The matter in the senate however, was one entirely governable by parilamentary law, and the spectacle pre-sented by both Democrats and Republi cans was a sorey one, and no credit car be attached to of her.

The position of the leaders as regards the situation in the senate is, briefly told: Senator Saxton said: "I do not think that there is any slanger of the courts in terfering with our position. Mr. Wolfert has been sworn in and his name will be called at all sessions. The Democrats may make a disturbance and fillbaster. but we will not retire from our position." Senator Cantor said: "Senator McCarty is the legal representative from the Sixth district, and we will ask the courts to alc us in the matter if the Republicans do not give us our rights."

Senator McCarty said: "I shall go to the senate daily and take my scat. I don't know what other course we will pursue." Lieutemant Gevernor Sheehan said: "D is clearly not the right of the president protein to order the clerk of the senat-te do anything when he is not occupying the chair.
