarding house and severely beaten. He subsequently sued Young and his companions before Justice Walker and the suit was settled by Young paying the costs.

Later on Young prosecuted Gurney for assault and battery and as the parties could not agree upon a settlement the case came up for trial before Judge Weidman to-day. Messrs. Helzer and Whalen appearing for Young and M. M. Burke, Esq., appearing for Gurney.

The case occupied the morning session of the court, during which eleven witnesses were called for the prosecution and five for the defense.

The jury retired at about 11 a. m. and returned a verdict of "not guilty, defendant to pay one-third of the costs and the prosecutor two-thirds."

A Correspondent Writes the Sun of the General Issue.

EDITOR HERALD:—Your paper is essentially an American newspaper—that is, it reflects the political, religious and moral notions of the educated native-born citizen. Because of this fact, and because, too, I have never seen in its pages any admissions of the fact I shall speak of, I write. The Irish at home are held down—not subdued, but held down—by England, and this not so much by force as race prejudice and religious bigotry. Under these conditions of repression the Irish character has but little opportunity for full unfoldment and exercise. Still, the persistent courage of the race is ever alert, and gives to England much and constant trouble.

It is in this country, where men have freer play for their abilities, that Irishmen come to the front and show their powers. Here in all fields of activity they display their genius and pre-eminence. In politics they stand alone. They are the rulers of the non-union city and state of New York, and of most of the principal cities of the Union, while their place in National politics is steadily broadening. And you must own that it is not by numbers they have gained their distinction. It is not, therefore, through their native force and genius. Where, may I ask, are the Germans, English, French and other foreign-born citizens in American affairs?

That time was when an Irish Catholic could not be elected Mayor of our great cities. Now no other can be. Who managed the last presidential campaign of the two great parties? Irish Catholics. The German, French and Italian people constitute a respectable portion of the Catholic church of this country, but who are at its head and control its policy? Irishmen. And an Irishman will yet be Pope. Early educated Americans unequal to meet the battle of life are many. Irishmen, of like attainments, few indeed. The duties of policeman, fireman, soldier and sailor demand the sterling virtues of courage and hardihood. Irishmen and their sons fill the bill and most of the places. In all manly sports Irishmen stand first as individuals. In base ball, foot ball, rowing, boxing, etc., and in the athletic arena, because of courage, determination and endurance—all model qualities—they have no peers. As statesmen, lawyers, orators, poets and scholars, Irishmen excel. Even the "ignorant laborer"—and he is many—possesses a strong individuality that contrasts sharply with those of like lowly condition of other nations. And why multiply these facts? They are known to all intelligent persons, even when their pride and prejudice forbid their acknowledgment.

PERSONAL. Constable Thomas Tish spent a part of yesterday at Reading.

Mrs. Daniel Barbach, of Potomac, visited friends in town yesterday.

Charles Derr, the (socialist) actor, walked over from Franklinville this morning.

Dr. Williams of Ke-Do's bus, is in town and intends starting in business here again.

David E. James and John McGinnis, of the Cambridge Coal Company, are in Philadelphia in the interest of the company.

John T. Housenick, of the Shenandoah Manufacturing Company, is recovering from the spell of sickness from which he suffered the past week.

Down's Elbow will cure any cough or cold no matter of how long standing. 1m

Another Industry. With the opening of next week Shenandoah will have another industry in operation. The Steam Renovating Company will then be prepared to accept all orders for cleaning carpets, feathers, mattresses and other goods. The company has leased the factory recently vacated by the Shenandoah Manufacturing Company, on North Bowers street, and for the past two weeks has been busy putting in machinery and fixtures of various kinds necessary for its operations. It will be the only plant of the kind north of the Broad Mountain and there is only one other in the county.

Do not suppose that because it is recommended for animals that Arnica & Oil Liniment is an offensive preparation. It will not stain clothing or the finest skins. 1m

Mr. Moughan's Condition. Michael Moughan, who was attacked by apoplexy while descending a stairway at his residence on West Centre street Tuesday, and fractured his skull by falling to the bottom of the stairway, is still in an uncertain condition. He is about the same as he was yesterday. He is conscious, but speechless.
