SLOWLY BUT SURELY

Progress of Re-organizing the Miners and Laborers.

MR. HARRIS INDUSTRIOUS

Committee to be Appointed to Explain the Objects of the M. & L. A. A. to Those Who Have Not Joined—There May be a Mass Meeting Next Friday.

GEORGE HARRIS, who is engaged in re-organizing the Miners and Laborers' Amalgamated Association, was in town yesterday and stated that his work is progressing slowly but surely. When the movement was first begun there was such a lukewarm spirit that but little attention was given to the details of organization. Now however some of the men of more systematic minds who have drifted into the ranks are taking a hand in the plans for re-organization and within a short time everything will be on a firm basis. One of the plans is to have a committee of those influential men of each nationality appointed to work among their fellow laborers and explain to them the objects of the M. & L. A. A. and bring them into the organization.

While the movement has not succeeded in bringing the men together in large numbers in the various districts it has been very successful in that it has made a start with men who can be relied upon to push the work ahead and render able assistance to the organizer.

The committee above referred to will be appointed at once and it is likely quite likely that if next Friday is an idle day at the mines there will be a grand mass meeting in this town, which will be addressed by Daniel Duffy and others who sympathize with the cause of labor.

Last night Mr. Harris met the miners and laborers at Yorkville and found them as enthusiastic as ever. In the cause of the M. & L. A. A.

OBSE'S OBSERVATIONS.

What He Sees and Hears During His Travels About Town.

I heard a prominent man say once that he never entered a public assembly or building of any size without mentally taking notes of all possible means of escape in case of an emergency. I have thought of this often since then and have tried to profit thereby.

The sight of a woman pulling a young man by his coat tail caused considerable amusement for bystanders. She was trying, in a forcible manner, to persuade the aforesaid young man to assist her in loading a stove on an electric car.

One of the easiest ways to get a lot of men arguing is to exhibit your watch and praise its good qualities. Every woman thinks her baby the best and prettiest, and every man thinks he carries the finest watch in town. Try it.

Strange, isn't it, that a man who shaves himself will back and slash his face-time and again without a murmur, but will growl and kick if a barber makes a little scratch upon his face. I saw a practical illustration of this the other evening. The next time you visit a barber shop keep your eyes open and you will probably spot the guilty party.

I am in favor of cremation, but not in the manner of a certain railroader who doesn't live many miles from here. The other day this certain individual threw a live dog into a locomotive fire box. He had followed the dog justice would have been satisfied.

Do not swing your hands when passing a dog on the street. Like the gun that wasn't loaded, the animal might "go off." The dog that appears the quietest may give you a bite.

I heard a good story the other day about a night operator, who works at a lonely station not many miles from Shenandoah. This operator is certainly a genius. It appears he has a weakness for "pounding his car," or, in plain English, sleeping on duty. In order to do this effectively he hit upon the happy scheme of placing a Kofak in such a position that every time a train passed, when the instrument was set, it would take a snap shot of the passing engine. This young man gained such a reputation for never having a train marked "missed" that he soon received a promotion. It was due, however, more to his bright mind rather than his faithfulness to duty.

The same individual also told me of a novel scheme invented another operator, who was troubled with the same weakness as the aforesaid young man. This operator is stationed this side of Mauch Chunk and whenever he became sleepy while on duty he ties one end of a string to the rail and the other to a coal bucket, the latter being suspended from the door. A train coming along would cut the string, causing the bucket to fall and awaken the sleeping operator. He however became so accustomed to hearing the bucket drop that it finally failed to accomplish the desired effect, and he was compelled to invent another scheme. He procured a rope, tied one end to the rail and the other to his leg, keeping it taut. This scheme worked well enough until one night the rope was noticed by an engineer, who stopped his engine to investigate the cause. The crew, always ready for a joke, untied the rail end of the rope, and with a pull, a strong pull, and pull altogether, they landed the operator high in the air. This young man still works at night, but does not, however, sleep as much as formerly.

THE LEHIGH STRIKE!

It is Spreading on the Local Division.

MEN AT DELANO STRIKE.

Brotherhood Firemen Quit Work This Morning and Brakemen Refuse to Take Their Places—The Brotherhood Engineers May be Called Out To-night.

HE strikes on the Lehigh Valley Railroad is spreading in this district. To day a number of Brotherhood firemen struck at Delano and several coal trains were side tracked, as the brakemen refused to take the firemen's places.

It was said this morning that all the engineers belonging to the Brotherhood will be called out to-night.

There has been but little freight traffic over the local branch of the Lehigh Valley Railroad since Sunday.

The danger of a meat famine in town is over. A beef car arrived in town this morning, over the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad. All shipments of beef will be made over that line until the Lehigh Valley trouble is adjusted.

Some of the coal trains which passed through town to-day having new firemen were espied by loungers at the Lehigh Valley depot this afternoon and were greeted with shouts of "Shab! shab!"

The passenger trains have not been keeping up with the schedule time. The New York mail which was due here at 2:37 yesterday afternoon did not arrive until 7 o'clock last night.

W. T. Woodring, a traveling agent, was thoroughly disgusted when he arrived here yesterday. He left Allentown at 7 o'clock in the morning and by traveling via Mauch Chunk, Hazleton and Delano and laying off at each of the places for trains succeeded in reaching here at 5:55 yesterday afternoon.

Feasting on the Election. Before the late election Hon. J. J. Coyle and "Tom" Joyce, of Mahanoy City, wagered an oyster supper on the naming of the most numerous winning candidates. Joyce went with his fellow Democrats before the gale and last night he killed two birds with one stone by paying the bet and at the same time opening the new hotel of Misses Ellen and Annie McNulty in Mahanoy City. The supper was served at 12 o'clock and was an excellent one. Among those who occupied seats at the tables were Hon. J. J. Coyle, Hon. D. D. Phillips, of Gordon; Hon. C. N. Brumm, of Minersville; Clerk of Courts-elect A. J. Shortall, Recorder Schourman, County Commissioners-elect Reutz and Allen, Prothonotary-elect Deegan, J. Harry James, Esq., Daniel Duffy, Maurice Litch, John A. Sullivan, Thomas Jones, R. J. Yost, F. C. Reese, M. C. Reinhold, Esq., Editor Parker, Martin Lawlor and Auditor-elect Samuels. There were numerous speeches and songs and the party did not disperse until four o'clock this morning. The Misses McNulty have one of the finest hostesses in Mahanoy City.

A Great Show. "The Dazzler" was presented at Ferguson's theatre last night before a crowded house. It was the funniest show of the season and the company will be cordially received on its return here on the 28th inst. The comedy is extremely funny and is interpreted by a company of excellent talent.

Colliery Idle. The timber in No. 3 slope of Turkey Run colliery gave way this morning, necessitating the shutting down of the colliery. The damage will probably be repaired in time to resume operations to-morrow.

THE DOUGHERTY CASE.

The Defendant Escapes Severe Punishment on a Technicality.

The case of Mrs. J. J. Dougherty against her husband for assault and battery, surety and non-support was tried before Judge Albright yesterday. The complainant was represented by W. D. Seltzer and M. M. Burke, Esqs., and the defendant was represented by George J. Wadlinger, Arthur L. Shay and J. H. Pomeroy, Esq.

Mr. Burke opened the assault and battery case in behalf of the Commonwealth with a recital of the circumstances that led up to the charge against the defendant. He referred to the marriage of the parties four years ago and said that much happiness was expected from the union, but the defendant had proved false to his marriage vows and had turned his attention to and lavished his time and means upon other women, and that the place in his heart which should have been reserved for his innocent and devoted wife was usurped by the defendant's paramour. The case, he said, was remarkable and full of sadism. It was remarkable in the result attending it, namely: that the poor, defenceless wife was driven into a court of justice to seek redress for a wrong done her by him who should be the sharer of her joys and sorrows—her husband. Mr. Burke dwelt at some length and with considerable force upon the manner in which he and his colleagues proposed to prove their case and the circumstances that would be detailed to the jury, and concluded by asking the jury for a conviction.

Mrs. Dougherty then took the stand and testified in detail as to the assault committed upon her on the night of October 12th, the facts of which have appeared in the columns of the Herald. The clothing she wore on that occasion, tattered and torn into shreds, were given by her in evidence and they presented a sorry spectacle. All of her clothing, the outer and under garments, were there and reminded one of the remnants of clothing which dogs had tugged at for considerable time. Mrs. Dougherty's testimony was corroborated by that of Mrs. Womer, Mrs. Boland and Miss Finnegan, her neighbors.

The defense made very little cross-examination and depended chiefly upon the point of law involving the question as to whether the wife was justified in taking the letter from her husband's pocket—the letter he had received from his paramour, and whether the defendant was not justified in using reasonable force to recover it. The only witness called for the defense was Dougherty himself. He acknowledged the taking of the letter and the assault with his wife for the recovery of it.

J. H. Pomeroy, Esq., made a dramatic stumbling up and his friends who were in the court room declared it one of his most brilliant efforts.

After the case was given to the jury Judge Albright took up the cases of surety and desertion, they not being jury cases. The letter which the Judge refused to admit in evidence in the assault and battery case was admitted in the other cases and the Judge said it made a prima facie case to bind the defendant to support his wife and child. The Judge directed the defendant to pay $6 per week to his wife and furnish a bond in the sum of $700 to secure the payment.

The verdict in the assault and battery case was not guilty, but pay the costs, in addressing the defendant the Judge said: "The jury has acquitted you purely on a technicality."

Sustains the "Herald."

The following interesting item is taken from the Boston (Mass.) Weekly Journalist: "THE EVENING HERALD of Shenandoah recently gave an account of a railroad accident at the place, which the railroad company claimed was innocent and an injustice to the corporation. The report published was obtained from the man injured, as the railway officials refused to impart any information concerning the accident. Whether the HERALD's report was right or wrong, its position is not one that is open to censure or criticism. The paper did its duty. It gave the news as best it could. Had the railroad company not adhered to their rule of silence, both sides of the case would have been presented. A newspaper never throws aside a good news feature because the secondary principals refused to be interviewed. If there is any injustice done it is never intentional, and the silent parties alone are to blame."

Expensive Economy.

Some people begrudge the little money that an Alcock's Porous Plaster costs, and then when they are racked with pain from a lame back, or from the soreness arising from a cold, they will spend any amount of money to relieve the pain. If they had one of these world renowned plasters on hand they would be saved a vast amount of suffering and be considerably richer. At the first sign of stiffness of the joints apply one of these plasters without any delay. The soreness will be greatly relieved at once and soon disappear entirely. It will be money saved to have them on hand, to say nothing of the comfort they bring.

Brandreth's Pills contain no laxative matter.

Mayor of Richmond.

George Robinson, the North Main street saddler, has received a message announcing the election of his father as Mayor of Richmond, England. The Chronicle of that place in speaking of the election, devotes considerable space to refer to Mr. Robinson as a man who acquired an independency by hard work and energy and has made himself prominent by reason of his zeal for the good of the inhabitants of Richmond at large.
