Commemoration of WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY!

An extraordinary example of what human skill can produce in weaving a textile fabric can be seen on exhibition in our window all this week. This is a copy of Stuart's famous portrait of George Washington, woven entirely on the loom without printing or touching up of any sort. It almost shakes one's credulity to be told that the work is entirely the result of the weaver's skill. Yet, such is the fact. This marvel, which was one of the sensations of Chicago, is composed of 800,000 threads of silk, made on a Jacquard pattern which required 25,000 cards, and which took the labor of some of the best experts in the world, using the finest appliances of Lyons, two and one-half years to produce. It cost $8,000 to make this masterpiece. It is really a work of art, and such is worthy of the closest study.

BOROUGH ELECTION!

The Democrats Have Again Scored a Victory.

MAJORITIES ARE REDUCED

Burns Re-Elected Chief Burgess and Scanlan Re-Elected Receiver of Taxes. The Citizens Party Makes a Gain of Two School Directors.

Notwithstanding the interest attending the election in this Borough the vote was a very light one. It was over four hundred short. Some of the politicians say this was due to the challenging for tax receipts and one Republican says that at least two hundred men of his party were unable to vote because they could not produce their receipts.

Considerable bad blood was created by the results in some of the wards and if one half the rumors are true there will be a score of litigations in the courts. In fact two arrests have already been made and one of the defeated candidates in the Fifth ward is seeking legal advice.

The result of the election is a Democratic victory and the borough ticket with the exception of the High Constableness and Borough Auditors, James Emanuel defeating Kopta, the Polish Democratic candidate by 207 votes, a surprising majority, and John M. Medala, the Polish candidate on the Citizens' ticket for Borough Auditor defeating William G. Hess, Democrat, by 44 votes.

James Burnz, Democrat, is re-elected Chief Burgess by 17 majority and M. J. Scanlan, Democrat, is re-elected Receiver of Taxes by a majority of 73.

The Citizens' party's consolation is in the fact that it has gained two School Directors, David Morgan defeating M. J. Brennan in the Fourth ward by 30 votes and John Lee defeating A. J. Gallagher by 33 votes. Brennan and Gallagher were candidates for re-election. It is said the latter was defeated by dissatisfaction in his own party.

Some of the ward contests were extremely close. In the Fourth ward Peter Hilley, the Polish candidate for Council on the Citizens' ticket, was defeated by one vote, and Christ Schmidt, the candidate on the Citizens' ticket, was defeated by two votes. Christ Schmidt is inclined to contest and it is stated to day that he has sought legal advice for that purpose.

Peter Hilley has not expressed an intention of contesting the election, but this morning caused the arrest of Anthony Novoski for illegal voting. It is charged that Novoski only has his first papers and it is understood that he admits this, but claims that he was coerced to vote. Hilley had told him he couldn't vote on the papers, but it is said others told the man not to mind the advice. Novoski is under $500 bail.

Patrick Whitaker, Judge of Election in the Fourth ward, was arrested at three o'clock this morning. His warrant was also sworn out by Peter Hilley.

Whitaker is charged with fraudulently receiving votes and counting illegal votes. He waived a hearing and Letter Carrier Holman furnished $300 bail for Whitaker's appearance at the March term of Quarter Sessions.

After a consultation with his counsel, M. M. Burke, Mr. Whitaker went to Potomac to make his election returns.

There were numerous rumors of arrests, but those above noted are all that have been made.

DEATH ON THE RAIL.

Michael Coskley, of Colorado, Mangled by a P & R Railroad Train.
Michael Coskley, of Colorado, was struck by an engine and killed on the Reading railroad, within sight of his home, yesterday afternoon. The scene of the accident is about a quarter of a mile east of the Colorado station platform and between a cut and a sharp curve. The unfortunate man was returning from Lost Creek and walking the rails just outside the rails and on the right side going westward. At 11:55 a. m., engine No. 870, with eighty loaded coal cars, dashed down the grade at about twenty miles per hour and, as it rounded the curve, Engineer Horace Seltzinger espied a man walking the track and close ahead. The usual whistle signal was given, but the pedestrian kept on as though deaf or indifferent to his danger. It was but a half minute until the engine was within a few feet of the doomed man. The noise of the approaching train was sufficient to apprise him of his danger, yet he made no move to leave the track. The engineer saw that Coskley must be struck and held his breath in horror.

A moment later the pilot struck the unfortunate man square in the back, knocking him forward and on to the rails. Brakes were applied, but the entire train passed over the man before it could be stopped. When the trainmen went back they found Coskley dead, with the left arm lying across the track and cut off above the elbow, the skull crushed and the blood and brains battered along the track the length of a rail. Death was probably instantaneous.

The poor old man was known to the railroad boys, who tenderly lifted his remains from their resting place and carried them to his home.

A grandson of the dead man, named Eldis Ryan, was seen by a reporter at Colorado yesterday afternoon. "He had been up to Lost Creek to vote" explained the youth, "and before leaving our house, complained of feeling ill. A half hour later I heard of his death."

The deceased was born in Ireland and came to this country when a boy. He was one of the first residents of Colorado and he said to have worked as a miner at Packer colliery, No. 5, for thirty years.

He is survived by a wife and eight daughters: Mrs. James Boyle, of Tananqua; Mrs. John Ryan and Mrs. James Canloy, of Lost Creek; Mrs. Daniel Garrett, Mrs. Harry Brown, Mrs. Mark Ryan and Misses Katie and Sarah Coskley, of Philadelphia.

IS HE STILL A JUSTICE?

Mr. Monaghan's Title to be Tested in Court.

A WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS

Proceedings Formed by Mr. Curley of St. Clair and Formerly of Shenandoah to Set Aside a Levy Made by a Constable, Important Question Involved.

An interesting legal question arising out of a suit brought before Justice J. J. Monaghan last fall has sprung up in the Court of Common Pleas at Pottsville and it will in all events determine whether Mr. Monaghan's commission as a Justice of the Peace became null and void when he accepted the appointment as Inspector of Immigration.

The suit referred to is that of the Shenandoah Feed and Lumber company against Patrick Curley, formerly of town and now of St. Clair. The plaintiff for the company last fall obtained a judgment against Curley for lumber and other material furnished. Proceedings in the case ended with the entry of judgment, so far as Justice Monaghan was concerned, because shortly after he entered upon his duties as Inspector of Immigration.

Justice Monaghan thereupon transferred the record in this case to Justice Toomey, assigning as his reason for the transfer that he was temporarily absent from home.

Justice Toomey, after the transfer to him issued an execution against Curley, which was directed to Constable Giblin and that officer proceeded to St. Clair to take an inventory of all the property belonging to the defendant.

This procedure aroused Curley and he at once sought the services of L. D. Haughwout Esq., who immediately made an examination of the books in Justice Toomey's office and then went to Pottsville to bring the matter into the Court of Common Pleas. On Monday Mr. Haughwout filed a petition and affidavit for Curley, directing a writ of habeas corpus to Justice Monaghan and commanding him to file by the first Monday in March, next, all the proceedings in this case to the Court of Common Pleas.

The ground upon which Curley's counsel asked for the writ is that Justice Monaghan was not in a position to make a transfer of the papers and record in the case to Justice Toomey, because Mr. Monaghan's commission as Justice of the Peace at once became null and void upon his assuming the office of Inspector of Immigration.

This is the question that will be argued upon the hearing before the Judges of the Court of Common Pleas in March and the disposition of it will necessarily be a disposition of the title of Mr. Monaghan to the office of Justice of the Peace.

It is understood that the Shenandoah Feed and Lumber Company, through its counsel, M. M. Burke Esq., holds that even if Mr. Monaghan had not made the transfer of the record all of his dockets and other property as a Justice of the Peace will revert to his successor in office and that if the proceedings in the Curley case were not completed when Mr. Monaghan, by virtue of law, renounced his title to the office of Justice of the Peace in the contemplation of the law?

No writ of quo warranto was ever issued against Monaghan to determine whether or not he was still a Justice and this, it is claimed, is the only legal method for determining his right to the office.

Another question is, did the Act of 1874 and the constitution of Pennsylvania hold that at the commission of Mr. Monaghan became null and void upon his acceptance of the office of Inspector of Immigration?

This, it is contended, is the law, as the Act is expressly declared in this Act of Assembly to be inoperative.

At any rate, the Act of 1830 says expressly that a Justice of the Peace may, upon his absence from home, transfer any proceedings had before him to any Justice of the Peace within the county.

Flynn Was Not Shot.
A report was circulated in Girardville and Shenandoah yesterday afternoon, that Thomas Nolan and Richard Flynn, of Butler township, quarrelled over election matters and that Flynn had been shot. Investigation proved the report untrue and nothing of a disagreeable nature had transpired between the two politicians. There were said to be other differences in Butler, however, which were quietly settled by one or another of the disputants receiving a roll in the mud.

The Damm Benefit.
The benefit which is to be given for Mrs. Damm in the near future promises to be a great success. "The Trolley System" has been selected as the attraction and will no doubt draw a large audience. This piece is an excellent one. The benefit should be well patronized, as Mrs. Damm's son, who was recently killed in the mines, was always among the foremost to render service for the relief of the distressed. His death has put his mother in need.

A Palmist's Injury.
Lizzie Krupp, an employe at Kemmerer's confectionary store on North Main street, slipped on the floor and a large splinter penetrated the sole of the shoe on the right foot. It penetrated the member to a depth of nearly three inches. A physician was summoned and lancing was necessary to remove the splinter.
