TERRIBLE EXPLOSION!

Too High Pressure.

In these days of keen competition in every line, when the business man is compelled to bend his intellect and every energy to the success of his business; the cierk, book-keeper, professional man and laborer, to drive themselves at a terrific rate, there can drive themselves at a terrific rate, there can be but one result—an explosion, which is not resulting in immediate death, leaves them with shattered brains and bodies. They are running at too high pressure. The strain is too great. Something must and does give way. This is equally true of women. Though their sphere is more limited, they have their daily burdens, frees, and increase and the results are its equal. and worries, and the results are the same as and worries, and the results are the same as with their stronger comparisons. This condition is growing worse every day. The rapidity of its increase is awaid to contemplate. Our homes, hospitals, and inside asylums are full of these unfortunities, and are being crowded still forther. There is but one solution of the matter. Recog-nize the importance of the situation at ones, and the the measure is account. and take the necessary measures to over-come it. A FORECAST OF ITS ARGUMENT.

The President Will Sol Diverge from Ills Present Policy, but Will Hardly Urge the law. the Queen.

Washiwerros, Dec. 15.— The president's special message on the Hawaiian question will be from 2,500 to 3,000 words in length. It probably will not go to congress before Monday. Meanting a steamer sails from Ean Franciscus to Hondula today. All that the state and may department has collected on the Hawaiian question is now

In the president's hands. From a gentleman who stands close to the administration, it is barned that in his message the president will endeavor to show that the given was overthrown by acts sanctioned by Minister Stevens, and that as they received the approval of the United States and are considered by the present administration unjustified and unfriendly, they must be undone. The president will probably say that Minister Wills was instructed to first decline formully the proposition for annexation, and to then announce that the United States demand that the queen he restored to power, peacefully, but that if she was un-willing to be seated without the assur-ance of this government that she would be protected from harm and retained in power by United States force, then to take no steps, but await instructions from.

the United States. The president will say that the minister has found the provisional government much stronger than has been stated, or that the administration has been in-formed, and that its power was increasing each day. There was a strong senti-ment among the better class of people against the queen's return to power, and there were the strongest evidences that the existing government would use force to defeat any move that would lead to this end. All of the conditions were such as to prevent the carrying out of his in-structions, and now, as the president had exhausted the preregatives of his office to bring about a settlement with Hawaii without eatling upon the naval force to assist is, there was no other resort for the president but to leave the question of further action to congress. It is believed that the president will not diverge from his present policy. It is cer-tain, howaver, that he will hardly urge that force be resorted to in scating the
