

BRAZIL'S WAR ENDED.

Admiral Da Gama on Board a Portuguese War Vessel.

GREAT NAVAL BATTLE PREVENTED

The Insurgent Leader Evidently Feared the Government's Formidable Array of Warships—He Offers to Surrender on Conditions of Full Protection.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Advices received at the state department from Minister Thompson, at Rio Janeiro, indicates that the Brazilian rebellion is about ended. The dispatches from Minister Thompson contain the information that Admiral da Gama has gone aboard the Portuguese war vessel Mindelo, now in the harbor of Rio, and has sent to President Peixoto by the Portuguese officer an offer of surrender. Da Gama asks only that he and his officers may be allowed to leave the country, and that the lives of his private soldiers and sailors be spared. It is regarded by prominent officials as without question that the Brazilian government will accept the surrender, with the terms asked for by Da Gama, and that the war is ended.

There is considerable surprise expressed here by those interested in the affairs at Rio that the offer of surrender should have been made through the Portuguese commander, who, up to this time, has not shown any particular disposition to take a hand in the conflict. It is not thought, however, that the action of the Portuguese in receiving Da Gama is necessarily an act of sympathy with the insurgents. The Portuguese are said to recognize a principle of international law now obsolete, by which right of asylum, as it is called, is granted temporarily by a neutral power to a defeated belligerent. This right of asylum is not recognized of late years by most nations, except in cases of half civilized people, and moreover the Brazilian insurgents have never been recognized by anybody as belligerents. There is, therefore, some speculation as to the exact meaning of the action of the Portuguese commander.

Minister Mendonca, when seen today, admitted that he had received news of the surrender, but was unwilling to give out any information concerning the exact terms of Da Gama's offer of surrender or discuss the probable action of the Brazilian government. He said, however, that he had no doubt that final settlement had been made by this time.

Possibly as good a commentary on the surrender as can be made, consists in the following summary furnished by Senator Mendonca of the forces engaged in the naval maneuvers in and about the harbor at Rio.

The rebel forces consist of the gunboat Leitadore, Da Gama's flagship; cruiser Da Mendare, gunboat Trajano, transport war Paris, armed merchantmen Jupiter, Marte, Pireira da Cunha and Adolpho de Barros, and four torpedo boats, two of which are in good condition and the other two half disabled. The forces of men on the rebel ships and in rebel fortresses aggregate about 700. Outside the harbor, "whereabouts unknown," the rebel warships Aquidaba and Republica are cruising about.

The array of government ships lying on the south side of the entrance to the bay, under the batteries of Fort St. John, is somewhat more formidable. The forces consist of the dynamite cruiser Nietboroy, ironclad Bahira, cruiser Tiradentes, and the torpedo boats Aurora, Pirating, Javali, Fiesen and Moxoto, while cruising outside are the cruisers America and Paratiba. The loyal force of men aggregates about 25,000.

Notice of the intention of the Brazilian fleet to begin an active attack on the insurgent fleet had been given Sunday noon to neutral forces in the harbor. This notice was given forty-eight hours before the firing was to begin. According to this arrangement firing could not begin until today. Da Gama's offer of surrender was made, therefore, twenty-four hours before an attack was to be expected. The offer of surrender, in fact, followed the first actual show of determined force on the part of the Brazilian government.

Boss McKane's Alleged Shortage.

BROOKLYN, March 13.—The private investigation of the accounts of John Y. McKane with the town of Gravesend is still being prosecuted by Councilors Breckinridge and Elliott, who stated today that they would endeavor to have a commission appointed to make an examination of the accounts, and, if possible, would have him brought from Sing Sing to give testimony in regard to the alleged irregularities. It was also stated that in all probability several private suits would be brought against the McKane estate to recover money said to be unjustly paid to the ex-chief.

Vassar Girls as Salvationists.

NEW YORK, March 13.—As a result of addresses to the pupils of Vassar college by Mrs. Ballington Booth, head of the Salvation Army in America, and Adjutant Edith Marshall, fifteen young women students have been enrolled as members of the Salvation Army Auxiliary League. Mrs. G. R. Kendrick, of the executive staff of the college, has joined the league, and it is said that others are expected to join. The new members of the league are daughters of wealthy and aristocratic families.

Arrested for Stealing a Grave.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., March 13.—Joseph Pearl was arrested in this city last night on the novel charge of stealing a grave. Pearl's infant child died last Friday. He told the directors of the Hebrew cemetery that he was too poor to pay for a grave, and they denied him admission to the cemetery. Sunday night he carried the remains of the child to the cemetery, forced open the gate, dug a grave and interred the body.

Refused to Return to Work.

PHILADELPHIA, N. J., March 13.—The Standard silk mill, which shut down two weeks ago because of a strike, started up yesterday, but only five of the 250 weavers reported for work. They were told to run out the silk on their looms and then go home. The mill employs over 600 hands, and there is now no telling when the trouble will be adjusted and the mill again started.

Congressman Breckinridge's Opponent.

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 13.—A large and enthusiastic crowd greeted Hon. W. C. Owen here yesterday. He is a candidate for congress in opposition to Colonel Breckinridge. The occasion was the organization of an Owens club, and the Lexington opera house was filled to the walls. Addresses endorsing Mr. Owen for congress were loudly cheered.

IN SENATE AND HOUSE

The Senate Refuses to Investigate Newspaper Charges.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The most interesting feature of the day's proceedings in the senate was the administration of the oath to Mr. Blanchard, the recently appointed senator from Louisiana. At 1:35 the sequestration bill was laid before the senate, and Mr. Vilas took up his argument against it. He was followed by Messrs. Allison and Wolcott. Mr. Peffer's resolution looking to an investigation of the charges published in the press that senators were dealing in stocks on information gained in their official positions was laid on the table by a vote of 33 to 27. The day in the house was devoted entirely to the consideration of a bill relating to the extension of the time for allowing a street railroad company in this city to change its system of motive power. No conclusion was reached.

Another Alleged Pension Fraud.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Pension frauds as extensive as those involved in the W. Bowen Moore cases in Buffalo, N. Y., and the Drury cases at Norfolk, Va., are expected to be revealed by an investigation which will soon be ordered by bureau officials. The investigation will result from the arrest of Jesse C. Hansee, a pension attorney and notary public of Hudson county, N. J. Hansee has been held under bonds of $2,500 for appearance before the United States grand jury at Trenton on April 17. The bureau officials believe that the alleged frauds are of the same character as those at Norfolk and Buffalo. The operations, it is stated, extend over a period of three years.

The Election Murder in Troy.

ALBANY, March 13.—Governor Flower was informed that the gentlemen suggested by him to act as special counsel in the prosecution of the election crimes committed in Troy last Tuesday were not entirely satisfactory to the committee of citizens. He thereupon summoned Assistant District Attorney Fagan and told him to make a vigorous and thorough prosecution of all these violations of law. With the governor's permission he has associated with him in the cases Messrs. Frank S. Black and Seymour Vansant Voord. Mr. Black is one of the most prominent Republican lawyers in Troy.

Fatal Explosion in a West Virginia Mine.

WHEELING, W. Va., March 13.—A premature explosion of a blast in the Kuntz coal mine injured two miners, one of them fatally. August Seiler and Alfred Greenleaf were at work in their own chamber, and put in the blast, which was an unusually light one. After igniting the fuse they were drawing off to one side when the explosion occurred. Both men were thrown to the floor and were covered by the coal. Greenleaf was completely buried, and when he was extricated from the mass of coal he was found to be fatally bruised. Seiler was not seriously hurt.

Bethlehem Iron Works Still Running.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., March 13.—The Bethlehem iron company's steel mill did not close down last night in accordance with the notice previously given to the 1,500 men. New orders having come in, the mill will be kept running day and night for several weeks to come.

A Long Strike Compromised.

READING, Pa., March 13.—The strike of the 100 molders employed at the works of the Pennsylvania Hardware company, which has been on since last August, has been declared off, the men accepting a compromise of 5 per cent. reduction in wages.

Youngstown's Street Car Strike Ended.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 13.—The street car strike has been settled. All the men have gone to work at their former wages with the exception of Engineer Jenkins, on whose account the men struck, the company proposing a reduction in his wages, which he has agreed to.

Trenton Strikers Surrender.

TRENTON, March 13.—The strike in the woolen mills of S. K. Wilson, resulting from a cut in wages, has ended by the surrender of the 700 employees, who returned to work this morning. The strikers have been out several weeks.

Hanged the Mayor in Effigy.

NEWARK, N. J., March 13.—At Granville, O., Mayor Munson was hanged in effigy before the Baptist church. College students are suspected, as they have been active in prosecuting students for their pranks.

Newark's Boy Murderer Must Hang.

NEWARK, N. J., March 13.—A dispatch from Washington announces that the petition in the case of Albin Fales, the boy murderer of this city, was dismissed by the supreme court.

THE WAR IN OKLAHOMA

Both Sides Ready for Fight in Enid's Municipal Contest.

ORDERS OF THE COURT IGNORED.

Two Serious Shooting Affairs Already and a General Conflict of Arms Feared. Citizens Guard Their Property with Winchester to Prevent a Conflagration.

ENID, O. T., March 13.—A new factor entered the municipal war in this city and precipitated another desperate battle between E. F. Spencer, president of the "G" county bank, and a hard character named Flaherty, a notorious saloon keeper and all round tough. Spencer has been identified with the Moore faction, even going so far as to arm himself in defense of Moore's action. Spencer was put in nomination by the Moore crowd for city treasurer, and became involved in a quarrel with Flaherty at the arsenal, where both sides are camped on their guns. Spencer was brutally beaten, but managing to get his gun in position he commenced an indiscriminate fusillade on his assailant. Flaherty was slightly wounded, and a spent bullet struck a woman on the street, but did not seriously injure her.

The Moore element are guarding the old city records in one part of the city with a trooped squad of armed men, and the Gregg gang chambered on the ramparts of the central chamber in another part of the town, and are transacting business with a new set of records.

Colonel John Wiggins, who is in Washington in the interests of the county seat bill, wired for money to come home on, and the Moore faction made a draft on the city treasury for the money to send him. Gregg and his followers immediately issued an injunction against Moore, restraining him from touching any of the city funds, and it looks now as if Wiggins will have to either borrow the money to come home on, or walk. The Gregg gang say they will never permit him to have a cent.

Every man who is on the streets at night is closely scrutinized and a watch put on his back until his identity is well established. No one is permitted to go near either of the hostile camps without a pass from the leaders of the factions.

The fight is for blood. No compromise is offered or expected from either side. Either one or the other side must make an unconditional surrender. The arm of the territorial court, invoked by the Moore element, has had no effect in compelling the Gregg gang, and they put at defiance the order issued by Judge Buford, of the federal court.

The county officers seem powerless to quell the warfare. However, the county officers have taken action, and the desperate shooting scrape between Commissioner Williams and Jailer Williams has embittered the fight, and it is believed one or the other will be killed before the war is over. They met in an Enid pharmacy, Jailer Williams declaring that the commissioner must go under. They commenced shooting at sight, and the former was hit in the head, and his friends carried him off the field in an ambulance.

Williams is a desperate man, and it is certain that when the two men meet again one or both of them will be killed.

The conservative element of the city deplore the war, but they are powerless to do anything, and apparently have no recourse. They fear that some firing may set the town on fire, and the high winds now prevailing would wipe every building on the site out of existence. Many patrol their premises every night with Winchester to prevent their property from being burned. There is no insurance on a single building in the town.

One of the Leaders of the Gregg Gang Threatened to Shoot the Associated Press Representative on Sight if his Crowd Got the Worst of the Report.

They claim they are right, while the Moore fellows say they are willing to fight for their cause. Unless outside authority steps in and stops the war there will be a serious fight and many lives lost.

Lithokalan's Canadian Volunteers.

VICTORIA, B. C., March 13.—The Hawaiian steamer Warrimoo, just arrived, brings confirmation of the enlistment of Canadian volunteers for the service of Queen Liluokalan. The plan was fully described in dispatches received from here early in January, which at the time were discredited as false. It now appears that their authors were in full possession of information on the subject.

It's Right Against Common Sense

To suppose that an imitation offers the customer any guarantee like the original does. Take Cottolene for example. FARRBANK & CO. discovered it, perfected it, and spent thousands in making its merits known. It is plainly to their interest to make and keep it what it is today—the most popular shortening in the world. But when you come

To accept any Counterfeits for Cottolene

these guarantees all disappear, and the housekeeper is at the mercy of an imitator who deals on others' reputation and who profits only by others' loss.

To ensure having good cooking and healthful food stick to the original and let all imitations severely alone.

SAILED THE SEAS 38 YEARS.

One of His Experiences.

For thirty-eight years Capt. Loud followed the sea, most of that time as master of a vessel, and upon retiring from the water was appointed by the Secretary of the United States Treasury to superintend the seal fisheries in Alaska, which position he held five years. He relates one experience as follows:

"For several years I had been troubled with general nervousness and pain in the region of my heart. My great affliction was sleeplessness; it was almost impossible at any time to obtain rest and sleep. Having seen Dr. Miles' Restorative advertised, I began to use it. After taking a small quantity the benefit received was so great that I was positively alarmed, thinking the remedy contained opium which would finally be injurious to me; but on being assured by the druggist that it was perfectly harmless, I continued it together with the Heart Cure. To-day I can conscientiously say that Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and New Heart Cure did more for me than anything I had ever taken. I had been treated by eminent physicians in New York and San Francisco without benefit. I owe my present good health to the judicious use of these most valuable remedies, and heartily recommend them to all afflicted as I was."—Capt. A. P. Loud, Hampden, Me.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and New Heart Cure sold by all druggists, or by Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5, express prepaid. They are new from all outlets and dangerous drugs.
