LEHIGH STREPORT.

The Philindelphia Ledger, in commenting on the report of the Lehigh Valley Rallroad Campany, says the annual report of that company which has now been restored to the management of Directors under whose administration it prospered for many years, is, in the main, highly encouraging. There was a considerable increase in 1893 in the tonnage over the read compared with 1802, chiefly on coal, but a decrease in the number of tons carried one mile, chiefly in miscellaneous freights. There was also an increase In the mileage of passengers and the receipts per passenger, but the average rate per mile shows a slight decrease. The net earnings of the company for four months under its own direction have been considerably more than half the earnings of the eight mouths when the road was operated by the Reading Company, notwithstanding the direct loss of $450,000 due to the sirike. The statement regarding the physical condition of the company and its financial obligations is exact and highly encouraging, when read in connection with the report of the business done by the Lehigh Valley since the lease of the Reading was abrogated. Marble Workers Endeavor to Invade the Town of Massa,

People of the Town Claim That Half Hundred Rioters Were Killed, Whib Government Authorities Give the Now her as Bight.

ROME, Jan. 17 .- A thousand working employed in the marble quarries at Massa struck work and threatened to invade the town. As it was known that anarchist town. As it was known that anarchise agitators had been at work for some time past among the quarrymen, who are a desperate class of men, thoroughly familiar with the use of explosives, the strike caused the greatest alarm at Massa, and there is no doubt serious disorder would have resulted had it not been for would have resulted had it not been for the presence of the froops, who with fixed bayonets and charged upon the disorderly portions of the mob, forcing them to re-treat to the woods after a number had been killed. All the shops in Massauer closed, as forther outbreaks are feared. Several of these bands who were thus compelled to seek refuge outside of the city were thoroughly armed, and it was reported that they had made preparations regarded that they had made preparations to give the soldiers a warm reception should, they be pursued to the hills. This display of force, however, did not prevent other media from stoning the barranks of the treeps and of the gendarmes from hooting the soldiers and from hurling rotteneggs and fruit at them. Finally the soldlers became so enraged that their offleers were compelled to calm them to the extent to giving orders that volleys should be fired in the air. This had the necessary effect, for at the first volley the iotous quarrymen and their friends van

The official advices state that only eight of the anarchists were killed and that only from forty to fifty were wounded These figures, however, are the figures given out by the government authorities, and the people of Massa claim that at least lifty of the quarrymen were shot during the engagement. During the fighting the garrison barred the highways in order to prevent the entry of the an archists into the town.

It now transpires that an armed band of anarchists gathered early in the morn ng at Terana and awoke the inhabitants inhabitants rushed from their houses fearing a terrible conflagration or some overran the village mentioned and com-pelled the people to deliver up all the arms and aminumition which they had in their possession. The anarchists then se-cured all the wine and spirats procurable and prepared to march upon Carrara, but were intercepted by the troops, as stated above.

Dispatches from Carrara say that the marile men of the Carrara quarries marched to the Plastroni quarries lost evening and compelled the men there to stop work, as well as inducing a number of them to join with them in rintons demonstrations. The result was consider able disorder in that district.
