FREE COAL.

The rabid editor of a Free Trade paper at Dover, N. H., lately told a workman that free coal would be a great benefit to him.

Laborer—You have admitted that the present depression is largely due to the uncertainty and delay in tariff legislation.

Editor—Certainly, every one admits that.

Laborer—How much do you think I could be benefited by free coal?

Editor—Coal from British provinces can be delivered here at a good profit at $1 per ton, and you now pay $2.50 per ton, and you could save $1.50 per ton with coal on the free list.

Laborer—I understand you that the tariff raised the price of an article just the amount of the duty; how, then, will the repeal of a 75 per cent duty on a ton of coal reduce the price $2.50 per ton?

Editor—Oh! that will be the result of competition, and the Pennsylvania miners cannot compete with the miners of Nova Scotia.

Laborer—What will become of the Pennsylvania miners?

Editor—Of course the mines will be closed until the miners will work cheap enough so that they also can sell coal at $1 per ton.

Laborer—Then the new tariff is intended to reduce wages?

Editor—Oh! no, indeed, that is not the object, though no doubt the wages will be incidentally reduced at first in many directions.

Laborer—I use half a ton of coal a month, and you say that with free coal I could save $2.50 on a ton or $1.25 per month on my coal bill. Now my wages have been reduced 28 per cent, and you have admitted that the agitation of the tariff question caused the depression which reduced them.

Editor—It is evident that you and I do not think alike on the tariff question. Good night, sir.

This conversation took place in the presence of several witnesses and illustrates fairly well the effects of the proposed Wilson tariff on labor.

A SHENANDOAH man has brought suit against the county to determine whether or not a man can collect fees after a date in a case where he has been used as a witness against his wife on a charge of misdemeanor.

The case is an interesting one, as the County Controller's office holds that being the husband of the convicted woman the man is really liable for the costs in the case and therefore must pay them before he can collect his fees.

INCOME TAX REMAINS.

The House So Decides by an Overwhelming Vote.

IT GOES WITH THE WILSON BILL.

Mr. Wilson Claims a Sure Majority for His Measure of Thirty-four Votes—Kentucky Disagreed with the Proposed Whiskey Legislation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The internal revenue bill was placed as a rider upon the tariff bill late yesterday afternoon by a vote of 173 to 75. The entire day was spent in the consideration of amendments which were offered to the various internal revenue features.

The Kentucky members say that this will bring ruin and disaster to the whiskey interests of their state. Kentucky alone has over $5,000,000 gallons of whiskey now in bond, upon which the tax will be increased without giving them the benefit of an extension of the bonded period.

Only one other amendment of importance to the internal revenue features of the bill was carried. It was a provision to extend the operation of the income tax to all monies and personal property given or bequeathed by inheritance.
