There were representatives of every class of both the great political parties present to do before to the man who so recently was the chief executive of the nation. Both houses of the federal povernment were represented, the Demogovernment were represented, the Penngovernment were represented, the Feinssylvania state executive and his official colleagues, members of the legislature, state senate, prominent private citizens, the mayor of the city and his directors, and distinguished visitors from many states and municipalities were among the throng of 1.500 people who crowded the throng of 1,500 people who crowded the halls, pariors and reception rooms to grasp the hands of General Harrison, Whitelaw Reid, and other men of national importance who were gathered there.

Importance who were gathered there.

The veteran corps of the First regiment escorted Mr. Harrison from the Hotel Stratford at 8 o'clock, preceded by the First Regiment band. John Russell Young, president of the lengue, walked beside his guest, followed by Whitelaw Reid, Schators Hoar, Proctor and a number of other distinguished statesmen the excert entered the corridor cheer after cheer was given. The house was profusely decorated with flowering plants and busting, and vari-colored electric lights added to the britiancy of the scene

At the end of the collation which fol-lowed the reception District Attorney Graham called upon Mr. Harrison for a speech, previous to which three cheers had been given him. The ex-president said:

"This cordial demonstration makes it worth while to enjoy a public office for the pleasure it gives in getting out of it. It is grateful to receive the cordial good will of this most loyal city. One can live very comfortably with nothing above him, if he can fulfill the respect of his fellow cit-izen. You have gathered, as citizens of Philadelphia, togive evidences of your respect to a citizen of another state and wit-ness your allegiance to American institu-tions. Let us be Americans whatever else we may be.

else we may be.

"We have to carry into every home the protection of the law and keep open those avenues of political life instituted by our fathers. We need to assert and maintain the majesty of the law, and forever make the blot of that barbarous practice of lynching impossible."

Whitelaw Reid was then leadily called for. He said among other things, that

STANTON REINSTATED.

The Recalled Naval Officer Gets a Choice Command.

THE NORTH ATLANTIC SQUADEON.

The Department Never Considered film Guilty of Intentional Wrong in Saluting Mello, but That He Had Committed a Grave Error of Judgment.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 Secretary Herbert last evening have out his decision in the case of Commodore Stanton, detached from command of the South Atlantic sta-tion for saluting Mello in the harbor of Rio. The secretary restores Stanton to duty and assigns him to the command of the North Atlantic squadron. This is re-garded as perhaps the choicest station to command among them all.

In his letter restoring Commodore Stan-ton to duty Secretary Herbert says.

"The department has never for a mo-ment considered that you were intentionment considered that you were intentionally guilty of wrong in this matter, but only that you committed a grave error of judgment. For this reason, and to satisfy the authorities of Brazii, who were offended at your action, you were datached from your command. The department now, feeling assured that no further action will be necessary to prevent the re-currence of such errors, will as soon as practicable restore you to command. The San Francisco, being recently nearer to the seat of trouble in South America than any other ship, was ordered there with Admiral Benham, commander of the North Atlantic station, on board. This made it necessary to put Admiral Ben-ham, who will be ranking officer when he arrives in South American waters, temporarily in command of the South Atlan-tic station. You will at once be put in charge of the North Atlantic station, and when it is convenient for the San Fran cisco to return to North American waters you will be transferred to the station from which you were detached."

It is said at the department that the only available vessel for Cemmodora Stanton to transfer his flux to use acting rear minimalitation for a construction of the Kommona. This seems an admission that the New York will very shortly be sent to other waters.
