NO ASTONISHMENT NOW,

But the Good Work Being Done by Dr. Moore Still Goes On.

It has got so now that not even a ripple of excitement is caused around the Ferguson House when any one goes up stairs with cross-eyes and comes down in a few minutes with them perfectly straight. They go out without their eyes being tied up and attend to their usual duties as though nothing had occurred. The reason this is so is that there has not been a day since Dr. J. Harvey Moore, the specialist, has been there but what he has straightened one or more cases of cross-eyes by his "patience method." He does not use chloroform or ether. Yet they all say they experience not the slightest pain either during or after the operation and this must be so, for little children, five or six years old, sit quietly, giving no evidence of pain in any way while the operation is performed. If it hurt them at all they would cry, move their heads, put up their hands, or show it in some way. Mr. Hutchinson, the proprietor of the hotel, said to a smiling bright little girl this morning, who had both her eyes straightened, "I would not know what to say or do if my eyes had been like yours and any one made them straight." But the little girl replied, "I don't either." But her looks pictured her happiness and expressed her gratitude better than could any words. A young lady, who had her eyes straightened a few days ago, said, "I used to think I could see as well as any one, but there is a great difference since I had Dr. Moore operate on them. Why, I can now see twice as well as before and have none of those terrible headaches that I used to have nearly every day." The doctor is certainly proving himself a real benefactor to the people in this region and it is not surprising that the longer he remains the busier he gets and the more remarkable are his cures, not only diseases of the eye and deafness, but of other specialties like catarrh, nervous diseases, etc., and those who contemplate consulting him will do well to do so at once or they may (as scores of others did last year when the doctor was in Pottsville), find more calling on him during the last few days of his stay than he can attend to.

THE BOROUGH COUNCIL.

It Will Discuss the Public Water Works To-night.

Acting upon the suggestion made at the meeting held last Thursday night several members of the Borough Council drove over to Davis' Run last Sunday to inspect the work that has been done on the public water works. The result of the trip was not made known. Last night the water committee met and inspected the bills presented by the contractors, pipe manufacturers, supervising engineer and others and to night the Council will hold a meeting to consider all reports. The meeting will undoubtedly be a warm one as many of the Councilmen unreservedly declare they feel that they are being imposed upon by somebody having a hand in the construction of the water works. The contractors and engineers have been requested to attend to-night's meeting. One of the Councilmen has put himself on record against paying a cent for the pipe which has been supplied until it is underground and connected in a manner satisfactory to the water committee.

PERSONAL.

Morris Warm spent to-day at Pottsville. John J. Price went to Shamokin this morning. Miss Blanche Elich, of Ashland, is visiting friends in town. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Baird are suffering from the grippe. Peter Bauer, of Schuylkill Haven, was in town last night. Louis Marquette, of Pottsville, paid a visit to town to-day. B. L. Talley, Jr., of Baltimore, is a guest of relatives in town. Benjamin Beddall, of Tamnaga, is a guest of town friends. C. H. Anderson, of Mahanoy City, was seen on our streets last evening. Miss Idaho P. Kolb is in Washington, visiting her sister, Mrs. J. C. Keiper. J. J. Feasay was among the people of town who spent to-day at the county seat. Reuben Gilick, son of J. M. Gilick, the popular shoe dealer of Girardville, paid his respects to acquaintances in town last evening.

Adm's Election Formally Announced. HARRISBURG, Dec. 27.—Governor Pattison issued a proclamation yesterday declaring Robert Adams, of Philadelphia, to have been duly elected a member of congress at the special election held in the second congressional district, Philadelphia, on Tuesday last, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. Charles O'Neill.

Will Not Resist Reductions. PITTSBURG, Dec. 27.—The employees of the various departments of the Homestead Steel works are meeting the superintendents of those mills, discussing the new scale. The plant is now shut down and will resume after Jan. 1. The new scale contains some heavy reductions, but the men are not inclined resist.

Shot by His Dog. CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Dec. 27.—Vincent McMullen, 90 years old, who lived near Concord, died yesterday from a gunshot wound. His wife was resting against his right side when his dog jumped against it and hit the hammer, discharging the rifle. The bullet entered his body.

"Pain of trouble" is the unhappy sufferer with pain and rheumatism. Red Flag Oil is the famous pain cure for Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia and Lumbago. Cost 25 cents. Red Flag Oil is sold at P. P. D. Retail Drug Store.

NUGGETS OF NEWS. Edward McCarty, aged 28, and John McGoogly, aged 40, who were arrested in New York for drunkenness, were found dead in their cells. The body of Miss Mary Yeargen, who was drowned in Crysuga Lake, N. Y., while boating with Professor Merriam, of Cornell University, has been recovered. Mrs. Louis Armstrong died at Pierre, S. D., from a dose of strychnine, and her husband is under arrest. She charged him with the crime as she was dying. Because Archibald Henby, of New York, was supposed to be squandering his money, he was arrested.

COLOR PHOTOGRAPHY.

The Dream of Years May Finally Be Gladly Realized.

We have constantly deplored the want of reliable information regarding Lippmann's process of obtaining color photographs and the recent modifications and improvements of Valens, Lumiere and others. This process has been given and the results shown before the recent congress of the Photographic Society of Great Britain. Mr. Wainco describes the process as follows:

Two years ago Mr. Lippmann succeeded in producing an image of the solar spectrum in its true colors. This was done by a gelatin-bromide plate, so weak in its composition as to be almost transparent. The sensitiveness of the plate was increased by immersion in a bath of silver nitrate and drying. The plate was inserted in the camera, glass side toward the lens, and the film in contact with mercury. The projected rays of light were thus met by the rays reflected from the mercury, and the phenomenon of interference—upon which the whole process is based—was produced.

Six examples were shown from nature, and one from a chromo lithograph, reflected on a screen by means of a beam of electric light, and caused considerable sensation. Although the red was defective, the colors were, without doubt, very similar to the natural ones. Taken as a discovery, this is one of the most important of the nineteenth century, but there must be many improvements made before it can be of any practical utility. The exposure, although now reduced to four hours, is so long as to make it impossible to photograph but few subjects. Then, again, if we desire to hang such pictures in our room, it would be necessary to have a special lighting arrangement to see them by.

Now that the process has been made public, improvements should follow rapidly, and it is not utterly impossible that the wild dream of the photographer, since the days of Niépce, will be realized, and we shall be able to photograph, with all the transcendent beauties of color effect, the glorious sunset, the rainbow and luminous nature herself.—Photographic Times.

Alleged Insurance Espionage. The question of moral hazard receives more attention from the life insurance companies than is generally supposed. Every person applying for a policy has his record and modes of life thoroughly looked up by two or three mercantile agencies, and if there is anything that will not pass muster he finds his application rejected. Men whom the general community look upon as models have found themselves unable to get insurance because of practices which they consider hidden from the light of day, but which the sharp-eyed detectives discovered.

After a man has passed this ordeal, however, the company should honestly assume the burden of the risk for good or ill and not try to throw the party over if it becomes impaired and likely to prove a loss to the company. Yet this is said to be just what the big life companies do. They divide the country up in sections, over each of which is placed a man—nominally an inspector, really a detective—whose business it is to transmit information regarding the physical character of the parties insured by his company. When he meets a policy holder who is in shaky health and whom he considers a bad risk, he notifies the home office, and, curiously enough, this party gets no notice when his premium is due. Of course the object is to have the policy lapse from the omission of the assured to pay the premium, and, naturally, depending upon the notice from the company's office, he will be very apt to forget that he has a premium due on a certain day.—Boston Commercial Bulletin.

"Knowledgeable." "Folks don't use no knowledgeable words as they used to, seems it," remarked Uncle Nahum, in his usual snooty way. "Now I can't see what sense there is in calling a man that's kind o' different-minded from other folks a 'crank,' same as they do nowadays. A crank goes along well enough if you've got a good purchase on it."

"What would you have said when you was a boy, gran'ther?" demanded his grandson, with much curiosity. "Seems to me there must have been somethin' that queer folks by, besides jest 'queer.'" "We allus remarked in them days," said Uncle Nahum, with commendation, "that such folks was 'as odd as Dick's husband.' I s'pose ye know how odd that was?"

The boy confessed his ignorance. "Why," said the old man, with a chuckle, "the way in was that 'Dick's husband went back if ever you see him, he'll tickle you—what it tickled under, nobody ever told, 's fur 's I know! Now that," concluded Uncle Nahum, "was what I call a knowledgeable way of describin' it!" Youth's Companion.

Man's Protector. Was a woman ever known to blow out the gas or to be lunked by a man who wanted to borrow money to pay a freight bill? Does she ever get her pockets picked or lose money on a little "game"? If she has a roll of money with her, does she ever flash it out when she wants to buy a cake of chewing gum? Isn't it a fact that she is wiser with money when she is traveling than the men and more to be trusted? Instead of a woman having a man along to "protect" her, the daily papers prove that every man who goes away from home should have a woman to act as a guardian and keep him from making a bigger fool of himself than he naturally is.—Aitchison Globe.

His Own Estimate. An amusing story is told of a small boy in one of Marshall Field's stores in Chicago, who approached his employer and asked for an advance in salary. "How much are you getting a week now?" said the merchant. "Four dollars and a half, sir." "And how old are you?" "Twelve, sir."

"Why, my boy, at your age I wasn't paid that much." "Well," replied the shrewd lad, "maybe you weren't worth it to the firm you were working for, but I think I am."—Chicago Herald.

Little Pitchers, Etc. Winifred's mother was talking to her grandmother. The conversation led her to relate a little circumstance, but remembering the presence of the child, she checked herself with the laughing remark that "little pitchers have large ears." A moment later the little maiden demurely crossed the floor, and taking a small water pitcher from the table carried it from the room. Returning, she seated herself with a triumphant air and said: "Now, mamma, on with your story. I've taken the place mentioned."—Chicago Herald.

J. HARVEY MOORE, M.D.
SPECIALIST
EYE, EAR, NOSE, THROAT
NERVOUS SYSTEM

And all the diseases that affect these organs, such as catarrh, pterygium, cross-eyes, granulated eyelids, discharge from ears, cataracts, strabismus, all throat affections, neuralgia, headaches, nervous debility, nervous dyspepsia, cholera or St. Vitus dance, etc. Special attention paid to Fitting Glasses, the Treatment of Catarrh and Nervous Diseases. Cross Eyes Straightened by Dr. Moore's Patented Method, without operation or ether; so failures, no tying up of eyes or remaining indoors.

A FEW OF THE CURES EFFECTED. Blind Fifteen Years. Mr. Samuel Trees, of 257 Horner street, Johnson, who is 78 years old, and had been blind 15 years, writes two months after he had been operated on for cataracts, "I can now see as well as I ever could. I can now read the papers and see my children. I am now entirely free from aches and pains of every kind, and feel that I am entirely cured."—ROBT. T. BOOTH, Carbonate, Pa.

He Had Catarrh. "For three years I had suffered from nasal catarrh which produced pains in the ears, eyes, head and face. I took cold very easy, and had great difficulty in breathing with the slightest cold. My throat was sore and swollen and interfered with my swallowing so that I could eat nothing solid. I was treated by Dr. J. Harvey Moore, of Scranton, and have had some of my former troubles for several months. I am now entirely free from aches and pains of every kind, and feel that I am entirely cured."—ROBT. T. BOOTH, Carbonate, Pa.

Nervous System Totally Wrecked. Mrs. Ira Aldrich, of Towanda Pa., says: "I have suffered for ten years from diseases that baffled the skill of all the physicians in this and all the surrounding cities. Some said I had nervous debility, some dyspepsia, others indigestion, but all failed to afford any relief. I suffered from violent headaches; dizziness to such an extent that I could not stand; pain under the shoulder blades; palpitation of the heart at times, and great nervousness of the stomach. I placed myself under Dr. Moore's treatment and began to improve at once, and in a few months became entirely well."

Deaf Ten Years. Mr. Abraham Ulrich, of Centre square, Midway, Pa., says: "I have been so deaf for ten years that I could not understand anything and unless the person speak and shouted in my ears I could not hear a word. I was treated by Dr. J. Harvey Moore, of Scranton, and after several treatments I found I could hear a sermon or public address, and I am now entirely free from deafness. I have since conversed with my wife and children as usual. I am now entirely cured."—ROBT. T. BOOTH, Carbonate, Pa.
