A. P. A. IN POLITICS.

The American Protective Association is the name of a secret political organization which has had a marvelous growth in the cities and towns of the West during the past two years, and it is now coming East with cumulative force. It has controlled the elections in Toledo and many of the cities of Ohio; has almost revolutionized Missouri, throwing St. Louis to the Republicans, and did much to defeat the Populists in Kansas and Nebraska. It has many lodges in Chester City and one at Fernwood in this state, and it is claimed that it already controls several hundred votes in Schuylkill county. It does not favor separate political action, and is not a political party in that sense, but it seeks to control nominations and elections by selecting those of the candidates of regular parties who are most in sympathy with its objects. Its platform of principles, as framed for the promotion of the Order are well described in the following:

First—The American Protective Association is organized for the purpose of purifying politics, is a non-sectarian and non-partisan organization, composed only of true American citizens, without regard to nationality.

Second—While we unite to protect our country and its free institutions, we attack no man's religion so long as he does not attempt to make it an element in political power.

Third—Our aim is to preserve and maintain the Government of the United States and the principles of the Declaration of Independence as set forth by the founders against the encroachment of all foreign influences.

Fourth—We regard all religio-political organizations as the enemies of civil and religious liberties.

Fifth—It is, in our opinion, unwise and unwise to appoint or elect to civil or military offices in this country men who owe supreme allegiance to any foreign king, potentate or ecclesiastical power, or who are sworn to obey such power.

Sixth—We are in favor of maintaining one general, unsectarian free school system, and will oppose all attempts to supplant it by any sectarian institution. We are opposed to the use of public funds for any sectarian purpose.

Seventh—We are in favor of changing our immigration laws in such a manner that they will protect our citizen laborers from the influences of pauper and criminal labor, which, through the instrumentality of European propagandist societies, are rapidly supplanting our free and educated American citizens in every line of industry, but we do not oppose honest and educated immigrants, who come for the purpose of being American citizens and who will forever swear allegiance to all foreign potentates and powers.

Eighth—We are in favor of putting into office honest and true patriots who are qualified and who owe allegiance only to the Stars and Stripes.

A VICIOUS BILL.

The Democratic members of the Ways and Means committee have in their work granted the prayer of the foreigners who told them they ought to legislate for the good of England, France and Spain, and ignored those of our own workmen and manufacturers. It is said that he who neglects his own household is worse than an infidel, and the people of this Nation have abundant reason to apply this term to Mr. Wilson and his Democratic associates. They have been loud in denouncing the "robber barons," when, they say, under the system of protection have despoiled some of our people, but they themselves have now shown their willingness to legislate so that foreign manufacturing barons will be able to rob not only our consumers, but our manufacturers and their employes as well.

The new bill is vicious in its general adoption of ad valorem instead of specific duties, whereby a great opportunity is given to the foreign shipper to defraud our government of its proper revenue and our workmen of even the nominal protection ostensibly extended. It is vicious in placing the duties on many important articles of manufacture much below the limit which would have placed our wage-workers on an equality with those abroad. It is vicious because, while depriving at one fell swoop a great and growing industry like tin plate of practically all protection, it carefully gilds and protects the Louisiana sugar grower. It is vicious because it places on the free list wool, coal, lumber, salt and iron ore under the false plea that they are raw materials, thereby depriving thousands upon thousands of our people engaged in their production of their occupation. It is especially vicious because its one great and certain effect would be, if it became a law, to throw hundreds of thousands of workmen out of employment and bring the wages of the balance down to depths unknown in this country for more than a third of a century.

STRIKERS STILL FIRM.

The Lehigh Valley Express Co. has been closed since the company is closed. The Lehigh Valley Express Co. has been closed since the company is closed. The Lehigh Valley Express Co. has been closed since the company is closed.

The company officials say that their efforts are in excellent shape, and that freight and coal traffic was resumed in their entirety this morning. It is said that four old engines applied for their old positions yesterday afternoon. There is no truth in the rumor that an engine blew up at White Haven. Two accidents were reported, but the damage done was slight. The last train from New York last evening carried seven coaches, but had only nine passengers on board.

The strike leaders, on the other hand, advise the men to stand firm, that the strike will not be declared off, and that in the end the men will win.

Placed by Cannon Oysters. FORT WAYNE, Ind., Dec. 1.—John E. Seaton, his wife and daughter and two guests, Miss Barker of Columbia City and Miss Hatfield of Oslan, were poisoned at supper. The five members of the household were thrown into convulsions. Miss Hatfield has entirely recovered. Mr. Seaton is still critically ill and the others are by no means convalescent. The only dish that the entire family ate was oyster oysters. It is supposed the oysters were poisoned from the can, and some persons have other suspicions.

Oklahoma Wants the Big Fight. PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 1.—The Perry Athletic club has telegraphed H. K. Fox, of New York, that a purse of $20,000 would be given Corbett and Mitchell if the bout could be brought off here. The club is composed of business men and many men of means. The law of Oklahoma makes prize fighting a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of $500 and a few days in jail. A Milwaukee brewing company offers to build an amphitheater, with seating capacity of 10,000.

An Immense Cave In. ALLENTOWN, Pa., Dec. 1.—An immense cave in occurred at the Sun State quarry near Stateville. Three dredges and hundreds of tons of rubbish fell into the bottom, nearly filling the quarry. It will be impossible to dig the quarry into working order for at least five months.

Fatally Injured with a Bottle. HAZLETON, Pa., Dec. 1.—John Potzeka and Mike Chaback, two Hungarians of Freehold, and fast friends, spent the holiday in drinking. During the afternoon they were sitting at a table, when Potzeka hit his friend on the head with a bottle, inflicting fatal injuries.

Swallowed a Dozen of Tacks. VIDALIA, N. J., Dec. 1.—Catherine Moorhouse, 18 years old, daughter of John Moorhouse, of York, Pa., swallowed about a half dozen tacks while drinking from a glass in which she had been placed by a small brother. She is now in a precarious condition.

A Fatal Remedy. MONTICELLO, Dec. 1.—A fatal rumor is current in this city that President Paizozo, of Brazil, had been assassinated.

A Woman's Head is level and her judgment is sound. Put her faith in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. There is no beauty without good health. Nobody expects to become really beautiful from the use of complexion beautifiers. Bright eyes, clear skin and rosy cheeks, follow natural, healthy conditions, fresh air, good food, and the judicious use of the "Prescription."

All women require a tonic and nerve-stimulant from irregularities, indigestion, displacement, catarrhal inflammation of the lining membrane, bearing-down sensations, or general debility. The "Prescription" reaches the origin of the trouble and corrects it. Guaranteed to benefit, or the money is refunded.

This way to cure Catarrh—There is but one reliable Dr. J. C. Hamer's. There's $300 reward offered for an incurable case.

Princeton's Great Victory Over Yale's Footballists.

THE BLUES FAIL TO SCORE. Jersey Boys Superior at Every Point of the Contest.

THIRTY THOUSAND SAW THE GAME. A Series of Wild Bashes, in Which the Athletics of Yale Were Plainly Overmatched and Outgeneraled—Hinky, the Yale's Captain, Knocked Senseless, but Pluckily Resumes—Harvard Defeats the University of Pennsylvania by a Score of 26 to 4.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—The game of Mahattan field yesterday afternoon between the Princeton and Yale football eleven was a phenomenal in the intensity and brilliancy of the struggle as it was surprising in its result. The Yale team was defeated by a score of 6 to 0. It was a notable exhibition of physical prowess and was witnessed by a monster gathering. As early as 10 o'clock the crowd began to assemble, and at 10 o'clock there were 10,000 people present, and they kept crowding in until, at 1 o'clock, there were 20,000 people on the ground, while on the crests to the west of the field 10,000 more looked down on the game.

The history of the game was one of thorough supremacy of Princeton over Yale. Not only was the team representing the latter beaten, but was three times outplayed in the matter of new tricks, and it was easily demonstrated that the blues were outclassed in every particular. While Yale's center was far heavier than Princeton's, his own individually were no match for the Tiges, and Riddell's 175 pounds was far more effective than $411 and 200.

In fact Princeton outplayed Yale in mass work, in individual work, and better than all in generalship. Perhaps one of the things that told more particularly against Yale is the fact that she became discouraged at her inability to use with any effect her famous center wedge. This and again Butterworth, whose bold rushes through Harvard's center of Springfield last Saturday won for Yale the game, was pushed up through Princeton's center, but never was more than five yards made in the majority of cases.

In end work Yale was still weaker. Holly, Wheeler and Taylor, with Captain Trenchard, effectually blocked every attempt which Yale made to get around, and Thom and Armstrong on Yale's flank, was no match for Jones and Ward, of Princeton. Blake, who played fullback for Princeton, and who was supposed to be rather weak in the position, developed remarkable strength, and was the equal, if not at times the superior, of Butterworth. Behind the center line the remarkable part of Princeton's playing was King's work at quarter, his display of head work winning for him the commendation of all eyes of the game. Especially was this demonstrated when at a critical moment Princeton needed to make a gain to save the ball.

Yale Over Confident. In the first half Princeton was cautious, while Yale, probably depending on its former record, and thinking itself invulnerable, chose to act offensively. The result was disastrous to Yale. Before twenty minutes of the first half had been played the positions were reversed, and Princeton was playing an offensive game, while Yale was compelled by force of circumstances to be on the defensive. For Yale Captain Hinky seemed to have a lack of different plays, but one of two things were resorted to, either striving to put Butterworth through the center or Thom and Armstrong around the end. In almost every case these plays were blocked.

On the other side Captain Trenchard gave them a variety of plays, the most notable and certain was sprung Yale. For instance, during the critical portion of the play it would have seemed as if Princeton should have punted, but instead of that the ball was criss-crossed from Ward to Morse, the latter going around Yale's end for fifty yards. In interference, Yale's men were not to be compared with those of Princeton's King, Wheeler, Lea and Trenchard, making remarkable gains in this respect.

Princeton won the loss and chose the ball. The Tiges started off with a flying wedge, Ward going through Yale's center for twenty yards. On each leg up there after Princeton gained an advantage. It was in this inning that Blake, while running head down, with the ball, struck Hinky with terrific force, and the Yale captain was knocked senseless. He was resuscitated in the required five minutes, and returned play. Then the game became a series of wild bashes, and when this was called at the end of the first half (at 2:30) the score stood Princeton, 6 Yale, 0.

Princeton's Sixth Game Center. In the second half Princeton's center seemed like a steam wall. Seven successive times Yale tried to push through, but each time were driven without making any considerable gains. Then Princeton tried it, but Yale successfully resisted the Yale's line, and twice by sheer bull strength lifted the Yale men off their feet and carried them back several yards. In one of these terrific smashups Hickey, Trenchard and Morse were all injured, but returned to play after a few moments.

Again and again, as one side or the other secured the ball, these terrific pushes made. Four or five times Princeton bucked the center, and in three successive plays carried the ball up to Yale's five yard line, the crowd on the stands yelling themselves hoarse. Failing to gain on three downs, Blake tried to kick a goal, preferring to lose twenty-five yards rather than have Butterworth punt for forty or fifty more. On Yale's twenty-five yard line the Blues found not a yard, losing the ball by four downs. Princeton shoved them back for fifteen yards by the wedge. When this was called the ball was on Yale's fifteen yard line, and the score still stood:

Both Had Eczema In its Worst Form

After Physicians Failed, Hood's Sarsaparilla Perfectly Cured.

Great mental agony is endured by parents who see their children suffering from diseases caused by impure blood, and for which there seems no cure. This is turned to joy when Hood's Sarsaparilla is resorted to, for it expels the foul humors from the blood, and restores the diseased skin to fresh, healthy brightness. Read the following from grateful parents: "To C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"We think Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most valuable medicine on the market for blood and skin diseases. Our two children suffered terribly with it."

Worst Form of Eczema

For two years we had three physicians in that time, but none of them succeeded in curing them or even in giving them a little relief. At last we tried Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a month both children were perfectly cured. We recommend.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

As a standard family medicine, and as well as a cure for skin diseases, Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most valuable medicine on the market for blood and skin diseases. Our two children suffered terribly with it."
