YOUNG BUNN DIES!

Unexpected Result of the Injuries He Received.

HE DIED THIS MORNING.

While the Crash He Received Under Car Wheels in the Mines Was a Severe One He Gave Every Indication of Surviving It—A Sudden Turn.

Joseph Bunn, a young man eighteen years of age, died this morning at the residence of his parents on West Lloyd street.

The death, although quite unexpected, was due to injuries sustained in the Shenandoah City colliery on the night of the 20th inst. The young man was employed on the night shift and fell beneath a loaded coal car by slipping upon a rail. The wheels of the car traversed the young man's left thigh, lengthwise, stripping the flesh and muscles from the bone and cutting into the groin.

While the injuries appeared to be of a most serious character and the victim suffered excruciating pain the attending physicians did not apprehend fatal results. A delicate operation on the young man's groin was necessary, but he also survived this ordeal bravely and in answer to the inquiries of anxious friends the parents reported from day to day that the victim seemed to be making good progress towards recovery. Even last evening Mr. Bunn said his son was doing pretty well. Last night a change set in and the young man died at 4 o'clock this morning.

The deceased was the promising son of John Bunn, the well known and popular superintendent of the English Baptist Sunday school. The fatal termination of the accident was a grievous surprise to the many friends of the family.

"O'Dowd's Neighbors."

Perhaps a better specialty company than that supporting Mark Murphy has appeared in Brooklyn, but if so, it has been so long ago that even the oldest inhabitant fails to remember it. There are sixteen people in the company, every one a star. And when it opened at the Grand opera house yesterday the "S. R. O." sign came out. Of course, some Mark Murphy, as the irrefragable Dionysius Oscar O'Dowd, leads the fun-making, but all the others push him close for first place. Miss Mattie Lockotte, as Kittle, is one of the prettiest and most graceful dancers ever appearing in Brooklyn. She was recalled last night until she had to refuse to appear. They are a jovial lot, and can make you laugh as you have seldom laughed before.—Brooklyn Times. At Ferguson's theatre, January 31.

This One Fell.

It may not be generally known that railroad men have a horror for running down pigs, but such is the case, nevertheless. They say that the tough skin and the grease in a pig will easily throw an engine or car from the rails. Yesterday a good sized pig strayed upon the Lehigh Railroad track near Bowers street. A passenger train approached and only at the next moment the pig's head was crushed under the wheels, but the train was not derailed. This time it was the pig that "slipped up on it."

Brakeman Injured.

Henry Crutley, a brakeman residing at Delano, was injured on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, in front of the REBELLION office, late yesterday afternoon. When cars were being shifted the brake wheel of the box car in which Crutley was sitting broke. The brakeman fell to the ground and was senseless when picked up. He soon recovered and was taken to Delano on the engine. He received a cut about five inches long on the back of his head.

"Master and Man."

During the action of the play a number of high class specialties are consistently introduced, among which may be mentioned the Iron Moulder's Quartette, Twin City Trio and the St. George Choir. Taken in all, "Master and Man" is a performance which can be enjoyed, without regard to creed, denomination or religious belief, by any one. At Ferguson's theatre, January 31.

Coming Events.

Jan. 5.—Welsh Baptist church, annual supper, Robbins' Opera House.

Jan. 15.—Mahanoy Athletic Club Ball, Robbins' Opera House.

Feb. 5.—Fifth grand ball of the Gymnasium Club in Robbins' opera house.

Chief Burgess Candidacy.

In another column of this issue will be found the card of Chief Burgess Burns, in which he announces himself as a candidate for re-election. Mr. Burns' administration of the office has been remarkably satisfactory. At all times he has held himself in readiness to answer any call made upon him in his official capacity, and no irregularity brought to his notice has been allowed to go uncorrected. Mr. Burns is a native Schuylkill county man and has spent the greater portion of his life in this town. Quiet, unobtrusive, and yet full of determination in the discharge of his duties and without any of the deceit and cunning of the small fry politician, Mr. Burns has secured the warm regard of his townsmen. In 1885 he lost his right foot while employed as a P. & E. brakeman and he was then made plane watchman at Fruckville, which position he held in the railroad strike of 1887. He then went to work on the bottom of Indian Ridge slope, where he was employed at the time of his election to the office of Chief Burgess. No mistake will be made in the election of Mr. Burns as his honest success, and the Democracy of town have no better material from which to select a nominee.

ELECTRIC ACCIDENTS!

Two Occurred on the Railway Last Night.

MAN AND A BOY VICTIMS

The Former Had a Leg Crushed and It Was Amputated at the Mineders' Hospital—The Boy Had a Miraculous Escape From Death.

There were two accidents on the electric railway line of the Schuylkill Traction Company yesterday by which a man lost his leg and a boy narrowly escaped with his life.

One of the accidents happened near the trestle at No. 5 between 5 and 9 o'clock last night. Motorman Heiser and Conductor Amour found a man lying beside the track with his crushed right leg lying over one of the rails. The man proved to be James Curdoff, 24 years of age, single, and residing at Colorado. It is supposed the unfortunate man was intoxicated and fell asleep beside the track.

Curdoff was taken to Ashland on an electric car and after his arrival there was transferred to the Mineders' Hospital, where his right leg was amputated below the knee. The hospital officials reported to-day that the man was doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

Harry Kline, a nine-year-old boy residing on West Coal street, this town, had a narrow escape from being killed in front of his home by an electric car last night.

The boy is a son of Louis Kline. He was playing on the street and when a car passed tried to jump on it to get a ride. He was knocked away with such a force that he turned three somersaults before he was stretched upon his back. People who witnessed the accident screamed with fright. They thought the boy had been killed, as he remained motionless on the spot to which he had been thrown by the car. The boy was picked up and carried to his home. He was unconscious for almost an hour. A physician was called and he found the injuries were not dangerous. They consisted of severe bruise on the right side of the head and face, the right eye being very much discolored and almost closed. The boy's lacerated coat evidenced the force with which the flight was made. Young Kline is able to go about the house and play, but it will be several days before the swelling of his face will be reduced sufficiently to allow wrinkles for a smile. He had a narrow escape.

Returned From the Hospital.

S. G. Hess, the Pennsylvania Telephone Company lineman who fell from a pole at Lost Creek about ten weeks ago and fractured his thigh, has returned from the Mineders' Hospital at Fountain Springs and is the guest of relatives on North Jardin street. The fracture is well knitted and Hess can walk about with little difficulty. In this connection it may be stated that the Mineders' Hospital was decorated for the Christmas holidays this season for the first time in its history and the decorations were due to the forethought and handiwork of Hess, who, with a coil of wire and some tinted paper and muslin, made a number of emblems, and streamers which gave the wards of the institution a very pleasing aspect. Hess was assisted by another patient named D. P. Thompson, of Tower City, and both gentlemen received the compliments of the hospital staff and patients. Hess also made a very pretty emblem for the Fountain Springs church.

Recovering a Nuisance.

The residents of White street were considerably annoyed the other night by a light on the street, or rather, a bonfire administered to a woman by her husband. People are complaining that this couple should discontinue their public performances for a while. It is only a short time since, it is said, that one of our prominent business men was drawn into conversation by the same woman and like a flash the husband appeared and created a scene. The newcomer proceeded to kick the woman and to avoid a scandal the business man disappeared. For a while the latter was unable to decide whether the husband was in earnest in the expression of rage, or whether an attempt had been made to bunco him. As the matter ended with the disappearance of the couple we concluded that the husband was in earnest. However this may be, the actions of the couple are very peculiar.

Premature Explosion.

Jacob Heckler, a miner residing at Ashland, had a miraculous escape from death in a blast of the Knickerbocker colliery this morning. As Heckler was preparing to fire a shot a touch squib went off suddenly and the man received the flying debris in the face. He was badly injured, but not fatally. His eyes will be saved but one of his hands was badly mutilated.

Curdoff was taken to Ashland on an electric car and after his arrival there was transferred to the Mineders' Hospital, where his right leg was amputated below the knee. The hospital officials reported to-day that the man was doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

Harry Kline, a nine-year-old boy residing on West Coal street, this town, had a narrow escape from being killed in front of his home by an electric car last night.

The boy is a son of Louis Kline. He was playing on the street and when a car passed tried to jump on it to get a ride. Young Kline is able to go about the house and play, but it will be several days before the swelling of his face will be reduced sufficiently to allow wrinkles for a smile. He had a narrow escape.
