THE STRIKE STILL ON.

The Usual Predictions of Success by Both Sides.

TRAINS RUNNING IEREGULARLY.

The Blockade of Freight and Coal Traffic Seems to be Complete-Alleged Detectives Offer to Blow Up Bridges to Aid the Strikers.

With residence, Pa., Nov. 21 - At a meeting of the Lebigh Varios relived strikers lost night the "securing" committee re-ported that only two toen had descried the ranks. One was a bacongerman and the other a passenger brairman. Both of these were offered a month's pay in adthese were offered a month's pay in ad-eaner if they would keep away from the rallroad, but they refused the offer. One-of the men said he had been grounded pro-motion if he would return to work. Tele-grams were receipted at the mosting from atrikers in other places, requesting them to stand from and not to believe any ve-ports sent out from liminio and Philadel-phia that the strikers were weskerding. The the up has brought a great many The though him brought a great many tramps to town, who pass themselves of tramps to town, who pass themselves off as mirrorders. They are a tough looking growd, and the polles expect many burg-larles. The Bretherhood men say there are no rathronders among the whole crowd of "burns" thus far seen in the city. Some of the tramps applied for work as freight brakenion, but their appearance con-demned them, and none were employed. Superintendent Esser says, "We don't want brakenies so much as we do engi-mens."

It was impossible to take out the east-It was impossible to take out the eastern train due to leave here at 5:10 until 8 o'clock instavening. An engineer from a southern road who had just arrived and applied for work was put in charge. He had as pilot a train dispatcher. An attempt was made to move a freight train at Cortus leat average but in at Coxton last evening, but it proved a failure. Both the engineer and fireman were persuaded to leave the cab by the

"I don't want my name mentioned in the papers," said one of the leaders, "but you can state positively that we are to a man of the opinion that we will win this

What grounds have you for believing

Well, in the first place, no set of men ever went into a strike so thoroughly or-ganized and so well propared to stand a period of idleness as we are today."
"What do you mean when you say well prepared!

A Big Strike Fund.

"Simply this. The Brotherhood of Lo-comotive Engineers has what is known as a strike fund, aggregating $70,000, inde-pendent of other funds of the organiza-tion's treasury. Of this, each engineer tion's treasury. Of this, each engineer will receive half the amount he would reseive from the company were he to remain

"How long would that amount last "Now long would that amount mate among the men now out?"
"Well, it wouldn't last a great while if it were not replenished. It's like this: As long as this strike continues every memher of the Brotherhood now working on railroads in the United States is assessed a certain amount, which is used in sus-taining the strike fund." "Have you may other reason for believ-ing the strike will be a successful one?"

"Yes, many more. The issuance of misleading bulletins to the press by the com-pany isons reason. The officials paint the situation in bright colors, but I can tell you positively that they can't muster a corporat's guard in any department."

Superintendent Esser sent for John H.
Rice, chairman of the Brotherhood of Losion and representative on the grievane ommittee of all the employes of this "John." said the superintendent, "I am very acry over the turn affairs have taken. I have sent for you, however, to say that we don't propose to be laterfered with in running one trains. We will not tolerate any intimidation or violence. I am told that you boarded Henry Smitham that that you boarded Heary Smith-core's engine this morning and intimi-dated him from keeping on with his train."

"I deny that I got on the engine." re-plied kies. "I deny that I used any threat or intimidation whatever. I reminded Smithcore of a feemer conversation, and he replied: 'By God, I'll stand by you,'"

"Not only you, but your men are re-ported to me as intimidating our men who are at work," continued the superin-tendent. "They visited their homes last night, and as a result many of the men have not reported today."

Rice again denied that he had used any intimidating imprage, but insisted on his right to appeal to men's sense of justice. The interview ended with a gentle inti-mation from the superintendent that it-might be necessary for the company to call on the authorities for protection. President William arrived in this city last night and had a long conference with the rathroad officials here.

Will Not Import Pinkertons. President Wilbur was interviewed by our correspondent, and said: "The men want recognition, but they won't get it. I expect the strike to end in a few days, and the authorities must preserve order if there is any trouble. I don't propose to impact Pinkersons."

The situation lore becomes more grave as the strike grown older. Officials are only acquainted with late happenings on the Lebigh division of the Lebigh Valley rational, and matters are growing worse at Packetton, where trains are made up. Freight and roat brakemen are going out. Only eight coal and freight trains out of about eighty were moved yesterday. Su-perintentient William says that not a single passenger brakeman or conductor has struck on this division. The total number of men out on thus division is close on to Reports from various points along the line show that at Manch Chunk only malltrains are running, and these are delayed. Funkhannock reports that it is impossible to run on schedule time, and that incompetent men are being engaged by the company. At Easton the company has a num-ber of non-union men employed, but trains are running indifferently. The same con-dition of affairs is reported at bethlehem, Bartacilla and the company of the c Pottsville and other points. The men on the branch lines still at work will reluse to take trains our on the main line. not unlikely that those man will be ar dered out tonight.

terview without a knowledge of the participants.

John J. Hannohan, scalor grand master of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, says that one of the men, calling himself Howard B. Johns, accompanied by a man be introduced as "Mr. Atkinson," had called to see Mr. Wilkins on Saturday, but without success.

When the men called again yesterday
Johns explained that both Mr. Sweigard and Mr. Voorbees had "turned him down," and he now wanted to get even with them.
His own words were: "We will do anything the committee may nek from destroying a bridge to blowing up a round house." The men were then ordered from the room.

In speaking of his talk with Johns on Saturday, Mr. Hannohan said:

"He told me that he had rendered valuable mulstance in defeating the Knights of Labor at their Port Richmond strikes, and was also employed against the Knights some years are on the New York Control ome years ago on the New York Central strike, for which services he was made as-sistant trainmaster on the Philadelphia and Reading railroad at Reading."

Thomas Alica said that he recognized Johns as the man who appeared as a wit-ness in a bribery case here two weeks ago, and under oath stated that he was a deective in the employ of one of the large igencies of the country. Mr. Wilkins would not discuss the case further than to say that Johns was only carrying out the program his employers had laid down for him to follow, and that If the committee had agreed to accept the proposition all hands would now have been under arrest.

Acting General Manager Theodore Voorhess returned from Bethlehem, where he had been in consultation with President Wilbur, of the Lehigh Valley railroad. In reference to the sirike, Mr. Voorhers said that President Wilbur was confident the present difficulties would not just more than two or three days, as plenty of memployed workmen were to be had. He said that a number of engineers, fire-Hera and transmen, both from here and Jersey City, had left Philadelphia for Hethlichem. He had received word from the trainmaster at Hethlichem not to send any more men from Philadelphia, as he had enough there to work with.

Mr. Voorhees said that possenger trains were maying with fail little delay, and that some coal trains were running be-tween Manch Chunk and Bethlehem. He asserted that all the telegraph offices of the company were manned, and that only thirty-two of the 300 operators joined the Vice President Garrett is very confident that it will be but a short time until all the trains will be running on time. Grand Chief E. E. Clark, of the Brotherhood of Railway Conductors, arrived at the Bingham House from Chicago last evening. Said he: "This trouble is not of recent origin. It has existed on the Le high Vailey system for years. In fact, I believe there is not a road in the country where the conductors have been so hadly treated or so pearly paid as on the Lehigh Valley road. I fully audicipate a success-
