DANGER IN THE SCHOOLS.

Pres. Eliot of Harvard Calls for Certain Improvements—Why Many Parents Fear the Public Schools.

No wonder school children "creep like small unwillingly to school" and go storming out at playtime.

Five long hours in a crowded, malarious schoolroom severely tax the nervous system of teachers and scholars. Proper ventilation without drafts is a difficult, unaltered problem. Drowsiness, headaches and other effects of bad air show themselves.

Observe the listless, exhausted air, the pale faces of scholars about closing time.

A prominent physician, speaking of Pres. Eliot's timely criticism of our grammar schools, says: "Our public schools are exhausting the vitality of our children."

"For children and all persons closely confined during the winter in shops and stores schools who are weak, sickly and out of sorts, a true blood and nerve tonic is the only thing that will restore the color of health to their cheeks and fill out their frames. I have found Paine's celery compound the best adapted to these cases of lowered vitality and lack of nervous tone."

Paine's celery compound have saved hosts of overworked school teachers and scholars from nervous prostration. It supplies just what the tired, worn out nervous system requires. Men and women who barely produce sufficient nervous energy to last them through the day find that Paine's celery compound supplies them with abundant nervous force, stops headache, lames sleeplessness and debility. A decided feeling of added strength and encouragement comes with the use of this great remedy.

A genuine food for under-fed nerves, that will also give tone to the stomach, will soon enable the sick person to discard all medicines and be well and strong. Such a remarkable remedy in Paine's celery compound. It is the life's study and experience of one of the ablest physicians of his day, a member of the faculty at Dartmouth college, Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D.

Paine's celery compound is not a patent medicine; it is not a sarsaparilla; it is not a bitter or a nerve tonic; it is not an ordinary medicine; it is far beyond these a crystal is superior to a piece of chalk in purity and value.

Says Prof. W. C. Ridgway, principal of the famous Jackson school in Kansas City: "I have used Paine's celery compound, and think it is the best medicine that I have ever known. Besides, I have recommended it use to several friends, who have used it with much satisfaction."

THE KIND NEEDED. The Men Who Stand the Best to Councils by the People.

A sermon on "The Kind of Men Needed for City Councils" was preached in Philadelphia by Rev. Dr. Swinella, which will apply to almost any community in the state.

"First, sufficient intellectual capacity to appreciate public affairs.

"Second, he must have personal intelligent convictions concerning the needs of the people. He must know what to vote for himself without having to wait for a neighbor's nod. If his views are different from yours, all right so long as they are his personal convictions.

"Third, he must be a servant of the people and not a patriot. He must be a servant of individual corporations, but at the same time a servant of all the people.

"Fourth, he must be of good moral repute among the people. He must be above suspicion morally, for I tell you, and it must be known, that the whole country depends on the moral conscience in public life. Take the good man always, in spite of your politics and vote for him."

ALLOW US TO

Introduce You—A Royal Presentation of People of Mahanoy.

The EVENING HERALD is permitted to introduce to its readers some of the renowned persons of the world. You won't have to travel to meet them. You will sit in your home with your wife and children around you and come face to face with splendid photographs of some of the world's most famous people—people that you may never see in the flesh.

And when you begin to weary of studying the features of this class of society we will show you a good many places and things in faraway climes that many of your brethren have gladly paid thousands of dollars to see. In this tour you can take your family with you without extra cost and without the discomforts of travel to you all.

With the old Greeks to see was to know. The same word which expressed the act of vision denoted also the perception of the mind. Nor may it be doubted that of all the senses between the inward and spiritual world of man and the outward and visible world of tangible things, the sense of sight is the brightest and most delightful. Vision is the sense alike of information and locality—the open way of knowledge and of dreams.

The advantages of pictorial representation as a means of informing and verifying can hardly be exaggerated. Wherever travel is practicable there the lens, with its quick flash of light and swiftly caught image of nature and man has come in to supply the deficiency and to transmit to homes in distant lands the picture and vision of the reality.

Now if you will go with us on this voyage you will see many wonderful things, meet many celebrated personages and you will not lose any time from business.

The first week we are going to introduce to you:

The venerable Justices of the Supreme Court.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland.

Prominent members of the Senate and House.

The Presidents of the United States since the formation of government.

Twenty-eight well known Governors now in office.

President Harrison and his Cabinet.

Prominent Republicans.

Prominent Democrats.

Generals famous since the war.

Celebrated Union Generals.

Famous Confederate Generals.

Leaders of the Navy.

Foreign Ministers at Washington.

The following weeks we shall introduce other notables and then begin our travels in foreign lands.

By this time you will be doubtless curious to know the conditions of this trip. LISTEN: Each day out of the coupons printed in this paper beginning Monday, January 15, 1894, and put it aside with one cent. Seven of these coupons, consecutively numbered and seven cents will obtain for you Portfolio I of "THE WORLD AND ITS PEOPLE BY SUNLIGHT." The famous collection of photographic views just prepared by the noted traveler John Clark Ridgway, L. L. D. Each Portfolio will contain 16 pages and there will be 26 portfolios. The whole series will contain the most valuable Art Collection, such as cannot be met with often. For your own pleasure and for the education of your children you should have the complete series and you should seize the opportunity now. If you are already getting the EVENING HERALD all you have to do is to save your coupons and pennies. If you are not getting the EVENING HERALD send your name and address, and the paper will be left by carriers for you every day. The coupons will begin to appear on Monday, January 15, 1894. LOOK OUT FOR THEM!

IS IT JUSTICE? 800 County or 10000 State License for all Traveling Shows.

The County Treasurer has just been notified by the State Department that it is his duty under the present law to collect a county license fee of $50 from each traveling show that pays in the county unless they have in their possession a State license, which costs $1000. This, in addition to the local borough license, will exact a heavy tax on show companies and which only the strongest and most popular ones will be able to pay.

In some counties, notably in Northumberland, where there are only four show towns, this license seems excessive, making $1350 each, in addition to the local license. Officers differ as to the justice of this heavy tax. People who enjoy the plays are anxious as to their privilege of attending opera house amusements which they consider recreation as well as pleasure, and should not be deprived of by an almost prohibitory tax.

On the other hand other people of more mercenary tendencies contend that traveling shows take too much money out of the county, and so the issue is argued with the decision as far as heard from in the latter's favor.

"The Torando."

A good-sized audience witnessed the production of Lincoln J. Carter's play "The Torando" at Ferguson's theatre, Saturday night, and were highly pleased with it. The Torando scene in the first act was vociferously applauded, and the collision with the ship, the mid-ocean tableau and the dissecting room scene were also heartily applauded. As a combination of realism the play is a great success. Strudious attention is given to details and many of the situations have a striking effect upon the audience. Manager Ferguson has been giving some excellent attention at his theatre lately.
