

Newspaper, A. M. D., David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is All it is Contained
The intense interest taken in the cases made by Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, at Athens, N. Y., and other places, resulted in the Albany, N. Y., Journal sending a special representative to Athens to investigate the cases, and it was found that many of them were wonderful.
In the case of Mr. Lewis Clow, who had chronic kidney disease, Mrs. Casper Brooks, suffering from female troubles and kidney disease, and Mrs. Wm. Tiffany, who suffered from general prostration, all were abandoned by their attending physicians. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy was then used by them, and in every case an absolute cure was effected.

Michael Koehana and Stephen Chusko drank beer together on Monday night, and Michael became incensed at Stephen because the latter persisted in passing him schooners instead of ponies, whereupon Michael fell upon the offending Stephen, and administered a severe beating. Koehana was committed to the lockup by Justice May in default of $300 to keep the peace.

Mark Shurkus, of Shenandoah, was arraigned before Justice May, yesterday morning, by Joe Savage, of St. Nicholas, charged with being unjustly intimate with Joe's wife. From the testimony it seems that while Savage was serving ninety days in Pottsville jail Mark fell in love with Mrs. Savage, and in order to cause a like feeling in the heart of the lonely wife, treated her to sweet wines and whiskies that were dished with love-providers. The Justice committed Shurkus to jail for a further hearing at the March term of court.

Fully three thousand people viewed the remains of the late Milton C. Reinhold, as they lay at his father's residence on Centre street yesterday morning. The funeral procession passed slowly to the Lehigh Valley station, where a special train of six coaches were in waiting. These were filled by about four hundred people from this city, while others got aboard at different points along the line. On arrival at Pottsville the following party members of the Masonic order took charge of the casket: Messrs. I. Y. Sollenburger, J. A. Dewey, John Holland, Sr., J. Burd Irish, O. J. Goodman, A. Palmer, E. Barlow and Dr. George F. Bromble. The arrangements formed at the Pennsylvania station and were followed by the Masonic Lodge of this city, the Young Men's Republican Club, the Schuylkill County Bar Association and several hundred relatives and friends.

Among the mourners were six of Mr. Reinhold's fellow students from the Bucknell University, one of whom made a touching address over his late classmate. Rev. A. M. Woods, of Mahanoy City, conducted the services and several times moved the assemblage to tears. The Masonic ceremony was also performed, after which the casket was lowered to its final resting place.

An Inevitable Woman Suffered.
NEW YORK, March 7.—A calamity befell the family of Frederick Glassow, who resides on the fourth floor of the house 433 West Thirty-sixth street last night. His wife Margaret was suffocated and his youngest child, Frances, aged 5 years, is almost dead from the same cause. Mrs. Glassow has been ill for some time past. Last night her husband went out for medicine. He left his wife on a lounge and a child of 5 years playing around the room. William, aged 10, and Agnes, aged 9, were out of the house. The 5-year-old girl upset the kerosene lamp on the kitchen table, and before the firemen could subdue the flames Mrs. Glassow was suffocated. The child Frances was found in the hallway unconscious.

The Valuable Citizen.
The citizen who is of the most value to a community, town or city is not always the man who possesses the most wealth, the highest intelligence or the most aristocratic lineage. Of course the two former will increase a man's usefulness if he will but exert them in the proper direction. But the valuable citizen par excellence is the man who believes thoroughly in his town, its people and its business and professional men. He does not make it his business to decry the honesty of his local banker or merchant, or the ability of the resident lawyer or physician. But instead he is an enthusiastic advocate of all things that pertain to the welfare of his own locality. He has the interest of its schools, churches, societies and people at heart and exploits their excellence abroad. We need more of this class of citizens and have the material in our midst to construct them.

CHANGING WEDDING FASHIONS.
Orange blossoms no longer necessary and the veil sometimes omitted.
The traditional wedding customs, like many other old observances, are rapidly disappearing, whether banished by the universal skepticism of the times or neglected because the age is too busy to allow any element that is not eminently prosaic and practical, it would be difficult to say. A bride may still occasionally unconsciously advertise the novelty of her position by a collection of rice around the ribbon of her bonnet, while the groom's hat sometimes falls a victim to the too accurate aim of a well meant slipper, but the symbolic rites from which these effects result are usually performed by children and are regarded as a juvenile freak.

Orange blossoms and myrtle are often replaced by roses, lilies, violets and other flowers, equally appropriate to any occasion, while the veil is sometimes entirely omitted. The wedding cake has in particular degenerated most lamentably. Far from cutting it herself, the bride seldom even sees it, and it is brought from the confectioner's in the form of small slices already packed in white and silver boxes tied with white ribbon and so delivered to the wedding guest after the bridal couple have departed.

The custom of dressing the bridesmaids in white is also falling into disuse, and with some show of reason, for it is entirely suitable that white should be left for the bride's toilet solely. Delicate pinks, blues and yellows not only set off by contrast her snowy apparel, but lend a superficial cheerfulness to the bridal procession, which it is well to encourage in the modern wedding, usually almost as melancholy an occasion as a funeral.

To be married in traveling costume is a convenient and oft-used method, but as the white regalia is one of the few poetic survivals in an age of hard facts, and a woman can array herself in it but once in her life, it seems rather a pity when she does not wear it on the one occasion. A sketch is given of the bride's gown at a recent Paris wedding. It is of ivory white satin mer-veilux and has a bell skirt with piped seams and a round train. The bottom of the skirt is trimmed with a bouffe of guipure festooned with piquets of orange blossoms. The round bodice is slightly draped in front and has a white guipure collar, while the large sleeves consist of a puff reaching to the elbow, where it is finished by a bouffe of lace. A tulle veil is worn, secured by an orange spray.

FOUR MORE MINERS KILLED

Three Crushed Beneath a Rock and Another Burned to Death.

SCRANTON, Pa., March 7.—Four men in a gang of mine shaft sinkers were killed in the Richmond shaft in the northern part of the city. The accident was caused by the fall of a shelf of rock from the side of the shaft near the bottom and a consequent explosion of a blower of gas.

The victims are Thomas Holwill, charge-man, who leaves a wife and child, burned to death; Richard Hughes, single, 37 years; James Northen, single, 32 years; Albert Richards, single, 34 years.

The men were at work at the bottom of the shaft, almost 400 feet from the surface. They had but recently opened the Clark vein, and were clearing away the coal at the foot of the shaft. Above them hung a bell like piece of rock which projected slightly from the side of the shaft. This shelled downward and had been somewhat loosened by previous blasts.

Suddenly the rock gave way. Three were caught and crushed to instant death. Charge-man Holwill rushed away as the rock fell, with five others of the men. He went farther into the opening than his fellow workmen, still carrying his naked lamp in his hand. Instantly flames burst forth, enveloping him. His companions tried to put out the flames at their own peril, but before they succeeded he was dead. The other four promptly gathered, and it was only by the prompt action that the survivors succeeded in reaching the foot of the shaft and signaling the engineer and were hoisted to the surface.

THE PRESIDENTIAL MARKSMAN

He Is Greatly Benefited by His Trip to North Carolina.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The president reached the White House at 1:45 yesterday afternoon after a nine days' trip through the North Carolina sounds looking as well and strong as at any time since he first came to Washington, nine years ago. His ruddy face showed unmistakable signs of exposure to the sun and wind during his trip for recreation and rest, and his step was noticeably more elastic than when he went away. To some friends who called last evening the president said he had never in his life had a more enjoyable hunting trip. Every moment of it had been a delight to him, and as for substantial results he asked his friends to look at his bronzed face and hands and then at the pile of swan, wild geese and turkeys that he had brought back with him. During an hour in the early morning the president brought down seven swan and five geese. Both the president and Secretary Graham were greatly benefited by the trip and return to their duties with renewed vigor.

Monday's sport was the finest of the trip. Numbers of swan, geese, brant, ducks and snipe were the trophies of the day. Of the president's skill as a marksman Captain Evans spoke in the highest praise, and said that a double shot by him at swans Monday morning was one of the finest evidence of skill that he had seen in many a day.

GET GOOD DIGESTION

Paine's Celery Compound is the Greatest of Remedies.

Influence of the Nerves on Various Diseases—The way Frank Bair of Chicago Regained his Health—Professor Phelps' Wonderful Prescription.

FRANK BAIR.

Increased cares and duties, increase in mental strain, lessened physical labor and increased mental work, have been gradually giving us bodies in which the nervous element predominates.

Diseases are to-day as different from diseases of a century ago as is their treatment. While the average individual now does more mental work, we are not as well able to bear the strain as they were.

Nine-tenths of us neither eat, sleep, exercise, bathe, or recreate ourselves in a proper way. It is all hurry and turmoil. Little rest and much care.

When the albumen and fibrine of the blood—the nutritious principles of the blood—become deficient in their relative proportions to the other parts of the blood, the health suffers. If nervous power be depressed, then the food is imperfectly digested, assimilated, and converted into blood and tissue.

There is the cause in a nutshell of half the diseases and illness in the world.

Here is the cure—the greatest medical discovery of modern times—the remedy first prescribed by the greatest physician of his age, Prof. Edward Phelps, M. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth college—the remedy that has made more people well than any other ever known—the true food for the nerves—the best known strengthener of impoverished blood—the remedy that from one end of the country to the other, and in Europe as well, is indorsed by physicians, prescribed and used by them, recommended by the plain people, unequivocally indorsed by men and women of wide reputation, blessed by thousands—Paine's celery compound.

Try it. Any druggist has it or will get it for you.

Read the following unsolicited letter from Mr. Frank Bair, whose portrait is given above, one of Chicago's best known and most highly esteemed young business men, the western agent of the great firm of Nash, Whiton & Co., salt dealers of New York:

"I have used Paine's celery compound for the past six months, and must say that it has helped me wonderfully. I had pain in my back and chest, and faint, tired feelings at the stomach, and when I would eat the taste would make me deathly sick. I became very weak, and lost about 30 pounds. After having used a few bottles of Paine's celery compound I am feeling better than I have in all my life." Try it.
