GIRARDVILLE.

GIRARDVILLE, Jan 10. Howard Sawyer is visiting William Snyder at Ashland. Thomas Lloyd stuck a knife through his left hand while opening oysters.

SOME NEW LIGHT.

sitting inside the car. Amour was on the northeast corner of the car, talking to me, with his back turned to the door when Briggs stepped out and fired the shot.

CROSS EXAMINATION. The Chief Burgess did not arm me with anything that night when he made me a special officer. I did not arm myself. I had no arms about me.

Q. Had Briggs let go of the gun before you left? A. I couldn't say. Amour was between me and Briggs and shot of my view then.

Q. And notwithstanding you say there were 10 or 15 seconds after you saw Mahony grab the gun you didn't see anything of James Hurlihan jumping up to grab Briggs and didn't see him at all.

Q. Did you shoot Amour? A. No, sir. Q. No, sir; and I didn't shoot at him. I was deputized to keep the peace and arrest anybody who should make any trouble.

Q. You were deputized to keep the peace and arrest anybody who should make any trouble. Thomas Evans and Michael Cartwell were also deputized. I can't remember any more.

WALTER BUTLER Was called and sworn and said he lived at Girardville. He said that on the night of August 21st, last, he went to bed at 9 o'clock and that he knew nothing of the case.

JOHN GILLESPIE sworn: I reside in the East ward of Girber-ton. On the night of August 21st, last, I saw the dinkey arrive and recognized on the front Amour, Dooey and Mr. Bennie.

his gun down and entered into conversation with people at the car window, on the north end of the car. When I shifted to the north I could not see Amour on the platform.

Q. What time elapsed, if any, between the firing of the first shot and the next shot, or shots, if you heard any? A. Well, I can't say positively, but to the best of my knowledge, a second or two.

At this point the court adjourned the case until 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. Special to the Herald.

POTTSVILLE, Jan. 10.—The trial of John Briggs was resumed before Judge Weidman at Pottsville this morning by Hon. C. N. Brumm, of counsel for the defense, calling Jacob Gillespie to the stand for cross examination, the Commonwealth having relinquished the direct examination when the court announced the time for adjournment last evening.

The witness testified: I am a miner and keep a shop in the East ward of Girber-ton. I hold no official position in the borough and had nothing to do with the resolution of the Town Council, and had no connection with the tearing up of the electric railway track further than being a spectator.

The agitation of the question of tearing up the tracks was new to me and I first heard talk of the proposed work about a week before it was done. The riot had been forgotten by the people of Girber-ton.

District Attorney Ryan objected to Mr. Brumm's question as to whether the feeling of the people of Girber-ton, especially those in the East ward, is not now bitter against the prisoner and the other men who went to Girber-ton on the dinkey that night, and that the people have been bitter since that riot.

After quite an argument by counsel on both sides Judge Weidman sustained the objection. The witness continued: When I said the people had not forgotten the riot, I meant they had not forgotten the excitement and agitation of the time, but I don't know that the same feeling or sentiment still exists.

Mr. Brumm announced that the cross examination was closed, whereupon Mr. Weidman arose and said: "May it please the court, the witness on the stand having testified that within a period of 10 minutes after the shooting ceased he entered the dinkey, being the car which brought this accused body of men to Girber-ton on the night of August 21st and in which, at that time, Mr. Amour was lying on the floor, and it further appearing in this case that the Mr. Amour referred to was an accomplice and one of this body of armed men; and it further appearing by the witness upon the stand that when he entered the car Amour made a declaration to him. We now propose to enquire of the witness upon the stand, what that declaration or exclamation was, and this for the purpose of corroborating the testimony of Richard Amour in whole, or in part, so far as that declaration or exclamation may tend to corroborate.

Mr. Brumm made the same objection that he did when an attempt was made on Tuesday to introduce statements made by Amour in the car. He said there was no evidence that Briggs and Amour were accomplices, and if they had been they would have been indicted jointly and Briggs would not be before the court indicted alone for murder.

Mr. Weidman maintained that the men were accomplices and the prisoner would be bound by Amour's declarations proof that they were or were not accomplices did not lie in the method or form of indictment, but in the fact that Amour and Briggs were members of the armed body of men.

After exhaustive arguments by Messrs. Weidman and Brumm Judge Weidman decided that the statement would not be admitted, for the present, but he would consider the question and make a definite decision later.

PATRICK WALSH sworn: I live at Girber-ton. I saw the track being torn up and saw the dinkey coming and recognized on it Richard Amour, Mr. Weavill, Mr. Briggs and Mr. Bennie, and they had firearms. Amour called upon the Chief Burgess to assist him in laying the track. The Chief Burgess said the first man who would get off the car would be arrested.

Amour raised the hammer of his gun and laid the gun over the railing of the car. Mr. Reynolds stated that Amour couldn't scare the people of Girber-ton, or words to that effect, and then the Chief Burgess ordered that the car be moved back from the crossing. After the car moved back all the others except Amour went back into the car.

Amour was talking to some person who I did not know, Mr. Amour was on the north side of the car, facing north. He was sitting on his humpers on the platform of the car. I didn't notice when Briggs was at that time. While I was standing there somebody in the crowd hollered something about the Girardville military. I thought it came from the direction of the church. Briggs rushed out, put his gun over the rail and immediately fired. I saw some fellow fall and heard him say "Oh." I didn't know at that time it was Parfit. Then Mahony grabbed the gun. He grabbed the gun immediately after it was discharged. When Briggs came from the car he said, "Here we are, — — —" I was between 4 and 5 feet from the car at that time, at the northeast corner of the dinkey. I didn't see or hear any shots fired that night except those from the dinkey. After Briggs fired I stood there for a while. I didn't know what to do, then I ran into the entry of Edward Trevelhan's house. I stayed there a while. One of the other shots was fired right in front of the dinkey.

MASTERPIECES

From the Art Galleries of the World

They declare that it is the most artistic book ever published. Some of our friends are so enthusiastic about it that they are subscribing for two and three copies of the paper, so as to be able to procure several copies of the work.

Many others have interested themselves on our behalf and have started more people on the right road by giving them coupons, and seeing to it that they get the first part of the "Masterpiece." The whole business has proved an unqualified success. Every one is pleased, and we are gaining in numbers.

The Story of the Work.

A lover of pictures, a man of means, making a tour of the art galleries of the world, realized that the luxury of seeing all these beauties was limited to the very wealthy, and to them only by wearisome and expensive traveling and time. "Why not in the present age of perfect photographic reproduction, why not reproduce the most beautiful, the most popular, the most noted of these art treasures?" was the question he asked himself.

Why not indeed; no sooner thought of than he applied his means and prestige to secure large photographs of the choice pictures. The result is "MASTERPIECES FROM THE ART GALLERIES OF THE WORLD." The original idea was to issue the book in parts just as is now being done; but to charge $2.50 a part or $100.00 in all. Now, a syndicate of newspaper publishers has purchased the photographs and plates and is issuing them to "Boom Circulation."

Now, every one may have this magnificent work which was originally intended for the rich man's palace. Such is the force of nineteenth century invention, machinery, enterprise, and desire for circulation. The Way To Get It. For the first part, bring to this office one of the coupons printed on page 4 and 10 cents.

For subsequent parts, send six coupons and 10 cents. Out of town readers may send their coupons and money by letter to us and the parts will be mailed to them direct from New York. What We Expect You to Do For Us. Every day a coupon will be printed on the fourth page of this paper. For this, first, you require only one of these coupons, give the others to different friends who should be readers of this paper. Induce them to bring the coupons to the office and secure the first part of "Masterpieces."

After that we are quite sure they will take and read the paper regularly to obtain the other parts. If after that we cannot hold them as regular readers, it will be our own fault. Do not be uneasy if you do not receive your mail order for a few days. The demand is so great that it is sometimes impossible to keep up with orders.
